OUR COTTON CROP.

Right plumb in a hole! The printer escapes this time without the loss of an eye or a tooth.

Some years ago when lamenting over a great mistake in an item of news, Mr. R S Harris (one of the county's brightest men) consoled us by saying: "Don't mind; you can correct tomorrow, thus getting an item without looking yourself blind or running your legs off."

THE STANDARD'S cotton item in Thursday's issue was pretty badly off. But unlike the New York Sun, we have never said "if you see it in THE STANDARD it's so." Five times 12,000 is 60,000 etc., is correct, but $20,000 is not the value of 12,000 bales of cotton at five cents per pound. That's the way we had it.

We seat ourselves to make the correction:

Cabarrus' cotton crop of 1894 was 12,000 500 pound bales or 6,000,000 pounds, which at 5 cents was worth $300,000. The crop of 1895 is estimated at 8,000 500 pound bales, or 4,000,000 pounds, which at 8 1/2 cents will be worth $350,000.

The difference then is $50,000 and not $10,000, as we had it.

When a person spends year in and year out handling just a few dimes and quarters and an occasional "dollar of his daddy," it makes him dizzy when he goes to figuring into the thousands.

But, by the way, this is a good time for subscriptions to be yanked out.

Is Congress in session? Is the Congressional Record, that album of men's names and amusing dialogues, being printed now? Or is the supply inexhaustible and the editorial postmasters got a cinch on them? Or has the wood subscribers crowded the editor so that the Congressional Record is too expensive to burn? We ask these questions because the Gastonia Gazette comes to us wrapped in pages mercilessly torn from the Government's dialogue and speech book. Such opportunities and such honors are not conferred upon this office.

IN THE WRONG BED.

A Statesville Man Awakes to Find Himself in Charlotte.

Mr. O A Withers lives in the eastern part of the city. Last night he sent his two young sons upstairs to bed. They came running down in a few minutes saying that there was a man up there in bed. Mr. Withers said he reckoned not, but went up to see. The room was dark, and running his hand over the bed, he found that the boys were right. He went back down stairs and told Mr. Albert Williamson, who was waiting to hear if the story was true, and together they went up to interview the stranger. Mr. Williamson shook him and said:

"Pardener, ain't you in the wrong place?"

No answer. The intruder was sleeping the sleep of just. Mr. Williamson shook him again and again, and finally got him to open his eyes. He repeated his question as to his being in the wrong place. The fellow looked up and said: "No I guess not."

"Where do you think you are?" asked Mr. William.

"In Statesville," was the answer. "How did you get in?" he was asked.

"Through the window," was the half-awake answer.

"You are not in Statesville," said Mr. Williamson, "but in Charlotte. Do you know any one here?"

The fellow roused up, and looked around him, seeming more and more surprised as the unfamiliar surroundings dawned upon him. He finally said that his name was McDonald. He and his father had comedown yesterday and were stopping at Mrs. Bell's, (next door to Mr. Withers) and he had stumbled into the wrong house. He was taken down stairs and directed by Messrs. Withers and Williamson to Mrs. Bell's.—Charlotte Observer.

A Million Dollar Fire in Australia.

ADELAIDE, South Australia, Oct. 1.—A dispatch received here today from Coolgardie, the centre of the new gold fields, announces that a whole block of buildings there on Bailey street was burned yesterday by a fire which was started through the upsetting of a lamp. It is estimated that the damage done will amount to $1,250,000.

An Even Thing.

"Did you trade any when you were town?" asked Silas Oatbin.

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornousse, "some."

"How did you come out?"
"Twas what ye'd call a stand-off. I give a feller a counterfeit fifty-dollar bill fur a gold brick."—Washington Star.

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

SPECIAL TAX NOTICE.

The law of North Carolina. See Chapter 116 Secs. 34, 35, 36 and 37 acts of 1895 requires every Physician, Dentist, Lawyer and Hotel or Boarding house keeper to pay a license tax and take out a license, under a penalty of thirty days imprisonment or fine of fifty dollars, for failure to pay the license tax. The law further makes it my imperative duty to see that the penalty of fifty dollars is enforced. Very few have complied with the law. Unless the parties liable to pay this tax, come forward promptly, I will be compelled (unwillingly as I am) to see that the law is enforced.
