CONCORD, JUNE 9 1898

THE NEWS WILL COME ON.

As indicated before we have discontinued the Union Associated Press service and have returned to the service we had previous to it. The public may rest assured that if anything occurs during the day, even till late in the evening, that is of a nature that the public would especially like to obtain promptly, it will be forthcoming and will be published. This will be through the very great kindness of the Charlotte Observer, than which we know of no better source of information, if information and not mere sensationalism is wanted. The public will enjoy all the reliable news, we think, without its costing us immediately for matter from which readers turn away with incredulity, weariness and disgust.

GEN. HOKE DECLINES IT.

Senator Pritchard and Congressman Skinner and Lipney waited on President McKinley Wednesday and asked for a brigadier generalship from North Carolina. The President readily consented and asked for a nomination. The name of our idolized Confederate General Bob Hoke was presented whereupon Senator Pritchard was authorized to communicate with Gen. Hoke, who declined with thanks. Gen. Hoke has the unqualified endorsement of Gen. Lee. There is no man under whom we would rather see our gallant North Carolinians march to glorious distinction than under Gen. Hoke.

A "DEVIL" ABOUT.

We do not pretend to correct every little annoying error that seems to steal through the make-up of the daily paper, when the publisher's brains are weary and his eyes are dull with the strain of trying to do the very best, but once-in-awhile it is necessary, and sometimes not amiss, to note them.

On Wednesday an esteemed contributor, writing of the "Christian Book Club," imparted the information that the club has disbanded for the season. Seeing an opportunity to throw off a little friendly intimation of weakness like our own to relax the mental as well as the physical energies and seek the flower aromatized zephyrs beneath verdant canopies and to hide from the shafts of ennui with which old "Sol's" rays are daily being more and more charged, we attempted to give the contribution the following head: "For the Summer Shades." When the paper was sent we saw to our chagrin that the letter "S," in the last word (as a witty friend said over the phone) did not "go off" (war times you know) and the heading had some of our very best and most paradisaical timber going to hades. Such a missnap could hardly occur except where there is a "devil" about.

IN THE HOLE HIMSELF.

Instead of Mr. Butler's putting the Democrats into a hole, it seems very much like he is pretty deep in it himself. With the hope of placating or fooling the Democrats (we do not know which, probably he does not know himself which motive was uppermost in his mind) he was right ugly toward his former associate, the Republicans. He fails to make his deal with the Democrats and now he is strictly not in it. He will hardly be able to deliver the better class of Populists over to the Republican party if he should make any kind of deal with them. To stand up alone and be counted and take what there is in it is not to Mr. Butler's liking. If principle and reform were what Mr. Butler wanted he and his party would stand up alone and draw others to them, but no thinking man would accuse Mr. Butler of any great desire for reform that has not in it a good salary and a good degree of bossism for Mr. Butler. It looks very much like he has lately gotten a black eye in the State as well as in the United States Senate, where that body to which he is a disgrace is tiring of his blather-skite methods at trying to stay on a level by pulling down others around him to his own dirty level. We think the considerate and worthy portion of his party will not follow him much longer, and we look for Democratic triumph next fall.

EASY TO CRITICISE.

There seems to be an air of complaint and criticism about getting our soldiers well equipped and well fed on food suitable for the Southern climate in the hottest season. One Poultny Bigelow, writing from Tampa to Harper's Weekly, complains sharply that the soldiers suffer for the vegetable diet that could be supplied with some of the many car loads shipped daily from the State. He has much criticism for the president in his appointments of quartermaster and commissary officers. While there is room to criticize appointments very often it is to be remembered that criticism is the most easily manufactured article on the market and that complaints are sometimes loudest from those who would not do as well if entrusted with the conduct of affairs. Knowing the splendid provision for the United States soldiery in the civil war and that the tendency of the government is toward perfect equipment rather than toward economy, we had little fears that our soldiery would suffer any great neglect. Had the President gone precipitately into war without any preparation as he was scolded for not doing we think there would have been hardships of which our army knows little now.

That silly Spaniard who thought to win in this war by stirring up the South against the North in a repetition of the civil war is probably greatly surprised to find the South leading off in heroism. The more Spain prolongs the war, too, the more the mistake will be demonstrated.

Salt and Its Properties.

Used in washing the hair it will prevent the hair from falling out.

A teaspoonful of salt in a lamp will make kerosene oil give a brighter light.

Added to a bucket of water it forms a remarkably effective fire extinguisher.

A handful of rock salt added to the bath is the next best thing to a ocean dip.

Damp salt will remove the discoloration of tea and the like in dishes that have been carelessly washed.

New calicoes soaked in a strong solution of salt for an hour before washing will retain their colors better.

As a dentifrice, salt and water will not only cleanse, but whiten the teeth, and will harden the gums.

When broiling steak a pinch or two of salt thrown on the fire will quench the flames arising from the dripping fat.

A weak solution is good for sore throat, to be used as a gargle, and this is still better if a few grains of red pepper are added.

Ink stains may be removed by the use of moistened salt. When it becomes discolored remove it and use a fresh supply until no color remains.

Dissolved in water and snuffed up the nostrils it is of use curing catarrh, but when chronic its use must be persisted in night and morning for several months.

A little salt in raw or boiled starch will prevent the irons from sticking, and make the starch whiter. If the irons are rough lay some salt on a piece of brown paper, lay a piece of muslin over it, and rub the irons on it until they are bright and smooth.

A bag of salt, heated and applied over a painful spot, is often very efficacious in allaying pain, especially those of a colicky nature in the stomach and bowels, says a writer in the Boston Traveler. A weak solution of salt in water is a good remedy for slight indigestion, especially that characterized by a sense of weight and oppression.—Exchange.
