THE SHERIFF'S PLUNDER.

Eight Hundred Dollars Worth of Goods Seized, Supposed to Be J. I. Casper's—Rimer Claims the Stuff.

The story of the failure of J. L. Casper, of Winston, is now familiar to our readers, but another chapter was added to the break today, by the seizure of about $800 worth of goods found in the possession of J. A. Rimer, a small retail merchant of this city.

Sheriff Buchanan received attachment papers at noon and has spent the afternoon in hauling goods from Rimer's store to his office in the court house. The plunder consists of tobacco, (about 1,500 pounds) coffee, soap, soda, etc.

The goods, Mr. Rimer says, belong to him, he having purchased same from Casper about the 15th of February, and received them about the 20th.

In speaking to a STANDARD reporter Mr. Rimer stated that the amount of tobacco seized by the sheriff was about $60 worth and that he held Casper's receipts for same, and has no fear but that he will recover his goods.

Casper spent Sunday night in the city and took the noon train for Charlotte.

It is now believed that future developments will reveal some very startling facts. The matter is watched with interest.

The family signature of Dr. H. H. Plummer is on every wrapper.

And He Didn't Move the Tree.

"George, I wish you would carry the oleander tree into the cellar to-night."

"Tub and all?"

"Of course, tub and all."

"Maybe you think you married a derrick."

"George, what is the matter with you? Have you been drinking?"

"What do you take me for, a cyclone?"

"A cyclone?"

"Yes; cyclones move trees."

"All I've asked you to do is to take the oleander down the cellar stairs. It surely can't weigh more than a few hundred pounds. What is the matter with you?"

"I'm just thinking."

"Thinking of what?"

"Thinking it would be well to get Mary Ann out of the kitchen on some pretense. She's a good girl as girls go, and I would not want to have her figuring in the courts as an accessory to a homicide."

"George, you've got a fever. You must go right to bed, and I'll get you some hot whiskey and quinine."

"That's the ticket. But say, Miller."

"Well, what?"

"Never mind the quinine."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

David Ramsaur Popular in Florida.

David Ramsaur, the popular little fellow who spent several winters here with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boshamer, has received honors in military circles at his home at Palatka, Fla. The Palatka Daily Advertiser says:

Monday evening the Guards had a very important and interesting business meeting, forty-four members answering to roll call.

The prime attraction was the election of a first lieutenant, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Lieut. Sherman O. Fowler. Three candidates were announced for the position—2d Lieut. Burtz, W. P. House and J. E. Lucas, the vote by ballot resulting as follows: Burtz 29; House 14; Lucas 8. The promotion of Lieut. Burtz one grade left a vacancy as second lieutenant, and the unanimous vote received by Sergt. D. W. Ramsaur for the position is an evidence of the popularity of this worthy young man. Lieut. Ramsaur is probably the youngest commissioned officer in the State troops.

Gene! Gene! Gene!

Two convicts escaped the guards on the chingang Saturday night about 8 o'clock.

It happened on this wise: Mr. Charles Blume was on duty and turned to get a drink of water when the two, Pink Sherrill and Ed. Bradshaw, having previously succeeded in breaking their chains near the shackles, made a dash in the dark. Mr. Blume fired at them but did not succeed in stopping them.

The mystery is how they succeeded in breaking the chains unobserved.

On searching a piece of pointed iron about 15 inches long, used at the blacksmith outfit was found at their bed. How it got there is the first part of the mystery.

Be Convinced.

She Is Well Known Here.

Some one writing to the Charlotte News from Harrisburg, says: "Mrs. Sallie Southall Cotten, whose paper at the congress of Mothers was received so enthusiastically by the Northern women, and complimented by the Northern papers, was, in '64, governess in the family of Gen. Means, near Concord. Mrs. M. G. Grier, of Harrisburg, was a pupil of hers and cherishes the warmest appreciation of her old teacher. Mrs. Grier has received a kind letter from Mrs. Cotten, renewing old acquaintance. She is interested in the 'Woman's Exposition,' and it is hoped she will visit Charlotte on the occasion of the exposition."

Mrs. Cotten is well remembered by many of our citizens.

Acquitted.

Lieutenant-Governor Reynolds has also been acquitted of the crime charged by Swinson of lock breaking. Mr. Swinson will have to pay the costs.

A Bold Robbery in Salisbury.

The World says that Smoot Bros. & Rodger's store in Salisbury was broken into on Saturday morning about 4 or 5 o'clock and goods to the amount of $150 at least were taken. Among the things missing were several pairs of trousers, several hats, a $15 macintosh and an overcoat. Twenty-five dollars reward is offered and the case is being pushed with some clues.

The burglars took advantage of the rain to break a large plate glass and entered through it.

Mr. J. Frank Miller, a salesman, was sleeping in a room upstairs but was the less liable to be disturbed on account of the pattering rain on the roof.

There's little doubt but that the parties will be nabbed.
