CONCORD, SEPT. 3, 1895.

POPULISM IN 1848.

"Labor and Other Capital," originally published in 1848, is coming out in a new edition. It affords an insight into the issues of a half century ago, and it convinces us all that a sudden leap is not wise. The history of a country with its institutions, its records and its real life, is a net work of continued and connected action.

The author of "Labor and Other Capital," in 1848, represents "the laboring classes as being systematically robbed by the rich. The wealth of the country is being gradually concentrated. The rich are becoming richer and the poor poorer. Fully half of the land in the United States is in the hands of 250,000 people. And they own half of all the other wealth of the country. Although comprising, with their families, only a fortieth part of the country's population they own as much property as all the other 20,000,000. Business is suffering from labor-saving inventions and consequent overproduction. Shopkeepers are unable to find purchasers for their goods. Houses are vacant that should be occupied. They can neither be rented nor sold. The laboring man's condition is getting worse and the country is going to the dogs."

This is the chromo the Populist made, in 1848, in his description of affairs in the United States nearly a half century ago. The thing that most puzzles us is that the Populists attributed the evils complained of then to the 16 to 1 bi-metallic currency of the country. It wanted the standard of value changed—needed more money and cheaper money. They predicted with absolute (?) certainty that, if the government would increase the currency, that the goose would honk high and that the people would be happy.

In 1848—the 16 to 1 was the trouble; in 1895—the lack of 16 to 1 is playing hayoc!

These are times that angels wouldn't know what to do if they were North Carolina voters.

SOMETHING TO STAND ON.

In these times of political yagaries, politicians and their admirers are pulling, like see-saw.

What's the matter with the national Democratic money plank? As the Durham Sun says, in a very cute manner, "it has never been used and it is just as new and just as strong now as it was the day it was made." Why saw out another plank and thus waste lumber and time?

Here's the document:

"We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage; but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted by exchangeable value, or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of any dollar at all times in the market and in payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin."

You can't talk about everybody with impunity and then expect every one to think sweet things about you or have your tombstone inscribed with "None knew him but to love him."

A town is like a large family. We are all interested in each other's welfare or should be. A cut throat, every man for himself policy, means ruin to any community. It means retrogression and failure.

Prof. Ingram, of California, (born on Anderson creek, No. 1 township, this county) has bobbed up in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. He is the promulgator of Australian tricks and manners. Where will he next break out?

The report comes out from Raleigh that a fusion of Democrats and Populists is about to materialize. It takes our breath! It has been rumored, rerumored and now rumored again. Is it so? It is just as probable as it is for us to see a man going around with a pocket full of streaked-forked, zig-zag lightning, or words to that effect.

The opposition to the release of the N. C. railroad fetched out the newspapers in a ratio of 16 to 1. From present indications, it looks that thoughtful laymen are pleased with the action of the directors in the ratio of 16 to 1.

If the Charlotte Observer's old man keeps on the boys of the quill will envy the stir he's getting up. Senator Jarvis flung at it and this distinguished Tar Heeler is joined by the Wilmington Dispatch which is flinging up too at the cool and deliberate gentleman that makes the Observer speak his honest sentiments. Now serious, Mr. Caldwell, don't you wish you and Bro. Daniels were in Mexico until the flood is over?

A Pennsylvania Englishman, professing to know everything, was asked the plain every day meaning of, "Six Semper Tyrannis." Looking at the picture with these words labeled, he replied "Get off my Stomach."

Standing with one foot on Summer's deck and the other on Winter's, we are reminded that—

Summer, winter, night and noon,
It's the same old expense tune,
When we've got no ice to buy,
We hustle to get our coal supply.
Now's the time to advertise.

Senator Jarvis: "I will go to the silver convention if it is a good thing." There's where the rub comes in. Who can tell, until it has done gone and went and done it. Just now Senator Jarvis' purposes and designs are more knotty than the financial question itself. There is evidence, in the ratio of 2 to 1, that his speech at Morganton put him where no genuinely good Democrat would stand.

NOT A SICK DAY For Over Thirty Years! RESULT OF USING AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTERLIN, BYRON, ILL.
