Two Sudden Deaths.

Sunday night about 9 o'clock, while attending the colored Baptist church, Susan Thompson, an aged and respected colored woman of this city, became suddenly faint and returned to her home, only a distance of a few rods, where she expired in a very few minutes. "Aunt Socky" was the wife of Washington Thompson and mother of Cicero, the barber. She was 84 years old and was well and favorably known.

Washington Peas, an old colored man living in Pineland, took suddenly sick Saturday afternoon and died Sunday night. His death was due to stomach disorder.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

At St. Andrews.

Sunday night the union Sunday schools of the Lutheran and Methodist churches at Cannonville carried out an entertaining programme especially arranged for Children's Day, which consisted of singing and reciting. The singing was especially fine, and each one who took part in the exercises did his or her part remarkably well. Rev. R. H. Parker, of Central Methodist church, delivered a short address. Mr. L. D. Duval is superintendent and has the children under splendid control. The school is in a flourishing condition. A collection was taken for missionary purposes.

Died at Forest Hill.

Mr. Clayton Walter, who has been sick for some time, died Sunday night of blood poison, at Forest Hill. His remains will be interred at Mt. Carmel graveyard tomorrow (Tuesday) at 10 o'clock. He leaves a wife and three children. Mr. Walter was about 24 years old. Rev. McLaurin will conduct the funeral services.

Where is it Found.

Since the recent cold spell in May has been on, there has been much diversity of opinion over the Scriptures, which is said to read: "The time will come when ye shall not know winter from summer except by the putting forth of the buds." Some say that it is in the Bible, while others contend that it is not, that it is only an old saying. We can't locate the quotation, and would like for some one well versed to tell us in what part of the Bible it is to be found, if found at all. [By one of the force.]

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Crystal Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odell Celebrated Saturday Evening. Presents Numerous and Handsome—150 or More Guests.

Elbeth, their handsome home at the head of North Main street, was the place; Saturday evening from 8 to 11 was the time; and the celebration of the 15th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odell was the occasion.

It was the brilliant occasion of years, in Concord.

From the time the beautifully engraved cards were issued to the many friends of these most excellent people, it was the coming event to all. The many looked forward with expectations of a most joyous occasion.

Elbeth, one of the loveliest of Concord's elegant homes, was, if possible, even more beautiful on this occasion. The light streaming from within whenever doors opened and through the windows, mingling its rays among the raindrops falling without and those hanging heavy on trees and shrubbery, the scene to those advancing upon Elbeth was suggestive of the crystal wedding occasion within.

At the door little Miss Barrow received the cards of nearly 150 invited friends of the bridal couple. Once in, amid the hospitalities of these good people, and surrounded by the grace and beauty of Concord, Charlotte, Greensboro and Salisbury, without a care and in touch with all that's cheerful and charming and inspired by music—each individual saw a living picture, which my pen can not describe. It was not a dream—it was real, life-like and earnest.

Not only a pleasure to be present, but doubly so to see Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odell, the bride and groom, and give them heartiest congratulations upon the 15th anniversary of their matrimonial voyage, and to wish them a long, long, voyage beyond this occasion, all without a breaker, without a cloud in sight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Branson, of Durham, and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Durham, of Dallas, assisted Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odell in receiving.

Dozens after dozens entered the dining hall—there a scene of beauty and one never to be forgotten was before every one. The decorations were in roses and water lilies, the latter predominating. This, cheerful and grand in appearance, was only surpassed by the marriage supper in abundance and prepared fit for gods. How could memory forget Neyer. That scene will be vivid when the crystal wedding years will have tripped themselves.

The presents, all cut-glass, presented to all a picture of rare beauty and brilliancy—they were numerous, handsome and many of them costly.

In long remembrance the crystal wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odell will be held by the 150 guests present. It was an occasion of joy and happiness—not a single thing was left undone to make the evening perfection itself.

Mr. J. W. Mehaffey Dead.

Just as our forms were about to close, at 4 o'clock, the death of Mr. Joseph W. Mehaffey, whose serious illness we have noted, is announced. We haven't space nor time for further particulars in this issue.

"The weather has broke," says Prof. McAnntly.

A DOUBLE LYNCHING.

Two Young Men Hanged for Brutally Assaulting a Young Lady—The Mob Led by the Girl's Father.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 25.—Early this morning a mob which had been in possession of Vermillion county's jail for several hours, succeeded in locating John Halls, Jr., and Wm. Royce in their cells, took them aside and hanged them for assaulting Miss Laura Barnett.

From mid-night, when the crowd first made its appearance at the jail until the victims were reached, it was a determined, desperate struggle of a frenzied mob to meet summary justice, battling against heavy oaken doors and iron bars and occasionally halted by the grim stand of a little band of defenders of law and order under the command of Sheriff Thompson.

After repeated efforts to break down the outer jail door with a telephone pole the crowd for a moment desisted in their efforts to break into the jail. Ed McCusker stood on the jail steps and addressed the mob, begging them to desist. They laughed him down. Sheriff Thompson, his wife and deputy sheriff James Sloan also besought the mob to disperse.

F. V. Barnett, the father of the injured girl, said to Mrs. Thompson: "Madam, her blood demands vengeance." His reply was wildly applauded.

At 2 o'clock Sheriff Thompson sent for Judge Bookwalter, of the Circuit Court, who addressed the crowd from the jail corridor. He made an earnest plea to let the law take its course. He assured them that Halls and Royce would receive severe punishment if found guilty; that the trial jury would do its duty. But the leaders, who were among the most prominent men in the county replied:

"Yes, we know the jury will convict them and give them a severe sentence, but Governor Altgeld will pardon them out. He recently pardoned three brutes you sent up from Champagne county for 20 years and he will pardon these men. If any other man than Altgeld was Governor we would not lynch these men. But we are determined he will never have a chance to turn them loose."

With these words they again commenced at 3 o'clock.

Sheriff Thompson, finding himself powerless to control the mob telegraphed the Governor asking that the militia be sent to his aid.

At 3:15 the mob secured both of the prisoners and started toward the bridge with ropes about their necks. They were hanged almost upon the scene of the crime.
