MR. GUY MAXWELL DROWNED
He and Mr. Ed. Blackwelder Were Boat Rowing and the Boat Capsized—Survived in the Presence of a Number of People—The Body Recovered.

Charlotte Chronicle.

Mr. Guy Maxwell, son of Col. D. G. Maxwell, was drowned in the lake at Latta park last night. He and Mr. Ed. Blackwelder were in one of the round-bottom boats, in their shirt sleeves, rowing over the lake and evidently, from their frequent laughter, having a merry time. They were skylarking a good deal, racing, rocking the boat, and at times pulling in different directions. Suddenly persons on the bank saw the boat capsize and both of the young men pitch head-foremost into the water. Mr. Blackwelder swam to one bank, but Mr. Maxwell though accounted a very good swimmer, beat the waves with his hands and arms and floundered. He cried out a number of times, but no one on the banks had at hand any means of rescue. A colored man, who had some colored women in a boat 15 to 20 feet away, pushed for the shore—fearing to go near to the drowning man lest he overturn his boat—and having unloaded the women, put back, but by this time the cruel waters had closed for the last time over the unfortunate young man.

The greater part of the large crowd at the park were, at the time of the occurrence, viewing Butt's panorama. Pistols were fired and alarm otherwise given and soon the banks were lined with people. Men took all the boats available and searched for the body with poles and chains and Messrs. Tom Webb and E. A. McGhey dived for it, but without success.

The drowning took place about 9:40 o'clock. The Point at which the boat capsized is about three-fourths the length of the lake, toward the dam, and about the middle of it—from bank to bank. The water at that spot is something like fifteen feet deep.

Marion Headen Tells Sheriff Cook About The Swain Murder.
Greensboro Workmen

Marion Headen, one of the pafties in jail here for the murder of Solathiel Swain, has told Sheriff Cook the part he took in the murder and where he could find the balance of the money—$300.

He first told the sheriff that it was concealed under a ledge of rock in a certain field. The Sheriff went down yesterday and dug all day, but found no money. He returned to town and told the prisoner that he had told him a falsehood. Headen then told the sheriff that we would find the money in a certain corner of the shed to his house and that it was concealed in a basket. He went back last night and found the money.

The sheriff is to be commended for his skill and energy in working up this case. He has wound around these prisoners a chain of evidence which cannot fail to convict them. All praise to the sheriff.

Quiet In Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 26.—All remains quiet at Coal Creek. A detachment of troops was sent to Oliver Springs yesterday to make arrests. They have not returned to camp. The trial of the arrested misers began yesterday before a judge of the peace at Clinton. The case of Monroe was taken up but was not concluded when court adjourned.

Assistant Labor Commissioner Alleman appeared at Coal Creek yesterday and surrendered. He was released upon bond. In this city there are no further developments. Superintendent of Prisons Ware is busily engaged securing guards to accompany the released convicts to their various mines, and it is expected they will be sent early next week.

A Double Tragedy.

Somerest, Ky., August 26.—A shooting affair occurred at Happy Hollow coal mines in this county yesterday afternoon, in which Ben Howren was shot and killed by Sam Erp. The killing was witnessed by a man named Geo. Postle, who shortly afterward cut his own throat, apparently without any other cause than witnessing the killing of Howren.

A valise was received at the United States Express office at Jackson, Miss., several days ago, showing from the hundreds of stamps and tags on it that it had been in most of the express offices in this country.
