Preached His Last Sermon.

An immense congregation assembled at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday night, to hear the closing sermon in Dr. Payne's pastorate. It was an elegant and scholarly discourse. Closing his sermon, the Doctor said he had no farewell address, but took occasion to express some beautiful thoughts, suggested by his going away. Whilst the Doctor will not be with us constantly, he will not be too far off to come often. The people of Concord, as well as the congregation, part with him reluctantly.

Mr. Will Barringer, son of merchant W G Barringer, of Mt. Pleasant, has returned from the West, where he has been the last several years. Mr. Barringer was one of the strikers that recently made things lively in the West.

FOREST HILL NEWS.

Passing Events as Portrayed by Our Special Correspondent.
Miss Mary Davis has returned to her home, after a pleasant visit to friends and relatives at Randleman, N. C.
Robt. F Coble tells us that he dropped a few lines in the Standard, advertising his wheel for sale and in three days had received two or three answers to it. If you have anything you want to get rid of send the Standard advertisement and it won't stay with you long.
Mr. Ed. McLester, who has been quite ill, is much better.
We are glad to state that Mr. Eli Goldston, who has been so low with the fever, is convalescent.
Mrs. Ed. Ryan, of Charlotte, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Rita Brown.
The orphan's concert, given Saturday night, at the church was fine and a large audience was present to hear the little folks, who have been trained so thoroughly by Superintendent Lawrence.
Dr. C M Payne delivered his farewell sermon to a large house in the M. E. church, Sunday at 3 o'clock. His discourse was grand and full of wisdom. The Doctor has many warm friends here who feel that they are losing a great and good man.

Professor Mangum Goes East.

Our people well remember Prof. E P Mangum, who had charge of the Concord graded schools several years ago. Last year he was in the western part of the State. A dispatch in the Wilmington Messenger, dated Mt. Olive, August 3, reads: "The board of directors of Mt. Olive High School have elected Prof. E P Mangum, of Chapel Hill, N. C., a very distinguished teacher of several years' experience in high positions, to the principal position in their school."

District Conference at Mt. Pleasant.

The Salisbury District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, convened at Mt. Pleasant on Thursday morning, August 2d, Rev. J R Scroggs, Presiding Elder, in the chair. Prof. Leon Cash was elected secretary.

Every preacher in charge was present, and a large number of lay delegates.

The exercises were interesting and sometimes quite spirited. The attendance of the citizens of the town and community was large.

The reports showed a steady growth throughout the district and the Church to be advancing in all departments.

Friday was devoted to the Sunday School interest. O G Montgomery president in the chair. He was re-elected president, Dr. Douglas, vice-president and Prof. Leon Cash secretary. This conference will again be held in connection with the district conference and the next session will convene in Wesley chapel on the Gold Hill circuit.

Prof. Leon Cash, O G Montgomery, M L Buchanan, and Dr. Douglas were elected lay delegates to the annual conference.

The proceedings of these conferences were pleasant and harmonious. The entertainment by the good people of Mt. Pleasant was hospitable and elegant.

Gen. Clugman.

The many friends of this distinguished North Carolinian, whose age and infirmities have withdrawn him from public observation, will be glad to learn that he is passing these waning years of his life as a member of the household of a niece, and is abundantly provided for and tenderly cared for by affectionate relatives.—Raleigh News.

Judge Connor Declines.

WILSON, N. C., Aug. 1, 1894.
I ask here to say to the public, through your columns, that the action of the convention of the Populists, on yesterday, in presenting my name for Justice of the Supreme Court, was without my consent. Those who know me well would not need this assurance. Being, and always having been, a Democrat, I cannot give my consent to the use of my name in opposition to a nominee of my party.

While, of course, I appreciate the confidence and good will implied in the action of those who have thus honored me, I am not a candidate for office, even at the hands of my party, having, for personal reasons, but recently laid down an office, which was in many respects congenial to my tastes. H. G. CONNOR.—In Raleigh News.

Killed By a Town Marshal.

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C., Aug. 4.
—John Lewis, a negro about thirty years old and known to be a desperate character, was shot and killed here today by Town Marshal John Shotwell. Lewis was under arrest and was trying to raise money to pay his fine, enforced for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He got in a dispute with Shotwell and advanced on him. Shotwell pulled his pistol and shot Lewis three times in the side and back. Lewis died within a half hour. Shotwell has surrendered to the sheriff. George Lewis, the aged father of the dead man, telegraphed to have the body sent to Shelby. This will be done after the inquest. The negroes are behaving well, bitter remarks only being heard from one or two women around the body. This is the first man killed in Rutherfordton since its corporate existence of over a hundred years.

DEATH BY HANGING.

The Three Different Stages Through Which the Victim Passes.

"I have made the subject of death by hanging a long study," said Dr. D. S. Lamb, an ex-surgeon of the United States army, according to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "From my observations during my experience in the army, I feel justified in saying that death by hanging is the most exaggerated of all modes. It may be immediate and without symptoms, but the subject must pass through three stages before death.

"In the first stage the victim passes into a partial stupor lasting from thirty seconds to two minutes, but this is generally governed by the length of the drop, the weight of the body, and the tightness of the constriction. There is absolutely no pain in this stage; the feeling is rather one of pleasure. The subjective symptoms described are intense heat in the head, brilliant flashes of light in the eyes, deafening sounds in the ears and a heavy numb feeling in the lungs. In the second stage, the subject passes into unconsciousness, and convulsions usually occur. In the third stage all is quiet, except the beating of the heart. Just before death the agitation is renewed, but in a different way from that in the second state. The feet are raised, the tongue has a peculiar spasm, the chest heaves, the eyes protrude from the orbits and oscillate from side to side, and the pupils dilate. The pulse can, in most cases, be felt ten minutes after the drop.

"I once knew a man who was desirous of ascertaining if there was any suffering by hanging, and in order to find out he placed a rope around his neck and stepped on a bench, intending to step back again, but he became immediately unconscious, and would have died in a few minutes had it not been for the timely arrival of a friend. He said he experienced all the feelings that I mentioned in the first stage."

An exchange asks What is home without a newspaper? and then proceeds to answer in this fashion: It is a place where old hats are stuffed into broken windows; wife looks like a bag of wool with a string tied around the centre; where the husband has a tobacco jakes panorama printed on the bosom of his shirt, and the neglected children wipe their noses on their jacket sleeves.

"Is 'Bohemian,' who writes for the Charlotte Observer and is one of the baker's dozen that are opposing Jarvis, just because the people are done with Ransom, the same correspondent (then under another disguise) that Senator Zeb Vance called a 'lying toad?'"
