MR. JOHNSON DEAD.

Consumption at East Causes His Death—Only a Wife Left Behind—A Member of the Junior Order and Odd Fellows.

For some time it has been known that death was not far off for Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Forest Hill, who for several months has been unable to fill his position in the Odell mills, where he had been employed for more than 15 years.

He has had consumption for quite a long while, and for some time has been receiving a sick benefit fund each week from the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics and also the Odd Fellows.

Mr. Johnson was a man of good character, and was a man who had friends. He was reliable and had the respect of those above and below him in that avocation—mill work.

He leaves only a wife, together with relatives and friends, to mourn the death of a victim of the dread disease. He was 28 years of age.

The Junior Order and the Odd Fellows united Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and buried their fallen brother with the honors of each order. The funeral was preached by Rev. J. D. Arnold in the Forest Hill Methodist church.

A GREAT WORK.

The Red Cross Distributes $3,700,000 Worth to Suffering Cubans.

A report has just been published by the Central Cuban Committee, New York City, to the Secretary of State that contains much information of a very interesting kind and illustrates the high rank of civilization of our nation if we do find things to deplore and complain about.

When it was realized that people in Cuba were starving at a fearful rate and President McKinley made his call in Dec., 1897 for charitable aid to the sufferers, there was a hearty response all over the land.

Quickly Miss Clara Barton was on the scene and the work of relief was taken in hand by the Red Cross Society. The people gave money and supplies. The railroads and ship lines nearly all carried these supplies free and even gave them the right of way over paid for shipments. The work of relief was but just well started when hostilities made it impractical and the Red Cross people came from between the lines and followed closely along with the American advance.

Some goods were confiscated by the Spaniards, of course, and some had to be disposed of and the proceeds applied in other ways.

The list of cash contributions printed in the report shows about 1,200 names of persons, churches and local organizations, the total contributions up to February 15, 1899, being $215,147.35. The contributors of supplies form a list of about 500 names, with an estimated aggregate value of $68,030.41.

Besides this, thirty-eight car-loads of supplies, valued at $66,671.77, were sent from various cities. It is stated that the entire cost of collecting, transporting and distributing the donations, aggregating more than $370,000, was only 2 1/2 per cent. About $7,500 will remain after all outstanding bills are paid, and this sum will be turned over to Miss Clara Barton to aid in the hospital work in Cuba which the President, the Secretary of War and Gen. Brooke have asked her to establish.

Of outside charities which have sent supplies to Cuba the report mentions the Citizens' Committee of Philadelphia, the Associate Society of the Red Cross of Philadelphia, the Omaha World-Herald and the Kansas City Star.

If troubled with rheumatism, give Chamberlain's Pain-Balm a trial. It will not cost you a cent if it does no good. One application will relieve the pain. It also cures sprains and bruises in one-third the time required by any other treatment. Cuts, burns, frostbites, quinsy, pains in the side and chest, glandular and other swellings are quickly cured by applying it. Every bottle warranted. Price, 25 and 50 cts.—M. L. Marsh & Co.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSING.

Splendid Selections Splendidly Recited to a Full House of Delighted Spectators.

The court house was comfortably filled with eager spectators today (Thursday) to hear the well rendered program of the Concord High School.

Rev. T. W. Smith led in prayer. Mr. Thompson announced that the gathering was simply the closing of the Concord High School and not a commencement in any true sense.

There were no pretensions to orations or essays but selections would be recited by those who had finished the course.

The selections were found by the audience to be very good indeed and most of them were well delivered.

"Responsibility of Young Men," by Ralph M. Odell was rendered in a manner that indicated that the speaker may yet take high rank as an orator.

"The Old Clock," by Miss Suther was a beautiful delineation of life scenes importing the thought food therein with the monotone of the old clock as it seems to say "Forever, Never, Forever."

"The Blue and the Gray," by Miss McConnell was of that thrilling strain so deeply filling the popular mind now, that in her way of reciting it, you were lost to all but the emotions the words inspired.

Miss Fisher recited "The Old Canoe" in rhythmic flow but the ear of the writer could not catch all and enjoy its strains as those nearer.

Mr. Henry Craven defined "Impulse and Duty" with an easy, natural grace that seemed like his own thoughts. The subject was well analyzed and was truly edifying and inspiring.

"Why Should the Spirit of Monte Be Proud?" was recited by Miss King with very good effect. She seemed to enter well into her subject, and besides being gratifying it was profitable to hear.

"Long Ago" was recited by Miss Brown with ease and gracefulness. Our ears also failed to catch all the sentiment.

"My Mind to Me a Kingdom I," by Miss King was sublime in the depth of thought and evidently well enough said, but was broken into by our inability to keep the whole thread.

"Twenty Years Ago" by Miss Craig flowed so like Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" and was delivered in a way so natural and expressive that it would be a treat to some as a recitation.

High Pops drew upon the history of the past and the visions of the future in his delivery of "Ultimate America."

It is due to say as a whole that the exercises indicated a constant upwardness and upwardness to the work of the Concord high school.

There were many floral tributes. The chancel was a veritable floral bazaar and the sweet aroma over the room somewhat took the place of music.

We will endeavor to get and give to our readers later the excellent report read by Mr. Thompson. We will also endeavor to show the lines of thought of Dr. Smith's splendid address.

MR. JOHNSON'S ADDRESS.

It is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per bottle. For sale at P. B. Peizer's Drug Store.

His Composition.
The small boy who wrote the following composition shows signs of becoming a great historian: "King Henry Ate was the greatest widower that ever was. He was borned at Annie Doniso in the year 1066. He had 510 wives and thousands of children. He was first beheaded and afterwards executed. Henry Ate was succeeded to the throne by his great grandmother, the beautiful Mary, Queen of Scots, sometimes called the Lady of the Lake or the Lay of the Last Ministerial."

DR. SMITH'S GREAT SPEECH.

WIDE FIELDS OPEN TO THE YOUNG
The South Demands Thoroughly Equipped Young Talent—Industry and Complete Education Necessary to Rise in the World.

Concord was treated to a gem of practical thought at the close of the Concord High School Friday by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, of Davidson College. The speaker makes no attempt at oratorical flourishes but pours out a stream of thought unembellished with sought but facts put in plain, good English.

He took for his subject, "How to Rise in the World."

He would not have come to Concord but for the hope of addressing the young.

He was sorry for anyone contented with his or her attainments and his object was to inspire ambitions among the young for the highest proficiency in any calling.

He declared that the young in the South have better opportunities than anywhere in the world.

The day was when the world demanded those of riper age to fill the pulpits, to exercise the judicial functions, to occupy political positions, to manage grand mercantile and industrial enterprises, to be at the head of great institutions of learning and to command grand armies, but not so now.

All things else being equal the young man is preferred. Young men that can't sport a moustache are found at the head of vast enterprises.

It is a young man's era and even more a young woman's era.

Every avenue is open to the young especially in the South.

Gradually, even the office of president of the United States is being filled by younger men, and that, too, from the humble walks of life.

He contrasted the opportunities here with those in Europe. A hotel waiter in Europe is the best in the world but he is born and bred a waiter. His ancestry were waiters, his posterity will be, but here the waiter ambitions to succeed will yet over the hotel and command others.

The worthy heroes of the great civil war were long idolized and were practically the leaders and dictators in the South. They are now filling honorable graves and there are no conspicuous leaders. No better opportunity ever existed for great political talent to rise to the front. Especially is this true from the fact that politics in the South is unsettled and unstable, with no predominant issues. The Democratic party would now drop into factional fragments but for the race problem.

Every manufacturing establishment is a standing advocate of the protective system.

There is a field for some towering political talent to blaze the pathway in the South.

The phenomenal growth of manufacturing in the South opens the way for many to rise to positions of dignity and emolument. We need professional industry.

The field of literature, once practically closed against Southern authors, is wide open and Southern literature from Southern authors is more eagerly sought today than from anywhere.

The population is growing denser and ere long journalism will reach a higher stage and must have the more advanced talent. Great leading journals will be needed to mould the advancing thought in the expanding development of the South.

Colleges and schools are multiplying and must have able heads and efficient corps.

There is room for all and the man well equipped is perplexed to choose among his opportunities.

The means by which to attain these desirable ends are industry equipped with education.

The speaker assailed village laziness, the hanging around the soda fountain for a five cent drink that it takes a four hours more to digest.

There should be no idlers and all ambitions should embrace a complete mastery of the line of industry engaged in. The South demands more industry and education than formerly.

The speaker said that A. Pierson's biographical encyclopedia contains the names of all men of marked success in life in our country. There are 175,000 graduates on the rolls of our colleges since the birth of the nation. Five thousand of these, or 1 to 35, have their names in the encyclopedia. Of about 100,000,000 of men that have lived in the United States beside, but ten thousand, or 1 to every 10,000, have won places in this encyclopedia.

Among physicians the thoroughly educated have not on chances of entrance to one of those short of a complete college course, as is now by the cyclopedists.

The speaker was impressive with the idea that there is too much ease and idleness that hinders educational and industrial progress which the South is demanding.

The speaker strongly urged that no one who will equip himself well will lack a remunerative place to fill in life.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

The Graded School Entertains—Good Music—Winning "Tots"—Edifying Essays and Recitation—Diplomas Presented.

The annual commencement of the Concord Graded Schools held in the court house Friday night was a pleasurable occasion.

The chancel was decorated and the class motto "To Be Rather Than to Seem" was suspended gracefully over the five girls who have just finished the course.

Rev. C. B. Miller opened the exercises with an invocation after which the program was rendered without announcement. Prof. Keesler presided at the organ and that whole enthusiastic band of singers seemed in the heights of joyousness as they sang to perfect time and great unison of chord.

It is always a treat to hear these children and watch their expressive countenances as they sing. Miss Harris' band of little "tots" were just so cute, lovely and sweet in their charming little motions, that the aged and staid could but descend from their grave and dignified men and in sympathy be "tots" too, again.

The essays of Miss Daisy Barrier, subject, "Henry W. Longfellow," Miss Nina Dayvaunt, subject, "The Value of Books," Miss Olie Fisher, subject, "China and Chinese," and Miss Flossie Pounds, subject, "The Friend," were all of high and edifying order.

Miss Mary Stricker recited a poem on the great social natural cross in the mountains of Colorado entitled "The Mount of the Holy Cross." The tones, the emphasis and the enunciation were up to the average of the same number of speakers in any performance. They showed good training.

Mr. D. B. Coltrane the president of the board of school commissioners presented diplomas to each of the class which is a new feature in the Concord Graded School.

Mr. Coltrane extended his remarks in the interest of all the children of the town as invited and urged to attend the Graded School.

The class then sang their "Farwell to the School" which was the only feature of the entertainment calculated to bring a pang of serious reflections.

Rev. B. L. Hoge closed the exercises with prayer and benediction.

This ended a most successful session of the Graded School and the exercises as well as the general atmosphere of the school shows it to be at the high water mark of proficiency and progress.

MR. PRUE WHITE TO MARRY.
We learn through a letter that on the 14th of next month, Mr. Prue White, of Greenville, S. C., who formerly was a freight clerk here and who was liked very much by his acquaintances, will be married to Miss Lula May Gibson, of that place. The bride and groom will pass through here on the night of the 15th, and will stop over here on their return home. They will stop with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dayvaunt, where he formerly boarded.

THREE NUTS ON THEIR WAY HOME.
On Thursday three children, who have no sense of speech or hearing, arrived here from Morganton on their way to their homes at Locust, in Stanly county. They were of the same family—two girls and one boy—and are the children of Mrs. Mary Hartsell. They expected their deaf and dumb brother to meet them, but he failed to be here and they spent the night with some of their friends at Forest Hill.

HIS FINE WAS PAID.
On Thursday night Police Boger caught a white boy beating his way on the train. He was captured and brought up town and confined in jail for the night. Next morning at trial Mayor Means put on his due and costs, as he does almost every day, but a number of persons made up a purse for the young man rather than see him go to the chain gang. He was from Rowan county.

MR. EPHRAIM MAUNY DEAD.
Gold Hill lost one of its oldest and best citizens Wednesday in the person of Mr. Ephraim Mauney. Mr. Mauney had lived to see eighty-seven years pass by and leaves several children. He was an uncle of Mrs. J. L. Crowell, of this place, who was in Washington at the time of his death.

THEY'RE CAPTURED.

The Negro Who Fired at the Officer Saturday Night Now on the Chain-gang for the Satisfaction of the Town—The State's Warrant Continued—The Other Captured and Fined.

It will be remembered that on Saturday night, the 20th, Mr. John Loflin, who was a special policeman that night, attempted to catch two negroes who were thought to be in the crowd using such profane language. The negroes took to their heels but at last one turned and shot several times at the officer, the shots being returned by the officer.

Nothing was done about the matter until Wednesday the two negroes were brought before Mayor Means. Sim Gray is the name of the negro who did the shooting. He was arrested on the State's warrant but the town also had to settle the matter with him. Mayor Means put a fine of $30 on the negro together with the costs, which will satisfy the town's part of the matter but the State's part is continued, and the negro, after finishing his work on the chain-gang will have to give a bond for his appearance at the next term of court afterwards.

The other negro, who picked up his feet with such agility, was named Robt. Gray. He was fined $2.50 and the costs.

This will no doubt learn Sim Gray that it is a dangerous piece of business to disobey the command of an officer when he is told to halt and that it is still worse when he turns and fires on the officer of the law.

WANTS HIM FAGED.
The "Fire-Baptized Holiness Association" have erected a large tent here on the lot of one of their converts, and are holding meetings three times a day.—Dispatch from Sanford.

It is a most deplorable fact that there are some men in every community in the world who are ready to accept any kind of "ism" that the most depraved fanaticism can conceive of. If the snake-eaters of Africa were to send missionaries among us we believe they would find some supporters.

These "Fire Baptists" to whose unhallowed ends the sacred name of religion is perverted, should be faged out of the State.—Greensboro Telegram.

[If no one attends these meetings then they would cease. Let the people absent themselves from such places.]

CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

Gen. Cowles Withdraws His Suit.
Gen. A. D. Cowles has withdrawn his suit for $20,000 damages against the Raleigh street railway company and has paid the costs of the action. It will be recalled that in Raleigh last summer Gen. Cowles, then lieutenant colonel of the Second Regiment, came in collision with a street car while riding horseback. His horse was thrown to the ground, falling on him, and as a result the general's ankle was broken. He promptly entered suit but has withdrawn the suit on account of proving negligence on the part of the street car company. He prefers to withdraw now rather than risk losing the case in court.—Statesville Landmark.

Benjie Levy Improving.
On Tuesday, May 2nd, Benjie Levy took lockjaw from running a large splinter in his foot. For several days the boy was at the point of death, but he will now recover. His jaws are open a little more now than when he was seized with the affection. He has an exceptionally good appetite and eats almost anything he wants. For weeks he has been sucking his victuals through a tube and now he can put bits in his mouth with his fingers. This will be an extraordinary case.

NO CURE, NO PAY.
That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for chills and Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults refer to it as bitter, nauseating Tonic. Price, 50c.

The Picnic Postponed.
The picnic at Rook Hill Saturday to be had by the operatives of the shops at Spencer has been postponed on account of the inability to secure cars just at this time on account of the heavy travel, so the Salisbury correspondent of the Observer says.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. Lynch, Dorr, Va. This remedy is sold by M. L. Marsh & Co.

SOMETHING BENEFICIAL.

The State Dairymen's Association and Swine Breeder's Association Both to Meet Here Next Month—Something of Interest to Every Prosperous Farmer of the County As Well As to Every Citizen.

Cabarrus county can well be proud of the fact that on the 27th and 28th of next month two Associations will meet here, last two days, when every farmer in Cabarrus county as well as every person interested in stock any way should attend.

The State Dairymen's Association and the Swine Breeder's Association will hold their meetings here. These meetings are held for the purpose of mutually benefiting each other and awake new interest in the work.

These meetings will consist of lectures by local dairymen and those interested in the raising of stock, together with lectures by two experts from the Experiment Station of our State. Numerous apparatus will be on exhibition, such as those showing the making of butter, testing of the qualities of milk, etc. and all of this will be free to the people.

In the afternoon of these two days the Swine Breeders Association will meet.

Let the people turn out to these meetings and let no improvements in these lines escape the eye of our good-living farmers.

The Christian Reid Book Club Closes for the Season.
The meeting of the Christian Reid Book Club with Mrs. P. B. Fetzer on Saturday was one of unusual interest.

Mr. Holland Thompson was present by invitation and made an address which will long dwell in the hearts and minds of those present. The meeting brings to a close the second year of the Club's life. The members of the Club are to be congratulated that it has been crowned with success—a season of growing interest and literary work. The attainments of the past will doubtless prove an incentive in a future which is full of promise. The Club will resume work in its third series in September. The members of the Christian Reid and Julia Magruder Book Clubs will join in a picnic at White Hill next Tuesday afternoon when in interchange of happy thought which "breaks through language and escapes," they will spend a pleasant hour.

The ancient believe that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by M. L. Marsh & Co.

Good Roads for Guilford.
Greensboro is taking hold of the good roads movement in a way that it would seem would be a decided stimulus. There is a good roads club of men who agree to pay certain amounts per mile for 40 miles of macadamized roads to be made in the county outside of the city limits. The subscriptions run from $200 to $4000 and aggregate thus far $6,600. This is to be given to the county commissioners as the work progresses.

It certainly displays much earnestness in a good cause.

Cotton Up to Time.
We learn with much satisfaction from one of our leading farmers of No. 3 township that the cotton crop is in better condition at this time than it was at the same period last year. Though planting may have been a little delayed by the late Spring, the season has been favorable to a prompt germination and growth so that to our pleasant surprise the cotton crop is well up to time.

Engineer Tunstall Gets Damages.
Mr. W. B. Tunstall, the engineer who was on the northbound fast mail the day of the Harrisburg wreck two years ago, and who was injured, brought suit against the Southern in Alamance county's court and has received $8,500 damages.

Rev. T. W. Smith Resigns.
In the withdrawal of Rev. C. F. Rankin, the presidency of the Cabarrus County Sunday School Association was made vacant. Rev. T. W. Smith has been duly elected by the executive committee to fill the vacancy.

REFERRED STARVED WIRE AND SWAMPS.

On Thursday night two "hoboes," both colored, jumped from the passenger train, to escape the officers. Mr. Locke Parish, who was assisting that night, chased the negroes but the front men went to regions un-molested by officers. They went down a large embankment and landed in a barbed wire fence. After paying their respects and several pieces of clothing to this impediment they passed hurriedly to the swamp where they took slow and cautious steps, for the mud was over a foot deep. But after all they escaped the thirty days sentence to the chain-gang which does more than tear clothing and bury knee pans in mud.

Patient—What are your charges, doctor?
Doctor—My terms are $5 a visit, madam.

Patient—Is that for both the rheumatism and malaria?
Doctor—Yes.

Patient—Well, times are hard now, and money does not fetch the interest that it used to. Suppose you let the rheumatism stand and cure only the malaria.—Harlem Life.
