CONCORD, N. C., MARCH 22, 1899.

GIVE US MEN LIKE OSBORNE.

The Newbern Journal is strong in praise of State Senator Osborne and suggests him for United States Senator in 1902. We are with the Journal in admiration for Mr. Osborne. We think his position from his standpoint on that dispensary fight was unobjectionable, even admirable, and to cast him aside, as some would advocate, would mean to fill the place with a man less stable and less worthy of confidence in adherence to pledges made. In fact we think Senator Osborne did more in that one act to raise the value of campaign pledges in the State than any single instance that has transpired within our knowledge. Henceforth when it is charged that men in office forget their pledges Frank Osborne will stand on a high pinnacle of reputation and will be easily pointed out.

"One day literary butterflies" as a measuring up of mediocre literature is surely due to the inventing genius of the Charlotte Observer man.

The Asheville Gazette in telling of its progress says it has doubts about the policy of expansion of the country but it has none about expanding itself. Its contemporaries all harmonize with the Gazette in this thing of self expansion.

John Sherman Not Dead.

The evening papers fortunate enough to be able to take the press dispatches, but unfortunate enough in this case, announced the death of ex-Secretary of State John Sherman on Tuesday. Mr. Sherman himself bears testimony that the announcement is premature and the best of hopes are held out that the veteran Statesman is about to recover. There's no accounting for the way the report got started.

A. R. De Fluvent, editor of the Journal, Doylestown, Ohio, suffered for a number of years from rheumatism in his right shoulder and side. He says: "My right arm at time was entirely useless. I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and was surprised to receive relief almost immediately. The Pain Balm has been a constant companion of mine ever since and it never fails." For sale by M. L. Marsh & Co.

The Yadkin Hurts a Dam.

The Yadkin river has been in high dudgeon since the rains of Saturday night. It broke out 60 feet of a solid masonry dam at Oak Ridge with a thunder tone that waked people a mile away. This dam is said to have been built not later than 1820, and probably was even there when Lord Cornwallis camped at this mill February 1st, 1781, a month before he turned Greene at Guilford Court House.

NEW NATIONAL HYMN.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of pensions free—
Of the I sing!
Land where war told the tale;
Land where the beef was stale;
Land where war generals rail
Like anything!

O bear me rise and shout:
'Thank heaven, I'm mustered out!' (That's what I sing!)
Fighting on sea and shore
Ever for me is o're;
Bullets and beef no more!
(That's what I sing!)
—Southport Standard.

The Stanly and Wilkes Bonds.

The controversy over the Stanly and Wilkes county bonds has been attended with the utmost plying of legal acumen. The Superior courts and the Supreme court of the State decided these bonds invalid. The Federal District court, however, holds that the bonds are valid. The defendants having applied for a decision from the United States Supreme court are answered that no Federal question is involved and therefore it has no jurisdiction. The Federal District court has jurisdiction, however, and, having precedence over the Supreme court of the State, the prospects are that the bonds will stand as valid.

Capt. Price, of Salisbury, being interviewed said: "There is no question now that the bonds in all the cases will be declared valid." The Wilkes bond case will be tried before Judge Purcell next week in Greensboro.

Newspaper men are in great force when candidates seek office and when campaigns are on, but some how they are not specially popular with men in office. Look at the conduct of the legislators now in the matters of libel. A bill was introduced to give newspapers a fair showing and what came of it? Newspapers have more to do in making the reputation of most politicians, office holders and seekers, than these men have been able to do for themselves. Many a reputation has been made by the active urgency of men of the Faber. Unfortunately said reputation has not been always wisely and justly made.—Wilmington Messenger.

In all stages of Nasal Catarrh there should be cleanliness. As experience proves Ely's Cream Balm is a cleanser, soother and healer of the diseased membrane. It is not drying or irritating, and does not produce sneezing. To test it a trial size is mailed for 10 cents or the large size for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. Druggists keep it. Upon being placed into the nostrils it spreads over the membrane and relief is immediate. It is an agreeable cure.

A few years ago the night watchman at the depot in Statesville was murdered. Suspicion pointed to Bill Hampton, colored, who disappeared soon after the murder and has never been seen since. Last week a young Statesville man residing in Atlanta, recognized Hampton in a company of colored soldiers passing through Atlanta going to Huntsville, Ala., to be mustered out. The police were notified and it is thought Hampton will be apprehended in a few days.—Winston Journal.

If troubled with rheumatism, give Chamberlain's Pain-Balm a trial. It will not cost you a cent if it does no good. One application will relieve the pain. It also cures sprains and bruises in one-third the time required by any other treatment. Cuts, burns, frostbites, quinsy, pains in the side and chest, glandular and other swellings are quickly cured by applying it. Every bottle warranted. Price, 25 and 50 cents.—M. L. Marsh & Co.

As Good as a High Priced Show.

John H. Sparks' big 25c. show at Concord, March 30. See what the Daily Hot Blast, of Anniston, Ala., says:

"John H. Sparks' Shows came in yesterday and pitched their tents near the City Hall. The show is 10 and 25 cents in price but at least 50 cents in quality, and those who witnessed the performance yesterday and last night were highly pleased. They have five of the funniest sorts of clowns, fine tumblers, trapeze artists, contortionists, wire walkers, leapers, vaulters, both male and female. Also trick mules, ponies, dogs, monkeys and a cute little elephant all very highly educated and very interesting, besides a great many other features usually seen—but not better—in a high priced show. The balloon ascension and parachute jump was a grand thrilling sight."

A Negro Jailed for Larceny.

Ernest Partee, a negro, was arrested Tuesday, having been charged with stealing some wheat from Mr. R. O. S. Miller. His trial was held today (Wednesday) and in default of a $50 bond he was carried to jail to await court. Three other negroes are thought to be implicated in the affair and will very probably have to answer if they are captured. Mr. Morrison Caldwell appeared for the defendant on trial.

Mr. M. B. Phifer Dead.

The news has reached us of the death of Mr. M. B. Phifer, who died some days ago at his home near Cleveland, in Rowan county. Mr. Phifer died of consumption.

Quite a number of our people remember Mr. Phifer, he having been a freight clerk at the depot here some years ago. During his stay here he boarded at the home of Mr. D. P. Dayvault.

When Mr. Hearst, of the New York Journal, wants anything he goes for it and gets it. He has just leased a telegraph wire from New York to San Francisco, and now he can sit in his New York office and talk to his boys in his San Francisco office. Mr. Hearst has a good deal of fun running newspapers.—Wilmington Star.

They Took Up the White Man's Burden.

Coming down Third street this morning, says the Abilene, Kan., Reflector, one could see five women shoveling the snow from the walks in front of five houses. Their husbands were down town sitting around the stoves discussing "The White Man's Burden."

CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
