$10,000 DIFFERENCE.

Eight Thousand Versus Twelve Thousand—Nineteen Dollars and Fifty Cents More for One Bale.
 Even though there is not more than a two-third cotton crop in Cabarrus this year there will be ten thousand dollars more money than compared with last year.
 Estimating last year's crop at 12,000 bales, which brought an average of 5 cents, the entire crop when sold put sixty thousand dollars in the county. Compare this year's two-third crop—eight thousand bales at 8½ cents with the twelve thousand of last year at 5 cents and we have just seventy thousand dollars, or ten thousand dollars more money than in 1894.

The difference on one bale will show you what an item 8½ cents cotton is to that at 5. For instance, last year Bob Russell sold a bale weighing 520 pounds at 5 cents, which in turn fetched him $26. This year he sold one the same weight at 8½, bringing him $45.50, just $19.50 more for the same amount of cotton.

The shortage of this year's crop, compared to the low price of last year, is almost a blessing to the cotton raiser.

A Good Man Gone.

Rowan lost one of her most valuable citizens in the death of John Henry Gheen, of Franklin township, this morning at 2 o'clock. Mr. Gheen had only been sick since Saturday. He went to Concord that morning by private conveyance and on the way home was taken suddenly and severely ill. He was taken home and the physicians were called in and pronounced it a case of appendicitis. Everything possible was done for him. Last night a consultation by five physicians was held but it was decided not to perform an operation. Surrounded by his family he passed away at 2 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Gheen was forty-two years of age, a man of excellent habits and liked wherever known. He leaves a wife and five children. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Franklin Wednesday evening.—Salisbury World.

Mr. Bill Daniels Discharged.

The Charlotte News of Wednesday contained the following concerning the case of Mr. Wm Daniels, which we noted last week: "For some days past reports have been circulated that Wm. Daniels cruelly mistreated his wife, who died a few days ago. The charge was that he ill treated her while she was on her dying bed. This morning Daniels appeared before the mayor, and there was a full investigation of the matter. Ten or twelve witnesses were summoned. The parties who made the charge could not substantiate it. It was in evidence that Mrs. Daniels was under the influence of morphine and was not responsible for things she may have said in her delirium. The mayor did not consider that Daniels was guilty and the case against him was dismissed."

Cotton States and International Exposition Company.

ATLANTA, GA., SEPT 16, 1895.
 TO THE PRESIDENTS OF COLLEGES AND PRINCIPALS OF SCHOOLS:

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Cotton States and International Exposition, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the Cotton States and International Exposition will afford an object lesson of great value to the young people who are to make the future of the country; and,
 "Whereas, the schools throughout the South will be more or less interfered with by the intermittent absence of pupils coming to the exposition:

"We recommend to presidents of Colleges and principals of high schools and academies that they give one week's vacation sometime during the months of October, November or December in order that their pupils may have an opportunity to visit the exposition and see for themselves this wonderful epitome of art and industry and gain therefrom inspiration for the development of their country.

"In order that the visit may be made the greatest degree of comfort and safety, we recommend that presidents, principals or teachers accompany their schools on this visit, and if practicable that they may come to Atlanta in advance and secure through the department of public comfort suitable accommodations at reasonable rates. Where they cannot come in person, we recommend that they file with the department of public comfort an application for such accommodations, giving the number who will come and leaving the date to the chief of the department.

"Resolved further, that we ask from the general passenger agents of the various railroads permeating the South their active co-operation in bringing this matter to the attention of the school through local or traveling agents by means of personal visitation.

"We earnestly recommend that immediate attention be given to this matter."

This circular will doubtless be handed to the reader by a representative of the nearest railroad. If those concerned will write to the chief of the department of public comfort at Atlanta, giving the number of pupils they would like to bring and the number of days they will be here, leaving to him the selection of the date of the visit, he will undertake to secure suitable accommodations at reasonable rates. If the heads of the schools can come to Atlanta in advance, and personally select locations, every assistance will be afforded them.

Respectfully,
 ALEX. W. SMITH,
 Chief Department Public Comfort.
