The delay at the mines is now overcome and I have four cars which have been delayed in transit. The railroad superintendent now assures me that he will AT ONCE rush the cars to their destination, so I hope to be able to supply the trade in a very few days.
The delay on my part has been wholly unavoidable and I thank the people for

The Teacher's Relation to Parents of Her School.

A teacher may be very learned and apt to teach and yet fail in her town. It is important that she should possess and carefully cultivate those social qualities which increase her usefulness.

When she goes to a place she should make it her duty to excite a deeper interest among the patrons of her school than they have ever felt before. She should try to have them cooperate with her and sus-tain her judicious efforts for good.
She should strive to let them see that she is alive to the interests of their children.

To do this the teacher should seek intercourse with the parents. She should be willing to explain all her plans to the parents of her pupils.

The best way for the teacher to interest them in the business of education will be to converse with them concerning the measures she intends to adopt.

Many a parent upon the first announcement of a measure in school has stoutly opposed it, who after a little explanatory conversation with the teacher, would have a different opinion, and would be ready to support the teacher's measures.

When visitors come in, the teacher should go on with her regular work, and in this way exhibit the school just as it is.

The hardest thing for a teacher to do is to be frank in all her representations to parents concerning their children. In this, as in every other case, "Honesty is the Best Policy." She should tell the whole story plainly and frankly. Justice to pupils, parents and teachers requires a plain statement of facts. The parent has a right to know how his or her child is progressing and the teacher has no right to conceal the truth.

A teacher should strive to acquire the ability to converse in an easy and agreeable manner, so that her society shall never be tiresome. She should cultivate tact both in dealing with her pupils and with their parents. Modesty is a great virtue in a teacher, especially in her intercourse with people.

Teachers are apt to think that parents will co-operate with them and sustain them. But we have found to our sorrow that parents do not always feel as much interested as they should.

It is the teacher's duty to excite their interest and win them to her aid by all proper means in her power.

By doing this she will, in the most effectual way, secure the progress of her school, and at the same time advance her own personal improvement. MARY E DODSON.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. To test it, a trial size for 10 cents or the large, for 50 cents, is mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. Druggists keep it. A remedy for Nasal Catarrh which is drying or exciting to the diseased membrane should not be used. Cream Balm is recognized as a specific.

Robbed the Grave

A startling incident of which Mr.
John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition.
My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—kept on gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the other victim." No one should fail to try them Only 50 cents per bottle
