THREE EMINENT DOCTORS DIFFER.

Things take very singular shape and trend sometimes. In discussing the great financial problems, the gold standard element declared plainly that it did not believe that the United States could adopt free coinage of silver and maintain a parity, or quality, in value of all dollars, be they gold, silver or paper, in the face of the fact that all the leading commercial nations have regulated their finances by the gold standard. Over against this the strongest minds of the free coinage persuasion declared their belief that the United States could make a financial system of their own, and wherein it clashed with international commercial regulations the latter would be revised to suit our system or submit to the inconvenience without any care of ours. It almost compromised our national pride to doubt our ability to dictate to the world a system of finances or to spanish the world if not submissive. Of course Hon. William J Bryan was the captain of the host of this persuasion, while President McKinley was the central figure of the opposite persuasion. Now on the question of national expansion or control of the islands falling to us as a result of the late war, Mr. Bryan is afraid that the government is about to introduce into its vitals imperialistic poison that will work its dissolution, while Mr. McKinley says it is a goodly land and "we are well able to overcome it." Much of the burden of his speeches in the South is to the effect that we ought to meet them, and that we can and must give the people good government from their own or from our hands in place of the wicked Spanish rule which we have destroyed and from which we have delivered these oppressed people.

It is peculiar that the positions seem to reverse and that eminent doctors seem to differ so materially.

ADULTERATED FOODS.

The North Carolina Experiment Station is making extensive analyses of foods found in the markets of the State. The last bulletin treats of vinegars which seem to be the most adulterated article on the market. Of twenty samples only one was pure apple vinegar. Thirteen compared favorably in acetic acid.

It seems that the adulterations found are not of the worst kind, sometimes found namely, arsenic, copper, lead and zinc, yet they are adulterations and the buyer is imposed upon. Manufacturers of pure vinegars can not compete in the prices.

The laws of 1895 are explicit and strong and seem to lack execution only. Prof. Withers says:

"In view of the large number of analysis made in various parts of the United States and the laws enacted by many States, the following requirements seem to us not to be at all unjust:

(1) That all vinegars shall contain not less than four per cent. by weight of absolute acetic acid, and must contain no lead, copper, mineral acids or a tificial coloring matter.

(2) That all vinegars must be branded with the name of the fruit or substance from which it is made, together with the name and address of the manufacturer.

(3) Cider vinegar shall not contain less than 1 3/4 per cent. by weight of cider vinegar solids."

These analyses, it seems to us, should lead to a crusade against adulterated foods and if there is anything lacking in the law it should be supplied.

ONE STEP BEGETS ANOTHER.

President McKinley's magnanimous sentiment with regard to the nation's helping to care for Confederate graves as for the Federal graves led Representative Rixey, of Virginia, to offer a bill in congress to open national soldier's homes and like institutions to all maimed, crippled and needy American soldiers and sailors of the civil war of '61-'65 without questioning on which side they served. It seems a second long stride in a course begotten by the South's gallantry in the late war and if it is not turned, which it is likely to be, will most probably be followed by a proposition to place Confederates on the government pension list where the magnanimity is sure to stop. Should it lead to a pension agitation that would make the present enormous sum the climax from which rapid strides in pension reform might be effected, it would be all for which the South would ask. It is not so much of favors that southern heroes want as freedom from burdens to sustain the parasites that swell the fund to at least three times its legitimate proportions.

We call the attention of our readers to the fact that we have never authorized the payment of money for THE STANDARD to the little carriers. Our collector, Colon Alred, carries our bills and of course receipts for the same. If at any time patrons find it especially to their liking hand a boy a sum for us they should require a receipted bill from us promptly delivered by the boy. We can give no credit for money paid to irresponsible parties and which never reaches us at all. Mr. J H Ragan is now in the field as soliciting agent and will duly receipt for all moneys paid in advance.

Mr. A C Thomas, of Marysville Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at P B Fetzler's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.
