THE REFORMATORY.

Two years ago, the Standard suggested the need and humanity of a Reformatory for the youthful criminals in North Carolina. We had articles from time to time on the subject. The State press, generally, commented on the suggestion—the most of them favored it.

About ten months ago the ministers of our town discussed the matter in its different phases, through columns of the Standard.

A kind friend in Charlotte, a gentleman in more ways than one, sent the Standard's first article on a Reformatory to Gov. Fowle for his earnest consideration. He considered the need of such an institution so great that he called attention to it in his annual message in a no uncertain tone.

Now that the Teachers Assembly has power in the State, we have taken a thorough issue, we are a young matter as a little on the political shape.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died in Concord, N. C., June 29, 1892, Samuel Campbell, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brown, in the fifth year of his age.

A remarkably bright, beautiful life, has been taken away from us. Little Sammy will be greatly missed by his admiring friends, and the dear earthly home is so sad and desolate without him; but Heaven has gained a bright jewel, and our loss is his eternal gain. "It is well with the child," for that Divine Voice that said, "suffer the children to come unto me, and forbid them not"—has called the dear little boy to be ever with the Lord. God help us all to say, "thy will be done," and bless this great sorrow, to the eternal good of the sadly afflicted family. PASTOR.

ADLAI.

The Baltimore Sun has this to say of the name of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President:

"The singular name of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President is attracting attention. It is pronounced in three syllables. 'Ad-lai' and is a biblical name. It means 'the just,' or, as some have it, 'my ornament.' Adlai in the Bible was the father of Shaphat, who was one of King David's officials and had charge over the herds that were in the valleys. He is mentioned in First Chronicles, xxvii, 29."

STANDARDISMS.

The Hat is fencing Indiana. He brings Mr. Foster, of that State to take the place of Jas. G. Blaine, in the President's Cabinet.

Political excitement is just normal now. It is too hot to become excited.

"Adlai" is a popular name.

"Grover" is a mighty easy word to spell and pronounce.

HOW NORTH CAROLINA FEELS.

To the Editor of the Morning Advertiser: If you have any influence whatever upon Grover Cleveland induce him, for sweet heaven's sake, to omit the subject of the force bill from his forthcoming letter of acceptance. Southern democrats want none of his inane plotitudes now, acceptable as they might have been once. We are no longer afraid of the force bill. Time has taken the scare out of it, but it hasn't made us forget Grover's cowardly silence when we thought we needed his help. There are fifty thousand democrats in this state who hate him for the friends he has made, and will take Brother Dana's alternative, preferring "gentleman Harrison with a force bill in his pocket" to the devil.

A NORTH CAROLINA DEMOCRAT.
Concord, N. C., June 25.

It may be true that there is a disgruntled democrat at Concord who would say, in ambush, that the South wants a force bill, but we dare say that the so-called "North Carolina Democrat" will not sign his name to the above.

The head "How North Carolina Feels" is doubtless a thought of the New York Advertiser, and it might be well to suggest just here that one Concord mugwump is not North Carolina by a jug full.

[Who is this North Carolina Democrat? Trot him out.]

Rev. W. G. Campbell spent the morning in Salisbury, on ministerial duties.
