Remedy for Mosquitoes.

Approaching summer will soon bring to many of our readers that weighty problem as to the best means for the obliteration of the mosquito. In Venezuela the castor oil plant is said to afford complete immunity from the pest.

While in a more temperate climate the castor oil plant attains a height of only four or five feet, in Venezuela it grows to the size of a tree and is perennial. In the opinion of States Consul Palnacher, at Maracibo, the plant would be equally effective against mosquito anywhere. It is recommended that branches and seed of the castor oil plant be kept in a room to drive these insects away. -Thrice a Week World.

GERMANS KILLED AND EATEN.

All the Party Victims of Cannibals But One.

Berlin, June 6. - The Tageblatt prints a special correspondence from New Guinea, containing a full account of the massacre of the members of the first German South Sea expedition on the Cannibal Islands of St. Matthias. They were all killed and eaten, save Dr. Heinrich.

The Colonial Zeitung, the official organ of the German Colonial Society, furnishes details of the massacre. It seems that the vessel which carried the expedition to the island of St. Matthias left, after a few days, for Herberstob, New Britain, to get coal and fresh supplies. During its absence the savages, who had hitherto appeared friendly, although known to be cannibals, planned to kill and rob the diminished party.

The plot was carried out one morning while the members of the expedition, who had a body guard of 40 Papuans, were cleaning their rifles, which they had taken apart. Suddenly 80 of the islanders broke from the bushes, raising fierce war cries and brandishing spears with which they stabbed to death the leader of the party, Dr. Mencken, his secretary, Herr Caro, and a white sailor, who was asleep under a tent. Dr. Heinrich emptied a revolver into his assailants while the body guard in the meantime retired to the boats with the wounded and Dr. Heinrich, leaving twelve dead. The boats put off to an island not far distant, where the expeditionary vessel rescued them. Subsequently the survivors returned to the island of St. Matthias, where they found that the bodies had been devoured and the camp absolutely looted.

Another Sharp Battle.

London, June 6. - The Boers and the British had another desperate encounter near Warm Baths in the Transvaal, and the Boers suffered severely as the result. A dispatch from Pretoria, sent under yesterday's date, says that a detachment of 240 British in command of Col. Wilson surprised a portion of Commandant Beyer's forces, numbering about four hundred, near the place mentioned, and a lively engagement followed. The fighting lasted for some time, and before the Boers were driven from the field thirty-six of them had been killed many severely wounded. The British casualties were three killed and fifteen wounded.

Value of Newspapers.

Daniel Webster said this in discussing the value of newspapers: "Small is the sum that is required to patronize a newspaper, and well rewarded are the patrons. I care not how humble and unpretending the gazette he takes, it is next to impossible to fill a sheet without putting something in it that is worth the subscription price. No home should be without its newspaper and every parent whose son is away at school should supply him with a newspaper. I will remember the difference between those of my school mates who had and those who had not access to newspapers. Other things being equal, the first were superior to the last in debate, composition and intelligence." - Fisherman and Farmer.

Man's Arm Found in a Shark.

A large shark, measuring fifteen feet, was caught in Charleston harbor by fishermen this morning. When the body was opened the arm of a man in a perfect state of preservation was found in the belly of the shark.

The arm is supposed to be one from one of the fishermen who were lost in the signal off Charleston last Friday, when fifteen fishermen perished.

SHERIFF SHOTS INTO MOB.

One Man Killed and Two Wounded - Mob Driven Back - Negro Prisoner Protected.

At Carrlton, Ga., a negro named, Williams, had killed a white boy, Otis Ward, and was convicted of murder. He was to have been hanged Friday, but an appeal was taken to Supreme court.

Citizens, among them the father of the boy, raised a mob and broke into the jail. They demanded the prisoner but were refused and warned not to advance further. They did not heed and the sheriff gave the order to fire. George Bennett fell and died of a shot while two others were wounded.

The mob gave back and withdrew. The Governor was called on for aid and responded promptly and the mob called for surrounding help, whereupon the Governor issued his proclamation commanding the mob to disperse which was obeyed and the prisoner was later escorted to the train for Atlanta.

A Rich Gold Vein in Burke.

A special of the 7th from Morganton to the Charlotte Observer says: "A rich free gold quartz vein, assaying over $20 to the ton, has just been discovered here in the South Mountains, by W. L. Bruce, of Morganton, upon his land in Burke county. The vein appears extensive and has created considerable excitement."

Remedy for Ground Mole.

If any one is troubled with the ground mole which plays so much havoc with flower bulbs and other vegetation add will follow the simple plan here given. Mr. mole will no longer exist either upon or beneath terra firma. Put 60 grains of paris green into a putty made of meal, work it in thoroughly, make the putty into pills the size of a hazelnut and place these at different places just under the ground in the mole's pathway. -Rocky Mount Motor.

West Depot Street is not wide enough to accommodate the travel to depot; often blocking of teams occurs and causes delay as much as ten minutes. This would not be necessary, if West-Corbin street received even a passing notice from those whose business it is to attend to such matters.

If the town authorities would have even the holes filled up that are here and there on West-Corbin, a sufficient public would be gratified. There are holes on said street in which Col. Rufus Alexander Brown's brick machine might go into without scouring.

If this street, which is an outlet and inlet for an immense amount of travel, could be macadamized, a simple duty will have been performed in the interest of the people and a badly neglected community.

"Fill the holes, anyway!"

LOCOMOTIVE BOILER EXPLODES.

Engineer Fred Brown Instantly Killed and Three Badly Hurt.

There was a terrible accident on the Nashville branch of the A. C. L. about one mile below Nashville at noon yesterday. From some cause the boiler of the material train exploded and havoc and destruction was brought in every direction. Engineer Fred Brown was instantly killed, the head was severed from the body, one leg and one arm gone. The fireman, a colored man, was also seriously hurt. The switchman and flagman were also badly hurt but may recover.

The train and engine was scattered in every direction by the mighty force of the exploding engine. The wreck train went promptly to the aid of the ill-fated train and crew and Dr. W. H. Whitehead, the efficient A. C. L. surgeon here, assisted by Dr. J. P. Whitehead, took charge of the wounded. -Rocky Mount Motor of 7th.
