WHOLE NO. 1,343

A PETRIFIED BODY FOUND.

A Perfect Stone Man Unearthed in the Saluda River.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 11.—The petrified body of a white man—features, hair and all the portions of the entire body petrified—a perfect stone man formed by nature without the aid of the sculptor, was found in the Saluda river yesterday, five miles north of the Congaree bridge, by Mr. W. M. Buff.

It seems that Mr. Buff was looking after his fish nets, and ran his boat down the mouth of the creek; the river being very low and the creek being lower than ever before, he saw three or four inches of the stone projecting above the water. He at once proceeded to his house, not far distant, and taking his son, Mr. J. E. Buff, with him and Mr. W. B. Shall, the three proceeded to the place and began to "unearth" their stone find.

The curiosity is evidently the form of a white man, judging by the hair, mustache, etc. The finger and toe nails are plainly seen. The petrified body is over six feet long and weighs over four hundred pounds. Some hold to the theory that the body is the petrified form of one of the original inhabitants of this country, who gave the name to the river in which it was found.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to return our heartfelt gratitude for the Christian sympathy and help extended to us by our many friends during the illness of our little daughter Mary, and while she lay in death. Inasmuch as we have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matt. 25:40.

A MINISTER BADLY BURNED.

A Lamp Explodes and Burns Rev. McManaway's Face and Eyes Dangerously.

Charlotte Observer: Last Wednesday night as Rev. A. G. McManaway, of Little Rock, Ark., who is well known here, was putting out his lamp to retire for the night, it exploded and oil flew all over his face and head. In an instant his head and beard were in flames and had it not been for the presence of mind of his wife, who was sitting by, he doubtless would have been burned to death. But when she saw the distressing condition her husband was in, she gathered a blanket and threw it over his head and smothered the fire out. When it was out she took the blanket from his head she was horror-stricken to see the head and face of her husband. His whiskers were all burned off, his eyes dangerously burned and his hair singed.

The doctors hope to save Mr. McManaway's eyes, though they are in a bad condition now.

Mr. McManaway is a brother of Dr. McManaway, of this place, and once preached here. He is now professor of theology at Arkadelphia, Ark.

Bob Ingersoll Concerned.

About fifteen years ago Col. Bob Ingersoll was reported as saying in a speech that he would believe in hell when Kentucky went Republican.

As soon as the result of the recent Kentucky election was made known the western papers came out with flaming headlines announcing that Bradley had converted Ingersoll. But the noted infidel kicks. He says that he has been misquoted. In fact he maintains that the Republican triumph in Kentucky proves that there is no hell. The colonel lays all the blame to the administration. He says that Cleveland is obstinate and egotistic and that the Democrats are dissatisfied with him.

It will disappoint thousands of people to find Ingersoll so hard headed. He had an opportunity to yield gracefully, but he has allowed it to slip. It will be very difficult to convince the country that he did not use the language credited to him. A Republican majority in Kentucky is enough to make one believe in any possibility.—Atlanta Constitution.

Young Ladies to Go.

A STANDARD reporter learns that President McIver, of the State Normal college at Greensboro, is personally arranging a trip for the young ladies of that institution to the Atlanta Exposition. It is understood that the party will be joined as they pass here on the night of the 26th, by a number of young folks. They will spend Thanksgiving day at the exposition grounds.

It is also learned that nearly, if not all, the members of the senior class of Mont Amœna Seminary will attend the exposition in a body. Such is being arranged and the trip is contemplated for December 13.

SHORT LIVED BLISS

"Nellie Bly's" Husband Falls a Prey to Suspicion—He Has Her Followed—Private Detective in a Cab Shadows Her for Weeks. Caused His Arrest Last Night.

Two cabs, one indignant woman, a private detective, a policeman and a jealous husband in the background, constituted the dramatic personnel of the first act in sensational scene which occurred on Broadway last night. The second act will be at the Jefferson Market Police Court today, to conclude, perhaps, with a divorce suit.

At 9 o'clock last night a cab stopped on the west side of Thirty fourth street and Broadway, and a moment later another cab drove up and stopped on the other side of the street. A woman got out of the first vehicle and, going up to Officer Reinhardt, of the Thirtieth street police station, she said in an agitated voice, pointing to the cab across the way:

"I want you to arrest that man. He has been following me all day."

The officer hesitated to comply with her request, when she again insisted that he be arrested.

"He has been following me about and dogging my steps everywhere I go for three weeks, and I cannot stand it any longer. I want him arrested at once."

Reinhardt decided to comply with her request, but met with some resistance from the man in the cab. He was compelled, nevertheless, to go with the officer to the station house.

A Private Detective.

The prisoner gave his name as Robert Hanson, and said he was a private detective living at Catskill, but that he had also a residence in this city. He had been employed to keep an eye on the woman.

The complainant then said she was Elizabeth Seaman, of No. 15 West Thirty-seventh street.

"Why, then," the prisoner exclaimed, "it is her husband, Robert J. Seaman, the millionaire, who has hired me to follow her and watch her movements."

When Hanson said this Mrs. Seaman dramatically exclaimed, "That is all I want to find out!"

Mrs. Seaman was formerly known as "Nellie Bly." She was a well known newspaper writer. She married Mr. Seaman, who is a wealthy man and president of a sheet tin factory on Cliff street, in April last.

Sergeant Moran held the prisoner, and Mr. Seaman later bailed him out.—New York Advertiser.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at Fetzers Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Examinations and Consultations Positively Free.

OLD DR. ODAM.

Gone to Tillman's Domain.

About 9 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning Mr. John Simonton, accompanied by a man named Ross, both of Iredell county, were in the city. They were pursuing a runaway couple, who took their flight from their parental roof on Monday night last and were hasting to their journey's end through the exposure of rain and cold to form an alliance that until death they do part. "These children," said Mr. Simonton, "are only a few hours drive ahead of us, and are heading for Tillman's domain." The boy was a relative of Mr. Simonton, while Mr. Ross was the anxious, pursuing father of the fair maiden who so willingly left his care. The latter much affected by the conduct of his daughter, but he was not severe in his condemnation of her or his prospective son-in-law.

Miss Misenheimer Hurt.

On a recent trip to Rowan county from Mt. Pleasant, Miss Bertha Misenheimer met with a very bad accident. She was accompanied by Mr. Ernest Foil. The horse they were driving became frightened, ran away and threw both the young people out, Miss Misenheimer receiving injuries about the head and face, which were not serious but very painful.

Proof Reader Guilty, Too.

Salisbury World: Our printers made us say Saturday that Dr. Winston was the recipient of a deserted compliment in Atlanta, which was the reverse of what we had written. It read "a deserved compliment" but the boys decided to make a change and set it up as above.

What They Say About Kisses.

The girl who will argue over a kiss has at least one that she is willing to get rid of.—Dallas News.
