IN MEMORIAM.

Resolutions of Respect to Mrs. T. Chapman.

The Benevolent Society and the Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church held a meeting on last Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. J F Goodson and attested their appreciation of Mrs. Truman Chapman by the following resolutions of respect to her memory:

Whereas, Mrs. Truman Chapman has departed this life and her presence is no longer with us, therefore we resolve,

1st, That in her death we deplore the loss of a faithful member, one who responded to every demand for assistance in the work of these societies, and whose piety, ever modestly manifested, renders her an example worthy of imitation and of fond remembrance.

2nd, That we acknowledge the goodness of our Heavenly Father in granting her length of days; in making her meet for the inheritance of the saints in light and calling her at the end of her pilgrimage to enter through the gates into the city.

3rd, That we tender sympathy to her relatives in this hour of bereavement; that we devote a page in the minutes of each society to her memory and furnish a copy of these resolutions to the Concord Standard for publication.

COMMITTEE.

Mrs. G M Lore,

Concord Deserves It.

A correspondent from Blowing Rock to the Charlotte Observer in speaking of Miss Nannie Cannon of this place, has the following just compliment about her:

"As to who is the belle among this brilliant coterie of women is a mooted question, but it probably lies between Miss Blanche Weaver, of Asheville, and Miss Cannon, of Concord."

Manila Surrendered.

There is no longer any doubt that Manila has fallen, though there is no direct official account. The bombardment of the city began at 9.30 Saturday morning and the white flag was run up at 11.30. The Americans made it a point to only attack fortifications and the city, therefore, suffered little damage. After some silencing of batteries the troops, both Americans and natives, assaulted the thin lines of the discouraged Spaniards and the resistance was feeble.

The losses were probably very light on both sides.

THE CORBETT TRAGEDY.

The Pugilist's Father Kills Himself and Wife.

R J Corbett, the father of the pugilist, committed the double tragedy Tuesday morning at his home in San Francisco of shooting his wife and then himself. Both died almost instantly.

He was in bad health and there is no surmise than that he was demented. It has completely unnerved the pugilist.

Somewhat of a Heroine.

Spring street can boast of a heroine. Tuesday a gentleman was cleaning out his well and by some means let some kind of a stick drop into the well. He commenced worrying about getting it out, and his daughter, rather than see him discontented, had her father to let her down in the well, and she succeeded in taking out the piece of wood. Later while trying to clean out the well thoroughly, his daughter again descended and would fill the bucket, there not being enough water in the well to sink the bucket. Now we are told not to mention any names, but this young lady deserves some praise, for the well is a tolerably deep one. Who can beat it?
