Common Mistakes.

It is a mistake to work when you are not in a fit condition to do so; to take off heavy underclothing because you have become overheated; to think that the more a person eats the healthier he will become; to believe that children can do as much work as grown up people, and that the more they study the more they learn; to go to bed late at night and rise at daybreak and imagine that every hour taken from sleep is an hour gained; to imagine that if a little work or exercise is good, violent or prolonged exercise is better; to conclude that the smallest room in the house is large enough to sleep in; to sleep exposed to a direct draught at any season; to imagine that whatever remedy causes one to feel immediately better, as alcoholic stimulants for example is good for the system without regard to the after effects; to eat as if you had only a minute in which to finish the meal or to eat without an appetite or to continue after it has been satisfied to gratify the taste; to give unnecessary time to a certain established routine of housekeeping when it could be much more profitably spent in rest or recreation.

The Raleigh Post says: Few people in North Carolina know that there is a large amount of unclaimed land in the State and that claims for possession of various tracts are granted almost daily by the Secretary of State. For the past two months the force in the Secretary of State's office has been busy making grants of land. Most of the requests for grants of unclaimed land come from Western North Carolina in the mountain region. Only a few days since the Secretary of State issued a grant for a piece of property near the city of Asheville. Some fellow came along and discovered a site on the river bank, which no one claimed and he seized on it.
