JACKSONVILLE LETTER.

Gen. Lee and Col. Bryan Meet—Company L Has a Glee Club—Honorably Discharged Received—Canteens Still Running.

Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, Fla., July 27, 1898.

Camp Cuba Libre and Panama Park are among the prominent camp grounds of Uncle Sam, and they are not without their illustrious patriots—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee and Col. William Jennings Bryan. Last night a grand ovation and public demonstration took place in front of the Windsor Hotel, when Lee received Bryan and reviewed the "Silver Third," or Nebraska troops. A general introduction of Bryan and staff to Lee and staff, the military ordeal and the band concert comprised the ceremonies, and despite the great clamor for Bryan to speak, the famous Nebraskan was heedless.

Lieutenant (Rev.) W G Campbell was the guest of Lieut. L M Arcey and Col. Armfield at N. C. headquarters last night. An aggregation of musicians from the Second Virginia and the N. O. boys furnished music for the occasion.

Company L has organized a glee club and the young men have distinguished themselves throughout the camp for the excellence of their music, both instrumental and vocal. A mandolin, guitar, banjo and violin are the instruments used, and Messrs. J L Watson, J W White, George Bluster, Walter Lupe, J B Alexander, Willie Trice, T J Brown, Marshall Mabrey and Harry Deaton are the mediums.

There are seven members of Co. L in the division hospital, and every patient is rapidly regaining strength. John Lippard, who was critically ill with typhoid fever and measles, is convalescing and will be sent to the company streets before many days.

Martin Parker and Bob Charles are also confined with fever, and James Havel has the mumps. Watson Lowrey, John Pool and Jim Barger are down with measles. George Cox, who had measles, is again at his place in ranks.

Sergeant J W Hamilton, Philip F Hedrick, Cicero Harris and Floyd Sherrill have received their official discharges for disabilities, and will very probably leave for their respective homes today. Watson Lowrey will go home as soon as discharged from the hospital.

Walter L Hess was called to his home in Salisbury yesterday on account of the serious illness of his wife. He is threatened with fever, but was granted a furlough.

The regimental canteens continue to do immense business, catching the odd nickels of the soldiers. The sanction of the United States government for the conducting of such a nuisance among the camps of its subjects is a black eye to civilization and a step backward. The evil results are keenly felt throughout the division. A division of the profits, however, has provided us with a comfortable mess tent and an occasional change of food.

Fort Marion, the oldest fort on the American continent, at St. Augustine, is being aired and renovated for the purpose of occupation, the government having decided to place Spanish prisoners therein, thus giving them a dose of their own medicine. It is likely that the first shipment of prisoners to Florida from Santiago will be made this week. The two North Carolina companies, from Burke county and Tarboro, have the disagreeable job of guarding the fort.

St. Augustine is the most interesting city in the entire South, and at least 12,000 of the 15,000 soldiers encamped here have visited the place, taking in everything from the smallest curiosity shop to the great and grand Ponce de Leon Hotel. The narrow streets of the city with no sidewalks are the "queerest" and quaintest looking spectacles to greet the eye.

Corporal W R Linton has been appointed drill master for the regimental band, and now carries a sword. The job pays $26 per month.

Corporal Brumley and other baseball enthusiasts were badly crippled over the defeat of the invincibles at home by the Pelzer team, on Monday.

The extreme bitterness and hatred existing between the Illinois, Wisconsin and North Carolina regiments has about subsided, the two former regiments having realized that the Tar Heels came out to fight, and fight they will when occasion arises. No more epithets are used and the boys are getting along nicely together.

It is said in military circles that the Seventh Army Corps and a horse's back are alike, because they were not made to go to the front. However that may be, the Santiago-izing affair strikes no terror to the hearts of the men under Lee.

The young Illinois soldier who was shot by Private Lane, of the Shelby company, will recover. He is yet at the division hospital, and is gaining rapidly.

Many of the sergeants of the North Carolina troops were royally entertained several nights ago by the Misses Shine, on Liberty street. Company L was represented by Sergeants Watson, Bainer and Deaton.

The extended order regimental drill in the afternoon has been set aside on account of the intense heat.

It rains every day.

SALISBURY'S FIRE.

The Graded School Building Burned Down—Seems Certain It Was the Work of An Incendiary.

From the Salisbury Sun we see that that town had a $5,000 fire between 1 and 4 o'clock Thursday morning. The building burned was the white graded school building.

There seems to be no doubt but the building was set on fire. Parties living near the building heard some noise which seemed suspicious. Besides, the lamp which was stationed on a corner near there was found near the building. There is no known clue as to the parties.

The building was insured for $4,000 and the furniture for $500. Other property such as the library, organ, etc., was also burned.

The Atlanta Nearly Ready.

The new protected cruiser, Atlanta, at Wilmington, Del., is nearing completion and is expected to be on hand in the fall if Havana has to be bombarded. She is a protected cruiser and is said to be a very fine fighting craft.

CRAWLEY, MORGAN AND BAILEY BREAK CONTRACT.

Concord Must Defeat the Pick of Mt. Island and Pelzer on the Charlotte Diamond This Afternoon.

A special from Charlotte at 2:05 p. m. says that Crawley, Morgan and Baily break contract and play against the Concord team.

Thus Concord has to combat the pick of Mt. Island and Pelzer.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Cases Disposed of Up to This Time—Some Being Sent to the Chain Gang.

State vs Josephine Boger. Submitted to a simple assault. Judgment suspended on payment of the costs.

A nol pros was entered in the case of State vs James Wolfe, accused of forgery.

State vs O E Oprey, Dr. L M Arcey, J C Wadsworth and Geo. L Patterson. Dismissed on payment of the cost of the soi fa and one half the cost in the case. Quite a number of our readers will know of this case. This young man Oprey was drunk and very disorderly on the streets here one Sunday afternoon, and rather than have him lie in jail until court the latter three went on his bond for appearance at court. But Oprey did not stay until court and left his bondsmen holding the bag.

The case of the State vs Mary Moore and Eli Kennedy, for an affray, was dismissed.

State vs Dan Moore. The case was continued on account of the absence of the prosecuting witness. Continued on the recognizance of the defendant.

State vs Lon Morton, larceny. Continued on motion of defendant.

Mrs. C A Thomason vs W J Thomason, action for a divorce. Divorce granted the plaintiff.

Father of Twenty-Two Children.

Quite a number of people will be surprised and will doubt the statement, when we say that there is a man in our town who is the father of 22 children, but that man is now living at Forest Hill and will in a few weeks move to Albemarle, where his family will be employed in the new mills there. The gentleman referred to is Mr. Wm. E Furr. He has been married twice. The first time he married a Miss Furr, of Stanly county, who was distantly related to him. He became the father of 13 children by his first wife. She afterwards died, and he then married Miss Elizabeth Dunn, of Union county. By his second wife he became the father of 9 more children, which made his total number of children 22. The youngest one of his children is now six years old. Mr. Furr has reached the age of 66 years, while his wife is 49 years old. Seventeen of his children only are now living—one in Texas, two in Arkansas, and the remaining number, he says, are scattered over Cabarrus and Stanly counties. Mr. Furr, we think, can boast of being the father of the largest family in Cabarrus county.
