A Suspicious Death.

A reporter of the Standard heard on the Western train Monday night of a very andden death, about which there is much suspicion. Tuesday's Salisbury Herald says:

"Mrs Keistler, the mother of Mr. Wellington Kestler, of Ste-le township, died sudd-nly Saturday night at the home of her daughter, in Iredell county, where she had gone on a visit. The body was brought back to her old home yesterday for purial at Thyatira church. B-cause of certain suspicious circustances the burial was forbidden by reacives of the deceased and the corpse wat-ken charge of by a deputy sheriff Cornor Dorsett was requested to hold an 1: quest and left this orning for that purpose '

Cotton weigher Bigger received a letter that tells of the trouble. There was bad b ood between a son and son-in-law of Mrs. Keistler, and the son-in-law was going to bury ber without informing the son, and the Intter, finding it out, had to get out papers to stop the burnal, the son-inlaw being so anxious to have it over with.
