A BAD WAY.

We are profoundly sorry to see squibs in our exchanges ever and anon intimating that this war depended on the volition of the gold standard advocates for its existence and now for its perpetuation. These newspapers doubtless have readers who can be misled into believing that there is no principle in what our high officials; that the war is not to relieve suffering humanity and to chastise Spain till she is made to conform to the laws of humanity, civilization and right, and that the United States is in no condition to cease fighting now till Spain manifests a spirit which it is the purpose and the necessary effect of this war. No wonder that the pressure (not the arguments) for free coinage is calculated to repel and not to win those who would be glad to be converted into a favorable opinion of it. It is certainly a very injudicious way of advocating the silver cause.

An enthusiastic Guilfordite in a letter to the Greensboro Telegram says: "Great as are the deserts of Lieutenant Hobson and his friends I had just as leave risk Spanish shells for one morning as to sleep on the ground at Martinsville and elsewhere for seven years—no blankets and 'hit a rainin'." That's just what the heroes at Guilford Court House did." Seven years is a right long sleep. This reminds us of the Kansas veteran, who in the midst of cheering said to the volunteers, "Thirty-five years ago I laid flat on my stomach in water waist deep for twenty-four hours waiting for the sun to rise, and I kin do it again, by gum."—Charlotte News.

We are in receipt of the catalogue of the Bingham School for its 105th year. Located near Asheville since 1891 with accommodations for 120 pupils, the roll shows an attendance of 119 during the year just ended, representing an area extending from Pennsylvania and Illinois on the North to Florida and Texas on the South, and extending to Japan; and financially Bingham's is doing better, as far as has been ascertained, than any other school for boys in the whole South.

Fourteen Sailors Eaten by Sharks.
Sydney, N. S. W., June 22.—One of the boats of the Russian ship, Bay of Naples, from Port Natal, April 23, for Tchio, capsized off Noumea, capital of New Caledonia, today, and fourteen sailors were devoured by sharks.

Headache stopped in 20 minutes by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

The $250 Scholarship.

Two years ago, after the manner of the U. S. Military and Naval Academies, Maj. Bingham offered the young men of North Carolina eleven (11) scholarships, $250 each, to be awarded by the Congressmen for their own districts and by the two Senators for the State at large to the young men who should win them by standing highest in a competitive examination on English, Arithmetic and the Geography and the History of the United States.

There were considerably more than (100) competitors, and all the scholarships have been occupied by young men who averaged high in ability and earnestness.

Nearly all the incumbents having completed the course with success, the scholarships are vacant except for the 8th district and open for competition again.

An examination will be held in each district about the middle of August on such exact DAY, and at such PLACE and before such COMMITTEE as each Congressman for his district and each U. S. Senator for the State at large may select, and applicants are referred to their own Congressman or to the Senator for particulars.

In case there is no examination in any district, a special examination may be had in Asheville on the 24th of August before the faculty of the school; and if the man who stands highest does not use his scholarship for any cause, it is open to the second best man as alternate for ninety days after the examination.

An Unfortunate Side for Him.

Esquire H C McAllister passed through here today (Thursday) on his way home at Mt. Pleasant. Mr. McAllister seems to be somewhat unfortunate in getting hurt on his left side. Several years ago he was almost killed by the breaking of a bolt, which knocked his left eye almost out, and some time afterwards his left leg was broken by a sledge hammer flying off the handle at the Haile Gold Mine, and only a week or two ago his left side was badly bruised by his falling from a scaffold at Salisbury, where he was overseeing some building. He has gone home to recuperate from his fall now.

OUR GOVERNOR A CORKER.

Swears at the Editor, Says Liar and Puts His Hand on His Pistol.

There was quite a sensation in the governor's office at Raleigh Wednesday. City Editor of the Times-Visitor, Henry Bagley, accompanied recruiting officer, Lieut. Harlowe, at the request of Gen. Cowles, to the Governor's office and introduce him to the Governor. Leaving the two Mr. Bagley started to pass out of the capitol when he was informed that the governor wanted to see him. He returned to the office and his Excellency (?) raised up and in loud and profane words charged him with slandering a young lady at his house and ordered the editor out of his office.

Mr. Bagley denied the charge when the Governor charged him with lying and slander and again ordered him out. Mr. Bagley persisted in staying long enough to tell his stupid coarseness that he himself lied, that he (the editor) had never slandered any woman.

We quote one paragraph of the altercation as given by Mr. Bagley to show how it ran:

"Infuriated, he almost shouted, 'You can't insult me in my office, sir,' and in reply I said: 'I know I can't insult you in your office. You can't be insulted. Nothing I could say would be an insult to you. Nothing said by you would be an insult to me.'"

He then walked out and left the trothing irate spectacle of a Governor of the Old North State to his true self a shame and a disgrace to the State.

Mr. Bagley says on passing out the Governor's private secretary said to him that the Governor was mad and would relent, but that he had a pistol and a double-barreled shot gun in his office as he is liable to be attacked.

Mr. Bagley says the article referred to was not offensive and that the Governor had bought some extra copies and had not shown any signs of displeasure before an account of it though it was published some time ago.

LAI D TO REST.

After Being in Bad Health for Some Time, Mr. Beaugard Barbee Answers to the Summons of Death.

For several years Mr. Beaugard Barbee, of No. 10 township, has been in bad health, which was caused, it is thought, by his overworking himself. Not a harder working man could be found in his community than he was.

On this (Thursday) morning about 3 o'clock the life of Mr. Barbee ended. He was 37 years of age, and was known by quite a lot of our people throughout the county, he having once been quite a horse trader. Mr. Barbee leaves a wife and many friends and relatives to mourn this loss. He leaves no children. Mr. Barbee married the daughter of Mr. Frank Green.

His remains will be interred in the cemetery at Bethel, the funeral being preached by Rev. Bryan.

How About That Game?

There is some talk of getting up a game of baseball here and have all of the players to wear wrappers. It would be something great and would be a good draw. Wilmington has just had one and it proved to be one of the funniest things they have had in a while.
