A Permanent Educational Institution for Concord.

Rev. J H Lippard, through the agitation of this subject, by a number of leading citizens, has become much interested in the great need and splendid possibility of such an institution here. He believes that we should have, and can have with earnest effort, as good advantages here for higher education, as any other part of the country. Mr. Lippard feels almost persuaded to say that if the people will unite their energies and erect suitable buildings for such an institution, that he would personally solicit an endowment fund North and give his best energies in building up and directing a permanent Educational Institution here, which should be the pride of the city, and a perpetual blessing to rising generations.

Mr. Lippard has visited, with interest, the school work of Mr. Thompson and thinks sufficient inducements should be offered, if possible, to secure him in the permanent work. He also feels to congratulate the people in securing the splendid services of Supt. Coler and his estimable wife for the graded school work.

MARRIAGE FORETOLD

By the Scribe in Those Parts—An Old College Landmark Gone.

Misses Pearle Randleman, Anna Cable and Carrie Cruse, of the Seminary, spent a short time with Mrs. Will Barringer, a few miles out in the country.

R L McAllister, of our town, who has been in the brick business for some time in Albemarle, came home Tuesday.

The first thunder shower of the year passed over Mt. Pleasant Tuesday evening. Some hail fell with the rain.

The old walnut tree which stood below the Pi-Sigma-Phi hall on the college campus, has at last succumbed to the hand of the despoiler. It had become decayed, and was set on fire Friday evening by some of the students. Many of the old students will remember this old landmark.

Thursday evening, on North Main street, at the home of her father, Capt. Jonas Cook, Miss Leah Cook, one of Mt. Pleasant's most popular young ladies, will be married to Mr. Chas. D Cobb, an alumnus of N. C. College of the class of '95. The marriage ceremony will be performed by Rev. J A Lynn, a few minutes after 4 o'clock. The happy couple will leave immediately for McLeansville, N. C., the home of the groom. Mr. Cobb has been engaged in teaching at that place ever since his graduation in '95. May a long life full of joy, happiness and contentment be granted these young people.

CONFINED TO JAIL.

A Warrant Taken Out Against a Tobacco Peddler, Accusing Him of Assault With Intent to Rape—To Be Tried This Term of Court.

Eq. A W Moose, of Mt. Pleasant, sat on a case Tuesday afternoon, where a white man, W C Martin, a tobacco peddler, was brought before him on the charge of attempting an assault on Mrs. Shoe, the wife of Haines Shoe, in No. 7 township.

The case, as given to us by Eq. Moose on the telephone, as quickly as the news was brought to us, was such that he deemed it necessary to be tried by the courts, and the man was brought here to jail by an officer Tuesday night. While the case is not an aggravated one, yet the evidence given on trial by Mrs. Shoe shows bad conduct on the part of this tobacco peddler from Virginia.

His guilt is yet to be seen as the case will be tried yet during this term of court.

The accused assault took place about 12 o'clock Tuesday and the man was tried as quickly as could be caught.

The Way it Goes.

On Tuesday of last week, on the Wilkes side of the Caldwell and Wilkes line, the lifeless body of J D Andrews, a son of Mr. James Andrews, was found in a ditch about 200 yards from his father's house. He was a young man just about grown and lived with his parents and on Saturday evening had gone to a distillery nearby, where he remained till about 11 o'clock at night, when he started home somewhat under the influence of whiskey. One of the attendants at the distillery went with him a short distance to where he had to cross a creek on a foot-way. This was the last seen of him till his lifeless form was found on Tuesday morning in a ditch into which he had fallen while trying to make his way in the darkness to his home.—Lenoir Topic.
