CONCORD, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 8 1898

WHOLE No 1123

COLEMAN FACTORY

Meeting at the Court House—Crowded House—Quite a Number of Distinguished Men Present.

Owing to the fact that the trains were late this (Tuesday) morning, the exercises were necessarily later than intended.

A large crowd of colored people and quite a number of white people, assembled at the court house at the intended hour.

Music was rendered by a brass band and also by a colored choir.

The program was changed from that announced Monday.

The crowd formed and moved first to the Coleman factory, where the corner stone was laid. They then returned to the court house, where the addresses were delivered.

Following are some of the prominent colored people that are here today:

Jas. H. Young, Grand Master of Colored Masonic lodge of the State; Hon. Geo. H. White, of Newbern; Rev. O. L. W. Smith, United States Minister to Liberia, who will soon depart for that country; President B. F. Messer, of Shaw University at Raleigh; Bishop Clinton, of Charlotte; Editor Russell and Associate Editor Rogers, of the Maxton Blade; Secretary E. J. Young, of the North Carolina Benevolent and Relief Association, of Charlotte; Rev. J. H. King, of Greensboro; Rev. G. L. Blackwell, of Zion Publication Society, of Charlotte; Dr. Dellinger, of Greensboro; Prof. J. B. Dudley, president of colored A & M College, of Greensboro; Dr. S. P. Wright, of Salisbury; Mrs. Frances E. Harper, a lady author of Philadelphia; Miss Mary Lynch, teacher at Livingstone College, of Salisbury; Mrs. Bishop Harris, and Mrs. Prof. Hunt, of Bidle University.

THE STANDARD will give the account of the addresses tomorrow.

A Colored Mill in Columbia, S. C.

While Concord has the distinction of the first cotton mill conceived by the colored people and plans pushed forward by them, Columbia, S. C., is ahead of our colored people. Machinery is being placed in a mill there now—the entire stock is owned by colored people and all the operators are colored, yet the manager is a white man. The charter forbids that any but colored people shall be stockholders.

The mill is on the co-operative plan.

Around Crescent As Gathered Up By One of the Industrious.

Crescent, Feb. 7, '98.—Mr. Monroe Stirewalt moved into our berg Tuesday.

Mr. Albert Lyerly, who has been suffering with erysipelas, is much better, we are glad to note.

Mr. James Holshouser, of Maiden, passed through this place Sunday on his way (we suppose) to Mr. Boston's.

Ever since this reaches the press, Crescent will be connected with Salisbury by means of a telephone line.

We were indeed pleased to read a letter from Texas in the last week's issue of THE STANDARD, although we do not know the author. Yet we thank him for so highly esteeming us and hope to have many more such letters through the columns of your noble paper.

Dr. McNairy's horse ran away with his buggy Wednesday. No damage was done.

Mr. H. O. Farmer passed through here Saturday.

Mr. Blayton Lowder, of Cabarrus, was in our village Sunday.

Mr. Maxwell Holshouser is still in bed with la grippe. We hope he will soon recover.

Our school still grows. We are expecting two new students today, also Mr. L. W. Lentz will be in in a few weeks. Mr. Lentz is a bright young man.

Consumption Positively Cured.

Mr. R. R. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottle at P. B. Fetzner's Drug store.

Officers On Trial.

From the Charlotte papers, we learn that Dr. F. O. Hawley and Policemen Hall and Daniels were tried before several magistrates in Charlotte, Monday evening, for forcible trespass. The circumstances are that they entered a house to vaccinate the occupants, when one of the family had forbidden them to enter. The result of the charge is that each one of the three is bound over on a $100 bond until the next term of the criminal court.

Desperate Murder in South Carolina.

A most outrageous and unprovoked murder was perpetrated at Chester, S. C., Monday, says reports from there. Tom Jones, a negro, presented a check at the bank with counterfeit signature of Mrs. Gaston. The cashier, doubting the genuineness of the signature, got Capt. Marshall, the chief of police, to accompany him to the signer. In an unguarded moment, the foul demon shot Capt. Marshall dead. After a desperate resistance and being shot, he surrendered and is in jail.

A Wheeling Affair.

The following is from the Hickory correspondence to the Charlotte News:

"Several business men of this place use certain advertising devices known as 'fairst wheels,' on which the high tariff of the county, under the revenue law of 1897, demands special license tax. This, the owners and operators refuse to pay—raising a rather interesting question. Judge Starbuck will be asked to pass upon at the coming term of our superior court. On the one hand, it is argued that, although the last legislature attempted to tax everything in the heavens above, in the earth beneath, and in the waters under the earth, it nevertheless overlooked the 'fairst wheel.' On the other hand, it is contended that the meaning and force of a law must be found from the intent of the lawmaker, and that the general assembly of '97 undoubtedly had wheels in its head."
