THE DOCTOR AND THE JUDGE.

A rather bitter controversy is in progress on between Dr. Kilgo, President of Trinity College, and Judge Clark. It is a battle royal in which to vanquish either would seem a task. The Judge is not in full sympathy with the Doctor and, it seems, has been free to express his criticisms. The board of directors of the college in consideration of the Judge's attitude, requested his resignation as a member of that body. The Judge kicks vigorously and scores the doctor roundly, not missing the opportunity to bring in the stigma of gold standard, but complains most against the action taken against him in his absence and the hearing of charges against him without the opportunity of his rebuttal. There does not seem to be much of the spirit of reconciliation in the air and the judges strictures doubtless make the doctor's friends doubly anxious to get rid of the judge, who, however, seems in his judicial wisdom to regard a request for resignation in all the seriousness of a deposition and would extend the principle of a right to be heard in self defense even to the extent of precluding a request for resignation without the full ceremonial of a court trial.

The judge, of course, ought to have a high sense of right but it does seem that a plain I will or I won't might have saved much to the prejudice of both parties who will doubtless suffer in this controversy.

DOESN'T SEEM LIKELY.

D A Thompkins, in the Cotton Planter's Journal, expresses the opinion that ere long the cotton crop will be manufactured at the gin. He seems to see a saying of labor in pressing and transporting and the process of picking at the factory, etc. It seems at a glance like one of the most unlikely events but there's no telling what is going to come to pass.

A newly designed guitar has a second set of strings under the main set, which are operated by plunger keys, the bridge for the second set being mounted on a spring lever which normally holds it away from the strings.—Ex.

A New Wrinkle.

We have all heard of "knee swells." Well, Manager Miller has gone a step lower and ordered a half dozen pairs of "calf swells" for the team.

Headache stopped in 20 minutes by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Boiling May Not Remedy.

A user of milk asks the Charlotte Observer whether boiling will remove the danger of tyro-toxin from milk and ice cream. The Observer says:

"Interviewed upon this subject, a well posted physician of Charlotte says: 'This poison was first found in cheese, then in ice cream and later, in ordinary milk. It is detectable through a complicated chemical process and is the product of several species or varieties of germs. The poison is produced by the vital action of these germs upon the containing milk, leading to chemical substances which produce the poisonous symptoms in the stomach and bowels of those who use it. The germs would be destroyed by boiling the milk, but it cannot be said that this would also render the chemical substances innocuous or non-poisonous. We know that some of these bodies of this class of poisons do resist the temperature of the boiling point and remain stable, and I know of no experiments made to prove that tyro-toxin became harmless through the action of heat applied in this way. Examples of poisoning of this kind are infrequent but occur a number of times each year in this country.'"

No Extra Insurance for Gasoline Stoves.

We learn from the Louisville (Ky.) Insurance Herald, of June 9th, that the Southeastern Tariff Association has issued a new gasoline permit which eliminates the extra insurance charged for having gasoline stoves in houses on which there are policies of insurance.

This is evidence of the realization of the insurance men that the danger from gasoline has been minimized by the modern gasoline stove, and this concession on the part of the insurance companies will be hailed with a feeling of relief by householders, since gasoline stoves are almost indispensable as conveniences to families in cities. Gasoline stoves have become more useful day by day and the new rule of the Tariff Association will tend to increase their use.

Mr. Oglesby Sells to Mr. Mallonee.

Mr. M Oglesby, who has been running a general merchandise store in the Wadsworth block on North Tryon street, has sold out to Mr. J C Mallonee. Mr. Oglesby will not leave Charlotte. He is putting his money in Charlotte real estate. He has bought property in rear of Mr. Mallonee's, on Fourth street; also 29 lots in Brooklyn, on which he will build tenement houses, and a lot on North Caldwell street.—Charlotte Observer.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Wheat threshing will next be in order and chickens are aware of the fact that their time is short.

The Sunday School Convention of Gold Hill township will meet Thursday, July 14th, in the Methodist church at Gold Hill. Dr. McNairy will preside. It is the desire of the president that all the schools be present and take part in the exercises. Everybody has a cordial invitation.

Master Craig Stirewalt, who has been suffering greatly from a sore leg, we are glad to say, is much improved.

There will be preaching at Lower Stone next Saturday at 11 a. m., preparatory to the communion which will be celebrated on Sunday.

Rev. Ljerly will assist Rev. Harvey Holshouser in Davidson county in a communion meeting on the fourth Sunday of July.

We were indeed pained to learn of the death of Mr. C C Gall, of Maiden. Mr. Gall is well known in this vicinity, he having lived near Lower Stone a number of years ago. "Peace be to his ashes."

SOLOMON.

"If a newspaper man knew how many 'knocks' he received behind his back, he would adopt another calling," remarked a citizen the other day. The citizen was mistaken. The newspaper man who succeeds expects to be maligned by every law-breaker, swindler and hypocrite and every carping critic who is ignored, and in fact by all persons who do not agree with him on public and private questions. The newspaper man who expects to go through life without being misrepresented and unjustly censured should make arrangements to die young.—Durham Sun.
