Dr. P A Barrier has been very sick with a bilious attack. Mr. Lilly, of Concord, was called Monday. We are glad to learn he is improving.

We are also glad that Mr. W G Barringer is improving after a few days illness. A NOTHER.

Got Their Man.

As was noted in THE STANDARD Tuesday Ed Bradshaw escaped from the chain gang Monday. Tuesday night Supervisor Smith and Deputy Hill placed themselves near the Reed pond, expecting that Ed might be sighted. Sure enough they were rewarded. Mr. Smith sprang upon his man like a cat on a mouse. Quicker than thought Ed struck Mr. Smith with a short, thick gum stick that he was carrying, and downed him.

Will Brown was with Ed, and Deputy Hill had two before him, with Smith temporarily disabled. With the very persuasive power that lurks about a pistol point Brown was made to stand aside. Smith soon rose and collared Ed, who tried to defend himself. Hill held one hand on Ed's arm that held the stick, while he held the pistol to Ed's breast and told him to surrender or die.

Ed is on the gang as usual today. Mr. Smith carries a small break of the skin on the left side of his skull. He says he does not care for the stroke in consideration of getting the negro back.
