CONCORD, MAY 11 1898

THE OLD MAN'S ALL RIGHT.

The Greenville, S. C., News states the fact that up to 1884, when Grover Cleveland was first elected President of the United States, this country hardly owned a warship of any value. Cleveland and his Secretary of the Navy, William C Whitney, began the construction of an efficient navy. The News continues:

So our "new navy" dates back to the "gold-bug" administration of Cleveland and Whitney. A navy cannot be built in a day or in a month or in a year or in a few years. Next to the skill and brilliant audacity of Dewey and his officers and men, the victory of the Philippines is to be attributed to the statesmanship of Cleveland and Whitney, endorsed and imitated by Harrison and Tracy. Yet, the same men who have most to say about Dewey are loudest in their denunciations of Grover Cleveland.

But it is such remarks as this of The News that shuts the mouths of the critics of the Old Man. Long before his administration was over, The Observer stood it out that the future would vindicate him. And we have not come across any breaks or gaps yet in that vindication of Cleveland's unflinching policy of absolute honesty in political government.—Charlotte Observer.

The Fool Insults Confederate Soldiers

This morning the Adjutant General received a confidential letter from Salem, saying that in front of the office of Eugene Foucht, in that town, yesterday there was a large "recruiting poster," with pictures of regular soldiers, and that on a black-board is this notice in large letters: "No man who ever fought Uncle Sam need apply." The letter says: "This has created a great deal of comment by ex-Confederate soldiers. Wish you would order it removed." The Adjutant General at once telegraphed Foucht that he must remove the obnoxious words from his office; that neither the President nor the Governor will permit this insult to the gallant Confederate soldiers, whose breasts are beating with intense national patriotism; that there are no more loyal sons, North, South, East or West. The Adjutant General told Foucht that he was surprised that in the face of national peril he should have failed to show the universally patriotic spirit of all Americans today.—Raleigh Special, 5th.

MEMORIAL POEM.

Another year hath come and gone Since last year's floral tributes came,

Other flowers now strew the lawn
In honor of our heroes' fame.

'Tis Mother Earth that's spoke again (whose treasures are our gallant dead)

To strew their graves on hill and plain

With emblems of our thoughts unsaid,

In sixty-five the scattered lines Left to immortalize the name, From Richmond's strands to Southern pines

Of heroes strong for honor's claim.

And those of them who still survive Though battle-scarred and timely worn,

Have lived to see our nation thrive
Out of the arms of chaos torn.

Oh, thou cold shaft of marble reared
In 'membrance of our soldiers gone,

To Him above who hath appeared To save the brave, the gallant, strong.

In silence thou preserve those ties Divinely sealed by God above

Of soldiers brave 'neath other skies
To wait His recognizing love.

On their graves we'll strew our tokens,

It is a gift of pride and love,
Of thoughts and words still unspoken

For those, so dear, who dwell above.

And thou, Concord, with annals proud

Among the heroes of the age, Thy sons and daughters are endowed With this, their rightful heritage.

substitute Wanted.

The poet of the Gastonia Gazette is responsible for the following:

A pretty Gastonia girl calls for volunteers as follows:

Unto the war as a recruit I've sent my darling John,

Oh, that I had a substitute
To soothe me while he's gone!

The Wilmington Star went very far in his prediction that there would be no war with Spain. It is hard to make confession of error in judgment. The Star claims there is no war yet, so far as Americans are concerned, for not a man has been killed save in the Maine disaster.

We think if the Star man had been in Manila bay about the time Dewey was earning his sword of honor and every man was winning a medal he would have given it up that we have a war indeed.

The Banner Will Come.

Charlotte on the 20th.

Durham, captain; Plato Durham,
