IT LOOKS LIKE FREE TRADE.

At a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York on the 27th President McKinley said in his speech:

"Much profitable trade is still unenjoyed by our people because of their present insufficient facilities for reaching desirable markets. Much of it is lost because of a lack of information and ignorance of the conditions and needs of other nations. We must know just what other people want before we can supply their wants. We must understand each other in order to reach them with least expense if we would enter into the most advantageous business relations with them. The ship requires the shipper, but the shipper must have assured promise that his goods will have a sale when they reach their destination. It is a good rule if buyers will not come to us, for us to go to them. It is our duty to make American enterprises and industrial ambition, as well as achievement, terms of respect and praise, not only at home but among the family of nations the world over."

This sounds to us like right good free trade argument. How can we go to the nations with better inducements than to offer them what they need for what they have to dispose of on the freest and best terms possible? The cry has been among Republican protectionists, "America for Americans." Our narrow, exclusive policies do not seem like going out to the world for trade.

The protective policy seems to have its chief impetus backed by the amount of the campaign funds proceeding therefrom while labor is subject to competitive laws of trade.

It's a singular fact that the question, "Are we now a prosperous people?" divides public opinion and even occupies the time of our highest deliberative bodies, the American Congress. It does seem that if we are prosperous we ought to know something about it. Either position can be stoutly maintained. Under protective tariff that fosters monopolies and builds up vast fortunes at the expense of the unprotected, and a pension system by which a little army of even undeserving people can hang on to the government treasury it is easy to see that the beneficiaries of these policies should feel very prosperous while the victims feel very unprosperous. These anti-Democratic measures make prosperity take color from the standpoint of him who views them.

THE K. OF P.'s

of Our City—A Prospecting View of Them From an Outsider.

As in the time of Ivanhoe, so flourish the Knights in our city. But the Knights, gallant though they be, are Knights of Pythias. The Pythian lodge, which was the fifty first organized in the State, was organized on Friday night, May 5th, 1893. On the minutes of the first meeting we find the name of Grand Chancellor Benbow, and also that of Mr. J. Frank McCubbins, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals.

This lodge was organized with nine charter members, which were as follows: Jas. C. Wadsworth, A. Jones Yorke, Jas. F. Hurley, Geo. L. Patterson, J. Penick Query, C. L. Smith, H. L. Cannon, Frank L. Smith, Chas. J. Harris. From that time on to this the lodge has been steadily growing and now has the honor of having 62 names of active members on its list.

The tenets of this organization are Friendship, Charity and Benevolence. During the sickness of any member he is cared for by the Knights in the best of manner and receives also as a sick benefit $3 each week.

In connection with Pythianism, there is an insurance feature, though to be a Pythian does not necessarily imply the carrying of insurance.

In the order of Knights of Pythias there are only three degrees to be taken, which come in the order named: Page, Esquire and Knight.

During the lodge's life but two members have been called away by death. The first was that of Mr. Jesse Willeford, who, though, unfortunately, was not carrying his insurance policy near the time that he died. The next death was that of Mr. Chas. E. Alexander, who was one of their most excellent members, and a most fitting example to all brother members. This young man was cared for during sickness by the lodge and at his death was buried with Pythian honors.

This lodge has a regular burial ceremony, which is administered most impressively at the death of one of their members.

During the year 1897 ten men were initiated into this lodge, which shows the highest number taken in of all of the organizations yet named.

This lodge never has public occasions, like some of the organizations of the place, though occasionally they have occasions of festivity, to be taken part in exclusively by Pythians.

Ever since its organization in 1893 their night for meeting was Friday night, but a month or two ago it was changed, and they now meet on Tuesday night of each week in their Castle Hall, in the City Hall.

The present officers are as follows: Jas. C. Fink, Chancellor Commander; R. L. McConnell, Prelate; Jas. R. Young, K. of R. and S.; J. C. Correll, M. at A.; Jesse E. Hamilton, M. of E.; Albert D. Freeze, M. of F.; J. F. McGraw, M. of W.; R. L. Dick, I. G.; J. A. Kennett, O. G.

If all questions would have been answered that we asked, we would have more things of interest about this lodge, but our informants, Messrs. Jesse Hamilton and Jim Young, as Pythians, could tell us no more.

Horrible Affair Near Wilson.

Dispatches from Wilson, N. C., to the News and Observer, give an account of a most terrible tragedy in that community Friday night, the 28th. The unconfirmed account is to the effect that one T. R. Lamm had some difficulty with his tenant, Pearson Estman, over a settlement.

Estman and his son made threatening demonstrations with arms, at Lamm's store. Lamm tried to stop it and get them to leave, when Estman turned upon Lamm with a 33 pistol and sent a ball into his breast, whereupon Lamm knocked him down and stamped him to death. He then gave the son similar treatment, though he did not quite kill him. Lamm and young Estman are both said to be in a precarious condition.

A Harbor of Refuge.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Congressman Harry Skinner has received a favorable report from the War Department for an appropriation to make Beaufort harbor a harbor of refuge. The War Department recommends an appropriation of $1,500,000 for this purpose. Mr. Skinner will go before the River and Harbor committee and urge that this item be placed in the river and harbor appropriation bill. Should it fail in the House, the North Carolina Senators will no doubt see to it that the appropriation is tacked on it in Senate in the shape of an amendment.

Shadow of Herself

Stomach Was Too Weak to Retain Food

A Complete Cure Effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Now Enjoying the Best of Health, With Digestion Perfect.

"My mother was subject to sick headaches and indigestion for over a year. She was unable to stand for any length of time, and was obliged to stay in a dark room as she could not bear the light. She had no appetite whatever and her stomach was so weak she could not retain what food she did eat. She also had severe pains in her head. She suffered so much that she became but the shadow of herself. One day I happened to read a testimonial about Hood's Sarsaparilla. It sounded so truthful I persuaded her to try this medicine. Before finishing the first bottle there was an improvement in her condition. She no longer threw up her food and her headache was not as severe. She took in all four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and several boxes of Hood's Pills and regained her weight. She is now enjoying the best of health. Her digestion is good and she can eat almost anything she wishes. She is 42 years old and says she feels as well as when she was 16. Hood's Sarsaparilla made a complete cure in her case."
