ABOUT THE BONDS.

There are those who make a great deal of fuss about government bonds, and would have the less intelligent and the easily prejudiced to regard a man as essentially bad or dishonest who holds a government bond. Most of such men we think have plenty of their own bonds out and look with disfavor on the men who hold them. It is unfortunate that we have men prominent in public influence who teach such disturbing doctrine. A government sometimes requires more money than the ordinary revenues produce. It must borrow as any individual or corporation must under the same conditions. There is nothing wrong in it.

There are those who are clamoring now that the government should issue greenbacks as in the civil war. The effect would be as it was then both North and South, the silver and gold would go into hiding and the government would have to suspend specie payment. Immediately we would have to tell just what kind of dollar we meant as the price of an article, a gold dollar, a silver dollar or a greenback dollar. The metal and the paper dollar parted company during the war, both North and South.

We would like to call the attention of the ordinary reader to the fact that if this money were not borrowed by the government and paper were issued the time would come when this paper would have to be called in or would have to be redeemable in coin or we would have to have a special kind of money by which to carry on our trade with other countries. Whenever this calling in of inflated paper money would occur we would find the effects to be what we call hard times.

This issuing bonds for the money needed to carry on this war is doubtless the best way it can be done, and we wish that we were all out of debt and had a neat little batch of these bonds in our pockets just to see how we would welcome the North and Northeast to take them off our hands and let us make 6 per cent instead of 3 per cent.

We will just rest awhile on grand war movements. If they come as we expect, we can throw our hats all the higher. We are of the opinion that our troops now nearing Cuba will operate against Santiago, and that next after doing up the job Admiral Sampson will turn his attention to Porto Rico. Mr. Dick Harris does not believe that Santiago is the destination of our troops and offers to bet, but he proposes only cigars or whiskey, when he knows we detest tobacco in all its forms, and as for the whiskey, if even we could werry it down, ours is a dry town and it can't be had. We shall see what we shall see and hear what we shall hear when there is something to see and hear.

Do You Want a Bond?

We are into a war and the government needs more money than the ordinary revenues produce.

Therefore the Secretary of the treasury is authorized to borrow $200,000,000, giving for it the government bonds or notes, bearing interest at 3 per cent, payable quarterly. It is the purpose to give preference to small bond holders and all who wish to lend amounts of from $500 down to $20 may be sure that their offer will be accepted unless the offer gets in too late, for such amounts will be accepted at once. They will be dated August 1st, but interest will be paid from the time the money is sent.

All national and state banks and money order postoffices keep the blanks by which to make application for those who wish to exchange money for these bonds.

The time allowed to apply closes at 3 o'clock, July 14.

There are applications in now for more than the sum wanted but the preference is given to applicants for $500 or less amounts.

These bonds are payable in coin after ten years if the government chooses to pay them then. The government, though, accepts any kind of our national money for these bonds.

Rowan's Dog-Killer Captured.

For quite a while the people of Rowan county have been reporting having seen a queer kind of animal in the community and which was killing the dogs. A number of strange stories have been told about it, but from the Salisbury Sun we see that this wonder of wonders is now captured and is found to be nothing more than a sheep that has been running wild. Its wool was, of course, very dirty. It had been sheared close and was also branded with green paint.

H W Cottonwood, editor of the Rural New Yorker, has taken a census of the hens of the United States. He figures out the chickens of the country at 375,000,000, and their product in 1897 at 14,400,000,000 eggs, of a value of $165,000,000, while poultry sales realized $125,000,000 more, making the total value of the hen crop $290,000,000, or more than those of either the wheat or cotton yields.—Greenville Reflector.

STAMPEDE OF 3,000 HORSES.

General Carpenter's Brigade Put to Rout—Exciting Affair That Night in Tampa.

Washington, June 16.—A special to the Post from Tampa says: "At 10 o'clock tonight 3,000 horses and mules broke from their corrals and stampeded through the camps of General Carpenter's brigade. It was so dark and the excitement so great in the District of Columbia camp that it was impossible to learn if any men were hurt. The panic among the men was terrible. Officials tried to get their companies into line, but the army of wild horses made that impossible. Many men began shooting at the excited animals, but this only excited them more. It seems impossible to stop the stampede tonight. The horses seemed to be attracted by the tents, and they rushed through the brigade of three regiments and then back again, taking a different course each time. They have already destroyed many tents, kitchen and camping paraphernalia.

It is not known what started the animals on their wild rush. Taps had just sounded in all the camps and the bands had played their good-nights. The men were hardly asleep when a loud cracking like the firing of Gatling guns startled them. It was the breaking down of the corral fence, a high wooden affair. In the next moment the infuriated and panting horses rushed into the New York camp, which was nearest the break in the fence. The rush sounded like a thunderstorm. The New York camp's sentinels began to yell like mad, "Call out the guard!" "Call out the guard!" The guard hurried out, but it was useless, as the animals were then rushing over everything in their path. In half an hour the camps had been stampeded three times and there seemed to be no hope of driving the beasts away from the breach. Forty men were mounted by 11 o'clock, and they were able to check the rush a little, or at least to steer the horses clear of the camp.

He's From Roanoke.

We learn that the Enochville High School is to be run next session by Mr. H E Black, a graduate of Roanoke college, as principal.

Mr. Black will come well recommended and the Enochville community is too well known to need any guarantee of its desirability for obtaining a good common and high school education.

Miss Lena Vernon Powell, Adjutant General Cowles' stenographer, is performing his duties while he is suffering with a broken leg. She is the only woman acting adjutant general in the country.—Lexington Dispatch.
