CONCORD, DEC. 20, 1895.

HURRAH FOR AMERICA.

At last Grover Cleveland has risen above the narrow confines of a pettifogging partisan and at one leap has reached the high plane of patriotism. It makes no difference to the American people what the policies of the occupant of the White House may be when the nation is facing a crisis. It is only important that the President shall be representative of all the people in their views, and above all else broad minded, liberal, patriotic, and an American through and through.

President Cleveland's message voices the sentiment of the people. It is an able state paper. His analysis of the Monroe doctrine is so clear that a child may understand it. His maintenance of the rights of America is firm, dignified and manly. It is of little importance that some people can see in it only a bid for a third term. Political considerations may or may not have actuated the President. He has risen to the dignity of his great office and has so bravely faced the issue that much may be forgiven him.

The message will be read and its sentiments re-echoed by every man in the United States. When the President of the United States acts for all the people in a grave emergency, when he drops the cloak of the partisan, he should have and will have the unfaltering support of every one who values country above party.

It is a pleasure for the Morning Advertiser to be able to agree with President Cleveland, and we heartily congratulate him upon his manly American utterance which is today the talk of the civilized world.

It is good to be an American! It is good to have an American President! It is good to be in the right! And it is good to have an Executive who, knowing the right, dares maintain it! We are first and above all else Americans and patriots!

[The above is from the New York Morning Advertiser, that has cussed Cleveland, vilified the South and saw nothing good in anything but Republicans, even going so far as calling the Populists the "scums of the earth" or words to that effect.]

No surplus, revenue, however large, could extricate us from our present difficulties, or give assurance of safety in the future, unless it should be required to be paid in gold under a system which would exempt the Government from the obligation to furnish the gold when demanded to be used in making the payments; and is scarcely necessary to suggest that such a system is impossible as long as the United States notes and Treasury notes are kept in circulation, and are redeemable in gold by the Government itself on presentation.—Secretary Carlisle.

The Morganton Herald has gone back into the musty past and unearthed from the "umber room" of dayers stuff a poem, written by the editor of the Charlotte Observer. If the said editor can't prove an alibi from the coach on which the poem "was wrote," then he becomes the rival of his immortal Dugger.

Although not yet substantiated by figures, it is not at all unlikely that Great Britain has a larger population than France for the first time in history. At the census of 1891 the United Kingdom had 37,797,000 inhabitants, against 38,342,000 for France; since then the deaths have regularly out-numbered the births in France, while the opposite has been the case in England.

They are very liberal in Japan. Not long ago a bridge was built which was so light that a notice was put up, "No animals allowed to cross." But it was found impossible to keep the rats off it, and in order to have a rule which could be enforced, the notice was taken down and "No large animals allowed to cross" was put up in its place.

Senator Peffer has made a calculation which shows that the average cost of burying deceased congressmen is $3,000, "the value of an American farm." This is manifestly improvident, and yet it is only the simple truth to say that there have been cases in which the people did not begrudge the expense.

Montana papers are telling of a two-year-old child in that State that smokes cigars with as much apparent pleasure as a seasoned old smoker. Several persons tell of seeing the child provided with an apple and a lighted cigar, and of his sucking contentedly at the cigar in preference to the apple.

There is great regret expressed here at the death of Colonel Robert L. Steele, of Rockingham county, who like the Holts, Odells, and Worths, had done so much for the cotton-mill industry in North Carolina. His age was 74, and he was a faithful worker until the last—Greensboro Record.

Up to a few years ago the county of Gaston had more registered whiskey distilleries than any other in the State. It is now claimed that in the county of Wilkes alone there are more distilleries than in this entire district.

A Jewish fair in New York city has just cleared $70,000 for charity in a single night. If the Jew-baiter who has come over from Prussia to lecture is to write his impressions of America he should not overlook this item.

Washington city has gained 12,000 in population in three years, and the total is now placed at 270,000. It is a clear case of a city that has doubled its population by making its streets and public places beautiful.

LOSS OF VOICE After Acute Bronchitis CURED BY USING AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.
