CONCORD, N. C., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 17 1897

WHOLE No.—1052

THE CONCERT:

Given at the Club Rooms Tuesday Night. Something New.

As was announced in THE STANDARD several days ago, a concert was to be given by the members of the club, together with friends, last night. We could say no more of the concert than that it was grand.

Mr. G W Ould announced to the people that this was the opening concert of the Club Room for the winter, and assured them that this would not be the last.

The exercises of the evening were opened by a most excellent production on the mandolin with piano accompaniment. Mr. Moran has an excellent touch on his mandolin, and above all, pays great attention to the expression of the music.

Miss Rose Harris next sang a solo, entitled, "My Dearest Heart." It is needless to say complimentary things in regard to Miss Rose's singing, as everyone knows full well her fine vocal talent.

"Money Musk," with its combination of music, was recited by Miss Hervy. To hear Miss Hervy recite, one can appreciate the value of being a master of elocution, as she seems to be.

Mrs. John Yorke now sang a comic song, which, when rendered in Mrs. Yorke's usual easy and graceful style, brought a smile from the lips of all.

Miss Janie Patterson then rendered a most excellent solo, the obligato of which was played by Mr. Moran on the mandolin. Miss Janie has a very sweet voice, and it must be taken in consideration that she is just beginning in vocal music.

The Male Quartette, consisting of Messrs. Keesler, Watson, Lentz and Howland next entertained the audience with some of their productions. Of these singers, we can say nothing, except that there seemed to be only one sweet tone, the four being mingled together so perfectly.

Even the most melancholy of the audience must now begin to laugh, for Miss Welsh is reciting that laughable piece, "How Reubin Played." To quite a number of elocution students, this is one of the most difficult productions to render, but to see and hear Miss Welsh handle it, like she did last night, it seems very easy.

But as yet, we have had no instrumental solos in the programme, but we can assure all that this vacancy was tastefully filled when Mrs. Ould gave her piano solo.

Mr. F C Howland closed the exercises of the evening with one of his baritone solos. It is needless to say anything more than has been said about Mr. Howland's voice, as its superior qualities are now known by our people.

To the committee on amusements, we must say, we attribute to you great credit for selecting such talent as you did for this opening concert of the season. One more essential fact must be noted before closing, and that is that no one, with but one exception, left the stage after the first production, the encores coming so profusely.

The Thanksgiving Turkey.

Ere our Weekly issue of next week shall have reached most of our readers the festive gobbler will have met the fate of many other bearded bi-peds, he will have lost his head. He is now gobbling down the grains that will conspire with "John Barleycorn" to make many a bloated epicurean rejoice in the fat of the land. He might take comfort, though, if such comfort he needed, that at roosting time next Thursday, the 25th, he will not be game on the "bappy hunting ground" nor the prey of dark purloiners during the darker hours. It might even impart a tone of music to his gutters if, with prophetic instinct, he could see the redness of the eye and the amount of Simmon's Liver Regulator demanded, to say nothing of the scenes in police courts and death bed repentances following thanksgiving indulgences with himself a central figure. It might add accuteness to the click of his strut if he knew that voracious man, between whose maxillary levers and dental millstones he is to be masticated on that day, is himself but fattening for a savory mess for the meanest of all digestions, that of the worm. There is an evening up of all things and the turkey probably has his even share after all.

Death at Cannonville.

Mr. Elijah Hinson, who had the misfortune to cut his foot badly about three weeks ago, and which was noted in THE STANDARD, died last night at about 8 o'clock, at his home at Cannonville, near the new Presbyterian church. It seems that he took blood poison from the cut his arm having become swollen and even burst.

Mr. Hinson was about 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and several children, two of whom are married, one to Mr. A M Maulden and the other to Mr. Jno. Cress.

The remains were interred in the old Presbyterian cemetery (Wednesday) evening at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Sunderland Here.

Dr. Sunderland and daughter, Mrs. Dorr, both of Washington City, spent Tuesday at Sunderland Hall. It will be remembered that Dr. Sunderland had this school erected in memoriam to his daughter, Miss Laura Sunderland, who died several years ago. He was well pleased with the institution, and would have been glad to stay longer, but on account of urgent business he had to return.

Dr. Sunderland is getting old, though still has a charge in Washington City, and was Grover Cleveland's pastor for over two years.

While speaking of Sunderland Hall, it will be of interest to our readers to know that Miss Montgomery, the excellent manager of the school, has in her charge an Australian girl and also a Waldensean.
