THE GREAT THIRD PARTY JUBILEE.

A Procession Which Wends Its Way Singing—Weaver With a Festive Rosette—He is Listened to With Courtesy—A Large Part of the Crowd Democrats.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 29.—General J. B. Weaver, Third party nominee for President, arrived here early this morning and to-day filled the first of his two regular appointments in North Carolina. A procession was formed which Third partymen claimed contained 2,000 people. There were 168 mounted men and 48 vehicles in line. Weaver, his wife, and Mrs. Lease were in a carriage with Otho Wilson, State chairman of the party. A. C. Green, of Wake, was chief marshal and his assistants wore sashes of white cotton bagging. About one-fifth in the procession were negroes and as the paraders moved along they cheered or sang their campaign song, "Good Bye, old Party, Good Bye."

The speaking place was at one of the parks, where an audience of 3,000 gathered, many being Democrats. Weaver was introduced by Chairman Wilson and spoke an hour and a half. He was listened to attentively and shown every courtesy. He wore a big rosette made of corn husks. White and colored marshals were in the crowd on the platform. Mrs. Lease followed Gen. Weaver, speaking an hour and fifteen minutes.

Better estimates of the crowd at the speaking place put it at 2,000. It is positively asserted that of this, half were Democrats and Republicans. The Democrats are well pleased at the showing made by the Third party to-day. After all the Third party efforts to get people here from five congressional districts, there were only 1,200 real members of the party present, though it was claimed that twenty counties had representation. Weaver spoke an hour and a quarter. Mrs. Lease spoke an hour and then the audience dispersed. There was no demonstration and no sensation of any kind. Weaver and his party left at 5 o'clock via Weldon for Rocky Mount.

William H. Jernigan, late of Co. I, Twenty-sixth North Carolina troops, died at the soldiers' home here, aged 50, of paralysis, and was buried in the Confederate cemetery this afternoon.

A compromise of the tax suits of the State against the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad was made to-day though the terms are not yet made public.

The Republicans have endorsed William Merritt, the Third party nominee for the Senate in the twentieth district.

London's New Lord Mayor.

London, September 29.—The livery of the city of London today selected Stewart Knill for lord mayor. There were six candidates. When Knill's name was mentioned it was received with loud cheering. Councillor Moore protested against the selection of Knill because he was a Roman Catholic. The protest was received with mingled hissing and cheering.

The Stanly News says that Ambrose Hileman, the Third party candidate for the Senate, will not find many of his stripes in Stanly, even with a four-horse plough.

FIELD, BUTLER AND GLENN.

All at Asheville Yesterday—Glenn's Powerful Speech.

Asheville, Sept. 20.—Field, the Third party vice-presidential candidate, spoke in the court-house today to several hundred, although to not more than a dozen Third party men. The Democrats were attracted by the prospect of a joint discussion between Butler and Glenn. Field began with the statement that he wouldn't ask people to vote for him but according to their own convictions, yet almost the last thing in his speech was: "Vote for Weaver and Field and see what they will do for you." He said he wanted the sectional chasm blotted out so that a Northern man could come South and feel safe without being rotten-egged. The force bill, Field said, was a raw head and bloody bones, used to scare the Democratic voters. He alluded sneeringly to Cleveland and Stevenson and was roundly hissed each time.

Butler, when Field concluded, said he was sorry he could not have a joint debate with Glenn but had promised to go to Salisbury and speak with Field tomorrow. He made this statement: "The Goldsboro Headlight has charged that I received money from the Republican national committee. I dare Editor Roscower to prove the statement or produce the man who saw me receive the money. I denounce it as a lie and will tell the editor in his own town when I get there that it is a lie, conceived by a scoundrel and published for campaign effect."

Butler and Field went to the train, taking but nine followers. The remainder of the crowd stayed to hear Glenn and after they heard him they unanimously agreed that they couldn't blame Butler for wanting to leave. The speech was one of the best ever delivered here. So great was his power over his hearers that dozens of strong men wept over the pathetic picturing of scenes during the reconstruction period. His tariff argument was plain and powerful—in fact, the whole speech was an admirable effort and had great effect.

Dr. S. L. M. Curry also made a talk which was true-blue Democracy and through and enthusiastic.

THE COTTON ADVANCE.

Gone up Mainly Because of the Shortness of the Crop.

New Orleans, Sept. 28.—The Pica-yune says editorially concerning the recent improvement in the price of cotton:

"The main cause of the advance is found in the great falling off in the movement of the crop compared with previous seasons. The secretary of the cotton exchange's statement for the last eight weeks, issued Friday evening, shows that the movement of the crop into sight during the week, represented a shortage of 94,811 bales compared with same week last year. The amount of the crop brought in since the opening of the season had decreased 212,467 bales compared with last year, and 254,733 bales compared with the year before last. This is a very large shortage, and represents the smallest September movement to date that has been experienced in years.

The immense falling off in the movement very evidently cannot be attributed to the lateness of the crop, hence the conviction has grown that the yield is not only late, but is also short, compared with last year. Joined to the slow movement of the crop, the reports of the growing cotton have been very unfavorable during the past week, all of which has served to accelerate the upward movement in prices. Should the movement continue for some time to show a falling off compared with last year, the advance which has already taken place is likely to be supplemented by a further and more important movement. If cotton is being held back, as some allege, it will come forward immediately to profit by the recent advance, hence the movement of the next few days is likely to demonstrate to what extent, if any, planters are holding back their product.

Will Take the Field for Cleveland.

New Berne, Sept. 27, 1892.—Col. Lon J. Moore will at an early day take the field for Cleveland and the State ticket. The "Colonel," until recently, has affiliated with the Republican party, but the Force bill urged by the Republicans, and the wild silver scheme put out by the so-called Third party were pills that no man could swallow, and at the same time love the country that gave him birth. He has made these questions a special study and no one who wants to form an honest opinion should fail to hear him. He is one of the best speakers in the State, and is so clear on these points that no honest man can for a moment have a doubt as to his duty to his State. N.
