CONCORD, N. C. FRIDAY, AUGUST 26 1898

WHOLE No 11776

RESIGNATION TENDERED

Superintendent Frank Robbins, of the Odell Mills, Resigns to Accept a Position at Goldsboro—It is Now Superintendent Coble.

It will be a surprise to our readers and all of his friends will be sorry to know that Mr. Frank Robbins, who for several years has been superintendent of the Odell Cotton Mills, has tendered his resignation, taking effect at once.

Mr. Robbins has accepted the position of superintendent of some mills at Goldsboro. We regret to know of this, as this means that Concord loses Mr. Robbins and wife.

It is now no more Mr. "Bob" Coble, but Superintendent Coble. We congratulate Mr. Coble on securing this position, which is worthy of attainment for anyone.

Editor Chas. Craven Sells Out.

The Stanly Enterprise, which for several months has been published at Albemarle by our former townsman, Mr. Chas. Craven, has again changed hands. Mr. Craven sold his interest to Mr. J D Bivins, who was once editor of that paper, and who has had several years experience as a printer. Mr. Craven is yet undecided as to what business he will follow but will very probably return to his home at Union Springs, Ala., soon.

Land Improvement Company.

Thursday night the Second New York regiment passed through here. On their car was written very plainly the words "Land Improvement Company." When asked why they were travelling under such a head, one of them said that they had done nothing but dig up stumps and clean off camp grounds since they left their home in New York.

Wants Them Again.

Some time ago Billy Weddington and Richmond Reid went to Elkin and played for their team against Longtown, in a game of base ball. Elkin that time won the game off of the strong opponent. They are going to cross bats again and have written for our battery. The date at this time is not definitely fixed.

K. of P. Notice.

Concord Lodge, No. 51, K. of P., regular convention tonight at 8.00. Brethren urged to assemble promptly.

Note of Thanks.

Our hearts go out in deep gratitude to the many friends who have shown their love and sympathy for us in our great bereavement. We sincerely thank you, each and every one. Respectfully,

MR. AND MRS. J. M. ALEXANDER

A Good Investment.

A negro whose life was insured for five thousand dollars died here Saturday of fever. He took out the policy two or three years ago, making his sister the beneficiary. Her husband has paid the premiums for a year or more and considers it a good investment.—Greensboro Record of 24th.

THE INSTITUTE.

The Work of Thursday—Closing Period a Love Feast—Thanks From the Teachers.

Thursday morning after prayer by Rev. Arnold Prof. Sharpe dwelt on interest as a requisite for successful school work and claimed that the child will take great interest in the study of context.

Prof. Joyner followed on Literature. He impressed the beauty and richness of good literature, also its great value in an education. We first live in a world of feeling and fancy. Our emotional nature is developed largely by fancy rather than fact. He would lead the child by fairy tales, myths and historical novels through the stages of its development to the stages for receiving the sterner facts.

The speaker urged the cultivation in childhood of a taste for literature, lest a fondness for reading be never gained. Beside good prose the speaker finds in good poetry a great stimulus to literature. Poetry is the most natural expression of the emotional nature, springing as it does from the soul. More time and attention should be bestowed on it.

Prof. Sharpe then treated that great topic of School Discipline. Obedience, said the speaker, is a habit to be cultivated. The teacher should be judicious in making commands and firm in having them obeyed. Rewards, he thinks, are fundamentally wrong and should be given sparingly. Plenty of work is the best safeguard for discipline.

Prof. Joyner closed the morning session with further remarks on Literature. The emotional in man is the index to character, said the speaker. Literature touches it into beauty and loveliness.

After noon Prof. Sharpe treated school punishment. Punishment, said the speaker, is of three kinds, retributive, exemplary and reformatory. The State exercises the first two, but the school should punish only from motives of reformation. Prof. Joyner then in most impressive measures appealed to the teachers for a full realization of the dignity, the responsibility and the opportunities lying in the path of the teacher.

The closing moments were then improved by remarks by Supervisor Ludwig and Chairman of the County Board of Education Rev. C B Miller. The teachers then expressed their appreciation of the excellent services of Prof. Joyner and Prof. Sharpe, and the institute closed in a kind of love feast.

We are glad to have had these amiable gentlemen with us and hope their stay with us will bear even richer fruits in the progress of educational work than the very pleasant external manifestations would even warrant.

How She Bore It.

A young widow put up a costly monument to her late husband and inscribed upon it: "My grief is so great that I cannot bear it." A year or so later, however, she married again, and feeling a little awkwardness about the inscription, she solved the difficulty by adding one word to it—"alone."—Exchange.

LIGHTNING STRIKES A BARN.

Mr. Henry Graeber Loses Heavily in the Electric Storm Thursday Evening.

We are informed that during the rain Thursday evening Mr. Henry Graeber's barn was struck by lightning and burned and from it two smaller barns near caught and burned also. A good substantial hog pen stood near that contained some hogs. These were burned, together with 300 bushels of the small grain, his vehicles and valuable farming implements. All the family we learn were away except one son, who it seems saved the horses.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

—Mr. Jno. Miller is spending several days in Rowan county visiting his relatives.
