The Baptist church was well filled Thursday night to hear the learned Dr. Needham expound the great doctrines and teachings of the Bible.

He preached on "What tokens and signs have we that the coming of the Lord is at hand?" The great divine in his plain, earnest, characteristic way appealed to old and young alike, holding their undivided attention from the beginning to the end.

He began by saying that the Southern people are as a whole a good people and believe in the teachings of the Bible, but your interest is not aroused in the prophetic portions; to arouse that interest is why I am here and why I expect to go to Texas.

Scripture proves that we are coming towards the end, and scientific men say the forces of nature are being exhausted, but One is coming that will change this old earth into a great and glorious sign. We have the Jewish sign. The Bible says the Jew shall be scattered all over the face of the earth and today we find him a man of all nations.

Dr. Needham pointed out many places in the Bible where it said certain things would come to pass in regard to the Jews and they have come to pass in recent years.

1st, a political movement, and this is the great Zionistic movement.

2nd, commercial movement, and this is fulfilled in the fact that great Jewish colonies are entering Palestine and Jerusalem and these colonists are becoming an agricultural people.

3rd, the religious movement. The Jew is listening to the teachings of the Bible today better than ever before and more are becoming Christians.

Still other signs are: Increase of knowledge, distress of nations, disturbance of the elements, apostate sign, worshipping the devil, the gospel is being preached to all nations.

Dr. Needham pointed out where the Bible spoke of these signs and proved how they have been and are being literally fulfilled today.

Mrs. Martha P. Davis, of No. 10 township, died Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the age of 75 years.

Mrs. Geo. Plummer, of No. 10 township, died Wednesday night. She will be buried at the Howell church cemetery Friday evening.

Counting the Counts. We think if one will count up to 48 and then begin at 41 and count on up again to 50, for instance, he will have a shortage of 8 instead of 7.

Once upon a time seven Irishmen were crossing on a bridge and saw the reflection of the moon in mid river. Deeming it a thing of value they set about to get it. So one suspended himself to the bridge and another to him and so on to the last who was about to grasp the goal. No. 1 feeling his hand slipping said hold on down there till I spit in my hands. The consequences need not be told here. All scrambled out, but they fell counting and each neglecting to count himself, there was a shortage in number, yet they would not name the missing man. Going on in their perturbed state and doubting the count each proposed that all make an indenture in the sand with his nose. The plan was adopted. One was gifted with an unusually long chin and made two imprints. So the count showed 8 instead of 7 and all were satisfied, that at least, no one was lost.

Ours First Realized. Now that there is a satisfactorily working wireless telegraphy outfit in North Carolina, located at Hatteras, our esteemed contemporary, The Concord Standard, is to be congratulated on the fact. The Standard is the organ of wireless telegraphy and in securing the same for North Carolina proves itself more successful than The Greensboro Telegram, the organ of perpetual motion, or than The Observer, the organ of the flying machine. We never expect to hear of The Telegram's doing anything with its absurd, impracticable schemes, but we assure our Concord contemporary that North Carolina will yet come to law with the aerial locomobile. -Charlotte Observer.

Back in Concord and Glad of It. Mr. Adolphus A Hamilton is a rain back in Concord and is night operator at the depot of the Southern. He says he is quite satisfied to be here again after varied experiences including that of boarding a moving train at Gastonia in which he fell under the train and there seemed less than an inch between him and a ground up corpse. By a streak of good luck that he carried in the muscles of his right arm he snatched himself back from the beyond and placed himself on the steps of the train without a scar and never so glad that he is living. We join him in the felicity and bid him welcome again to Concord, the apex of mundane existence. -Daily of 26.

The usual weather predictions are there, also the members of the United States Senate and Congressmen from North Carolina. The two Senators from North Carolina were Timothy Bloodworth and Jesse Franklin.

The almanac was written by William Thomas and published by Francis Cappee, of Salisbury.
