YORKE-ROGERS.

A Wedding Wednesday Evening That Was Full of Brilliant Events—Two of Concord's Most Prominent Young People United.

A most beautiful and impressive marriage was solemnized at All Saints' Episcopal church Wednesday evening at 8.30 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Frances E. Rogers, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rogers, and Mr. John F. Yorke, the popular jeweler, both of this city.

All Saints' church is a quaint structure of the modern design and the interior around the beautiful chancel was profusely decorated with pure white flowers and evergreens, and presented to the eye a scene of perfect loveliness. The chancel was highly emblematic of purity, being trimmed in pure white cloth. The aisle was also spread with a covering of the same material by the ushers for the bridal party to walk upon to the hymenial altar. The altar in rear of the chancel bore thirty-five flickering candles and with the pure white lillies, jonquils, dogwood blossoms, etc., about them, the scene made one think strongly of realms beyond where all is perfectness and beauty.

Promptly at 8.30 o'clock the sweet strains of the favorite Mendelssohn wedding march under the superb touch of Prof. R. L. Keesler fell softly upon the ear and the procession to the altar began, being led by little Misses Ellen Gibson and Ola Brown, who were dressed in pink and carried baskets of roses, immediately followed by the gallant ushers, Messrs. C. R. Montgomery and James Wadsworth, of Charlotte. The attendants were Miss Margaret McNeeley, of Salisbury, and Miss Mattie Pharr; Miss Jennie Mitchell Rankin and Miss Bessie Henderson, of Salisbury; Miss Eva Lee, of Clinton, and Miss Elizabeth Gibson, each of the six bridesmaids being attired in pure white organdie evening dresses, wearing large picture hats and carrying white bridal roses.

Immediately preceding the bride the dame of honor, Mrs. Grace Robbins, dressed in a gown of pink organdie and carrying in her hand a large bouquet of la France roses, marched gracefully up the aisle alone, taking her position at the left of the chancel.

At this juncture the groom entered from the vestry escorted by his brother, Mr. A. J. Yorke, who was stationed to the right of the chancel; then came the bride, upon the arm of her father, who did the generous act of presenting his daughter to the groom. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, entrain, the waist being elaborately trimmed with chiffon, and carried in her hand a bunch of Marchalnel roses; her head was bedecked with a lovely white veil, orange blossoms and diamonds, and she was indeed a queen of beauty.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Davis read the beautiful Episcopal ceremony that united the happy couple, pronounced them husband and wife, and placed the marriage ring upon the bride's finger. Mr. and Mrs. Yorke's pathway from the altar to the church door was strewn with roses, the pretty little flower girls having carelessly deposited them along the aisle, which feature was unique and very striking.

At the close of the ceremonies at the church the bridal party repaired to the magnificent home of the bride's father, and in the South parlor, in the circle of the large bay window Mr. and Mrs. Yorke received the hearty congratulations of their many friends. This parlor was also festooned with elaborate decorations of the choicest flowers and pot plants. The beautiful delicate decorations and the fragrant blossoms were perfectly bewildering.

The decorations in the spacious dining hall were of pure white—Lillies of the valley, jonquils, orange blossoms, white roses and dainty white ribbon and silver candelabras. The brilliancy of this feature of the event was indeed lovely to behold, the pretty bridesmaids, their handsome escorts and guests in evening dress, adding much to the effectiveness and delight of all, to say nothing of the elegant supper served.

Each guest was presented with a small white wedding cake box bearing the initials "Y-R."

The groom presented to each of the bridesmaids a souvenir gold ring, set with emeralds and pearls, and to the male attendants he gave knotted scarf pins.

It can be said that this popular young couple have everything needful for their future wants in the way of household effects and table ware.

No bride in this city has ever received so many handsome presents. Mr. Yorke presented to his bride a beautiful sunburst, set with pearls and diamonds. Mr. A. J. Yorke's present was a set of pure silverware in handsome mahogany case; Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Yorke, an elegant silver service, soup tureen and bacon dish; Mr. Chas. L. Bernheim, of New York, presented to the bride a very handsome bronze figure, representing "Autumn." The bride received twelve large pictures, silverware of every description, Havilin china, furniture, lamps, cut glass, etc., too numerous to mention. The display was simply grand. Prominent among the many lovely things was a beautiful ivory bound prayer-book, from which the couple were married, presented by the rector, Rev. Dr. J. C. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Yorke left this morning for a tour through the north and will visit Niagara Falls, New York and other points for ten days, when they will return and make this city their future home.

The Discovery Saved His Life

Mr. G. Cailloutte, Druggist, at Beaverville, Ill., says: To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a free trial at Fetzner's Drug Store.

The world is waiting, pop-eyed and breathless, to see republican alleged statesmanship lift a beggared country and people into golden prosperity by raising their taxes—for a tariff is but a tax. When the feat is accomplished, any gentleman can lift himself over the fence, or across a river, or beyond the mountains, by his own boot-straps.—Durham Sun.
