Edisen has bought a gold mise Lir investment is in North Caro line, and it is one of those problems over which the mining engineers have been dreaming for many years. Our hearts swell with gladness when The Appalachian gold belt is no myth. The records of the government offices show that the gold miners in Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia have turned in for minting between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. This does not take into account the free gold and nuggets which have found their way into money through banks and in indirect ways. Up to the time of the discovery of pay dirt in the mill race at Sutter's dam in Ualifornia the bulk of the gold mined or washed in the United States had come from the Piedmont region between the Potom-c and northern Georgia, when the rush to the Pacific slope was at its height and the whole country over was at fever excitement over the almost fabulous stories. If Mr. Edison has got what he thinks he has-a method which will extract cheaply and profitably the gold in refractory ores, notably the sulphurets-he, and not congress or international conference, is going to solve the money question. The gold which has been sluced out of gravel and ground out of quartz is of small value compared to that which is locked up in these puzzling conditions, Prefessor Overman was one of the earliest investigators of the gold belt in the Piedmont region of Virginia and the Carolinas. He advanced a theory which subsequent developments have sustained. "It may be asserted as a fact," said Professor Overman, "that all native sulphurets, particularly the sulphurets of iron, contain gold. As sulphurets cannot possibly penetrate any rock but from below, we may naturally conclude that the heaviest last week and it kicked him in the body of such a kind of ore necessarily lie deep in the earth. This conv clusion is supported and confirmed by practice, for all pyritous ores have invariably been found to improve in quality and quantity with depth. This circumstance speaks very favorably for the gold formation of the Southern States. We have here a depth of gold ores un. paralled extent, immense width and undonbtedly reaching to the primitive rock, which on an everage cannot be less than 2,000 feet deep. Here is a mass of precious metals inclosed in a rock, which cannot be exhausted for ages, and in this respect the region in question—Vir- last week Aaron Johnson, aged 79 washing windows for store of Uncle Jerry 95 ginia and North Carolina—is the years, was convicted of retailing keepers and polisning up most important of all known gold liquor without license in Sampson front door knobs. - Philadel. deposits.
