NOT UNTIL APRIL

The Standard Oil Company Will Sell Wholesale Only to Our Merchants.

Much fear has been entertained by the small merchant of our city in regard to the Standard Oil Company doing business here, on the belief that the great syndicate would interfere with the retail trade. Such is not the case, however. Mr. R F Kice, their agent for this district, told a STANDARD reporter this morning that the oil Company would not be able to do any local business here before the last of March or the first of April and that they would supply only what portion of the wholesale trade they could get.

It will be at least three months, and possibly longer, before the tank is in readiness to accommodate its patrons.

Jackson Earnhardt, of No. 4 township, aged 30 years, died at his home Tuesday night after a brief illness with typhoid fever. With Difficulty a Fire Was Avoided.

"Hoboes retreat"—the old dummy line coach, came near being the cause of a great and disastrous fire Tuesday afternoon. Several tramps gathered up an abundance of loose coal around the depot and entered the coach, which is a stove. After making a roaring fire the men dozed off, and in a few minutes awoke to find the walls of the coach on fire. With a mighty effort they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, and forthwith took to their heels, going South. The car stands just in rear of the Cabarus cotton mills, and had fire gotten a fairly good start, a great conflagration might have been the result.

Salisburians Here.

The following list of young Salisburians were among the many guests at the New South Club reception Tuesday night: Misses Rankin, White, Boyden, Mrs. Reisner and Messrs. Ernest Brown, J H Mc-Neeley, W R Linton and R L Crawford.

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Little Martha Moore Rescued from the Jaws of Death.

Monday morning early the news came to town that little Martha Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D C Moore, of Cluster, would not live through the day. But later in the day the happy news came of a successful operation by Drs. Wilder, Winchester, De Armond and Hunter, had saved the little girl her life.

Last Wednesday evening, while playing with some corn, Martha swallowed a grain or two. She began to catch her breath short, as if she were choked, soon after handling the corn. Her mother became alarmed, and brought her to town. Drs. Winchester and Graham examined her, and decided that there was no corn in her throat. But she grew sicker from day to day, till early Monday her life was despaired of. The four doctors mentioned above held a consultation and concluded to cut into the child's throat and see if there was anything there. Dr. Wilder, ripe from the Houston case, at once said that the little girl had something in her throat. He used the knife, and the grain of corn flew out on the floor. The child stood the operation well and is now doing nicely. She began to brighten at once. It was a happy scene about Mr. Moore's just after the operation.—Charlotte Observer.

To Take Advantage of Our City Schools and Business Opening.

One drawing card for the town of Concord is her excellent schools, both public and private. Many of the citizens recently locating here come for the purpose of giving their children tutoring that could not be obtained at the district or country school. Mr. L R Tucker, a prosperous farmer and merchant of Stanly county, has moved to this city to educate his children and to go into business. It is very likely that Mr. Tucker will hang out his shingle as one of our foremost grocers.

A better location for excellent schools and business enterprises of all kinds is hard to find and we welcome all strangers to this field, knowing it to be a good one.

A SURPRISE MARRIAGE

Dr. Pressly and Miss Etta Cochrane Made One Last Night.

Dr. George W Pressly was married Tuesday night to Miss Etta Cochrane at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. M W Cochrane, 305 West Fifth street, at 8:30 o'clock, by Rev. John T Chalmers. Only the special friends of the bride and groom were present. It was expected that the marriage would take place at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church just before prayer meeting, but the couple wanted to surprise their friends, and called in Mr. Chalmers and had the knot tied at home. Not even did the boarders in the house know that the marriage was to take place until the minister arrived. The bride is beautiful, her special beauty being her eyes—of charming blue—and she has a host of friends in and out of Charlotte.

The groom is one of Charlotte's successful physicians. Dr. Pressly came to Charlotte over two years ago, and has been practicing medicine during his stay in the city. He is now associated with Dr. C M Strong in the medical profession. He is a valued member of Charlotte Lodge No. 88, I. O. O. F., and has made quite a host of friends in the city.—Charlotte Observer.
