WIND AND RAIN STORM.

Houses Blown Down and Bridges Washed Away.

The wind and rain storm that passed over this section Tuesday evening did considerable damage to property, personal and public.

The home of Mr. Whit Wilhelm, who lives about one mile south of China Grove, was totally wrecked. The storm of Tuesday struck it with such force that it was lifted from its foundation and demolished. Not only his dwelling, but the well house and other buildings were swept from their former sites and wrecked. Mrs. Wilhelm and an infant child were in the house when the blast came, and instantly realizing their perilous situation, gathered her child in her arms and rushed for the door. She barely got on the outside when the building sank with a crash. Mrs. Wilhelm was struck with falling brick from the chimney, but her injuries are not serious. Her escape with the child was miraculous.

The shed and smokstack at Martin Blackwelder's saw mill, a few miles above the coal chute, were blown down.

A chimney to the residence of Mr. W L Bell was blown down; the large barn that stood beyond the railroad bridge was lifted off the ground and torn into splinters. It belonged to Mr. P M Morris. Limbs were twisted from trees and trees unrooted in and around town.

Mr. Henry Lefler, superintendent of the county chain gang was in the city and informed THE STANDARD that the big fill on the new road being built out to Patterson's mill, lying between the Russell and Hornbuckle plantations, had been washed away—the entire fill has been carried off. Mr. Lefler says it was the hardest rainfall he has ever seen.

From other sources we learn that the bridges over several small branches in that section of the county had been washed away.

Mr. Will Hagler was having a load of cotton brought to town and when the team struck the bridge over the branch beyond Buffalo creek at the depot, the bridge fell in. The abutment had washed away. No damage was done to the team.

From the Crop Bulletin.

The Bulletin, a journal sent out by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, is quite interesting and has a crop report, for September, from every county in the State. The reports are very similar in telling of short crops due to the great extremes of heat, drought and rain. We append the report from Cabarrus:

CABARRUS: Continued drought and excessive heat have caused cotton to shed badly. All cotton will be picked in September. Corn very short, owing to dry weather and chinch bugs. Much of the late corn crop was destroyed in the low lands by floods. The early corn was quite good.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Hutchins is on every wrapper.

FIRST CONVENTION.

The Luther Leagues of the North Carolina Lutheran Synod Will Meet in St. James Church, to Organize a State League—The Date is Saturday October 31—Semi-Centennial Celebration On Sunday Following.

The band of Christian workers, known as St. James' Luther League, has issued the following invitations to the various Leagues of the State:

"Seeing the good work accomplished, locally, by the Leagues in a number of the churches of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina, many Lutherans have expressed themselves anxious for an organization of a State League, that the ties of the local Leagues may be drawn tighter, and in union of sympathy and action, accomplish work for the cause of our Church otherwise impossible.

"At a meeting of the North Carolina Synod at Troutman's, May 1895, a committee was appointed to effect a State organization of Leagues. The committee found the movement not at all feasible at that time. It is, however, now believed that the time is ripe for the movement to go on. Actuated by a love for the cause, seeing splendid results attained by State organizations in other Synods and desiring that our Leagues may be duly represented in the National League to be held in Chicago from November 17th to 20th, the League of St. James' Church, Concord, N. C., by unanimous vote, authorized its committee, appointed for the purpose, to issue an invitation to the Leagues of the Synod to send delegates to a convention having in view the organization of a State League and for transacting other business.

"The Committee met and decided as follows:

1. "The Convention met at 10 a. m., Saturday, October 31, 1896, in St. James' Church, Concord, N. C.

2. "Each League is entitled to one delegate (male or female) for every ten members.

3. "All the ministers of the North Carolina Synod are cordially invited to be present and lend the encouragement of their presence and advice to the young Leaguers.

4. "The Committee respectfully urges that every congregation, which has no Luther League, organize one and have its delegates with us.

5. "The Secretary of each League is earnestly requested to send to Mr. John M Cook, of Concord, N. C., our Secretary, on or before October 24th, the number and names of delegates, that arrangements for comfort and entertainment can be made for them as guests of St. James' congregation.

"The delegates and others attending this Convention are respectfully invited to remain over on Sunday, as guests of the Church, and assist this League in the celebration of the Semi-Centennial of St. James' Evangelical Lutheran Church, for which an elaborate programme has been arranged.

"Trusting that every League of the Synod will be represented at our first State Convention.

"We are fraternally,
JNO. M. COOK,
Sec'y. of St. James' League.
COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.
JAS. P. COOK, Ch'm'n.
D. R. HOOVER,
JNO. K. PATTERSON,
Concord, N. C., Sept. 29, '96."

HAVANA, Sept. 28.—In spite of official denials, it is evident that the relations between Consul Lee and General Weyler are becoming more strained daily. Lee demands that the American, Tolon, be replaced aboard the American vessel from which he was arrested and Weyler refuses. It is referred to Washington and Madrid: If Lee's claim is ignored, he will return to the United States.
