THE CUMNOCK HORROR.

The Fate of the Living More to be Pitted Than That of the Dead Whom They Mourn.

This week's Chatham Record contains the evidence taken by the coroner's jury in the case of the miners killed in the Cumnock mine last week. The jury rendered the following verdict:

"That Charles Poe and other miners came to their death by an explosion in the umnock coal mine, December 19th, 1895, by explosion of gas, the cause of said explosion being to us unknown, it being shown to us that the mine was in better condition than usual and was well ventilated."

Closing its account the Record says:

"It is said that twenty-eight widows and over one hundred fatherless children mourn the victims of this sad catastrophe. And not only are their hearts grief-stricken at the loss of their loved one, but with most of them actual want is staring them in the face. They were entirely dependent on their dead husbands and fathers for their daily bread, and now their only earthly support is gone. Unless timely relief is afforded them, their lot will be hard indeed. In order to illustrate their pitiable condition, one case was cited. It is that of Mrs. Michael Beatty, an English woman, whose husband and only son were both killed, leaving her with a seven-year-old daughter alone, far from her native home, without any relative whatever to comfort or support her. This family had arrived from Pennsylvania only three months ago. It would really seem that the fate of the living is more to be pitied than that of the dead whom they mourn!"

A Fire and a Commotion.

About 6 o'clock Monday evening the alarm of fire was given, some one having telephoned the news from Forest Hill, that the Methodist parsonage was burning. It was only a few minutes until both the reel and hook and ladder companies were on the scene. It was a long run, and fortunately for the rundown "bravados" the fire was out before they got there.

Rev. M. A. Smith, who resides at the parsonage, says that it was the second time during the day he discovered fire in his residence. The first time, in the morning, something was found burning in Mrs. Smith's bedroom closet. But about 6 o'clock in the evening a servant girl scented something burning and immediately informed Mr. Smith, who discovered the fire in the company bed room, up stairs, in which there had been no fire for two weeks, or more. A lace window curtain was entirely consumed. The window facing and three holes in the washboard and carpet, about two feet apart were burning from the inside the room. The origin of the fire is mysterious. Several matches were found scattered over the floor, which were not noticed by Mr. Smith, who inspected the room during the morning search. No serious damage was done.

WOOD ON OVERCASH.

Milas Overcash Loaded With Pistol and Knucks, Gets Done Up by Mr. "Bud" Wood at Forest Hill—The Man's Condition is Serious—The Facts Point to Justification of Mr. Wood—He Submitted and Gave Bond.

Milas Overcash, the man that was picked up on the corner of Mill and Spring streets Monday night about 7 o'clock in an unconscious condition, with his head terribly lacerated and bruised over the face, carrying upon his person a pistol, a pair of brass knucks and two empty pocket books, boards at the home of Mr. George Water, on Bell Avenue, and is from the Sandy Ridge section of Rowan county, near Enochville. He was an operative at the Cabarrus cotton mill. He went to the fire at Forest Hill Monday evening, and it is said that he got on too much fire water and having previously worked in the Odell mills, went over the basement of No. 4 mill, where Mr. W. A. Wood, a boss, ordered him out. This Overcash, it seems, resented by threatening to "bore a hole" through Wood's body, at the same time drawing a pistol, whereupon Wood struck him with something that felled him and had him removed from the room. After he was put outside and the door closed upon him, Overcash started for his boarding house, but lost consciousness and fell by the wayside. Chief of Police Boger and Dr. L. M. Archey were informed of the unfortunate man's whereabouts and predicament and he was hurried to Archey's office, where the wounds were dressed. Overcash was still unconscious at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and his case is indeed considered a serious, if not fatal one.

It was not generally known how Overcash came by his wounds until about 9 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Wood stated the case to the sheriff and gave bond for appearance at court. Mr. Walter, with whom Overcash has been boarding for the past four weeks, gives him a better name than the public general. He says that the victim was cool sober when leaving his room about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and had not been under the influence of liquor since living at his house.

Overcash is about 28 years of age and is unmarried.

The Biggest Yet.

The Herald is told by a gentleman who saw a party from Montgomery county this morning at the depot that a nugget of gold weighing 31 pounds and 7 ounces, was last week found near Eidorado, in the Uwharrie river district.

If this report is true the nugget is the largest ever found in North Carolina or in any other State east of the Rocky mountains. No particulars were learned, but our informant says there is no "fake" about it.

Thirty-one pounds, ayordupois, and it must have been weighed by that as there is no troy scales around that would weigh that much; would be equal to over 41 pounds troy and would be worth over $9,000.

An 8, a 10 and a 31 pound nugget in six months is a pretty good record for large pieces in one district.—Salisbury Herald.

Several watch parties are booked for to-night.

THE NEW SILVER PARTY.

Three Branches Merged Into One. J. A. Warner Elected President.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—At a meeting in this city this afternoon of representatives of the American Bimetallic league, the National Bimetallic Union and the National Silver committee, these organizations were consolidated, the new combination being named "The American Bimetallic Union." The new organization stands for bimetallicism and will support the party declaring in its favor. In the event of non support by either of the great parties, the union will put forth its own ticket in the next campaign.

But two officers were decided upon today—A. J. Warner for president and E. B. Light secretary. The general headquarters will be at 134 Monroe street and branch offices will be maintained in Washington and San Francisco and probably in other cities west and south. The united organization will press the campaign of education along their lines with the utmost vigor in all parts of the country, and Secretary Light says that if neither of the big parties takes up their cause, they will have a party of their own.

His Little Leg Broken.

Willie Robert the eighteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Biggers, who live on South Main street, was left at his home in company with his little sister, who is innocent; lay pulled the little fellow from a chair and fell upon his leg, which cracked, if not broke, the bone. The limb is terribly swollen and little Willie is a great sufferer.
