CONCORD, N. C., MAY 3, 1899.

HO FOR CHARLESTON.

We are now approaching close to the period of probably the grandest, and certainly to many of the Confederate Veterans of Cabarrus, the most interesting of all the reunions. There is a nearness of feeling toward Charleston and a degree of interest in the reunion there next week that never attached to any former reunion.

Beside there is a deeply imbedded sense of certainty that it is with many the last of these great occasions. The time is fast approaching, and is here with many now, when the splendid manhood that could resist the vicissitudes of weather and climate and undergo hardships more than the beasts of the field, amid the stirring events that we celebrate, must yield to the decline of that physical strength necessary to the enjoyment of these occasions.

Those who purpose to take in this splendid occasion (and we wish it embraced all honorable veterans) would do well to fortify for it. The danger of sickness may be largely averted by wise precaution. The change of water is probably the most prolific source of sickness. It is best to drink very little water. Meals should be eaten at as regular meal times as possible and it is best to abstain from cakes, candies, and all dainties as well as peanuts and cheese and crackers, all of which tend to increase thirst and produce a languid feeling if nothing worse. Coffee drinkers should have their coffee. Lemonade, if not too sweet, is good. It is better to buy a good whole-some drink at a soda fountain than to drink much water, so apt to be attended with bad results. We know of no tendency so unwise as that of some who make these occasions a time to indulge in alcoholic drinks. It is useless to spend money to take a nice trip if we render ourselves incapable of the highest enjoyment by blunting all the finer senses with liquor.

Beside, on that occasion, we shall march under the beautiful banner so largely given us by the patriotic women, the Dodson Ramseur Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy; and even more, we shall march under the venerated flag of the Eighth Regiment, the only flag now in the county, that waved proudly on the bloody battle fields. But still more and above all, fellow veterans, we are a class eminently the custodians of the worthy name we bear. Let us not cast a stigma on the fair name "veteran" by any irregular conduct, or rob ourselves of the highest enjoyment of this occasion by any sensual indulgence. It is a proud name we bear and a cause very dear to every Southern heart.

These endearments we should strive to keep fresh in our own generation and hand them down to our successors with all the glory to Southern chivalry that the stars and bars typified when it told of the hosts of Lee, Jackson, the Johnstons, the Hills, the Gordons, Hoke, Ramseur and the whole array, than whom no nation can boast a more brilliant roll.

There is glory in the memories we mean to refresh. There is strength and good cheer in the scenes and the social greetings of comrades. But let every one remember that the benefits of the occasion depend chiefly on the cheerful submission to unavoidable evils and the manliness to contribute an individual part to the success of the occasion rather than to expect too much sacrifice and attention from others for our individual benefit.

THE NEGRO'S MISSION.

Bishop Henry M. Turner, colored, of Athens, Ga., thinks the negro was brought to America by divine will and that race prejudice will affect the same divine will in causing the negro to return to Africa, where he will affect the civilization of the race there. It seems quite a plausible view, and the apparent slowness of the unfolding of the great plan may be accounted for in the fact that it is necessary for the race to undergo the eradication, through many successive generations, of the tendency to barbarism into which it would relapse if effected prematurely. It is a metaphysical law that it takes a long line of successive generations to thoroughly change the appearance and the tendencies of a race.

Editor R. R. Clark, of the Landmark, was elected mayor of Statesville Monday. The Landmark will doubtless be in harmony with the municipal government of that town and will have a cinch on the news. Judging from the excellence of that journal there will be good reports to make from the city fathers and they will be well made. There is something novel, however, in the combination of mayor and editor, but the Statesville man is doubtless as good a subject for the combination as could be found.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Will Probably Accept the Call.

At a meeting of the Session of the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon, Rev. Cochran Preston, of Bristol, Tenn., was called to take charge of the field recently vacated by Mr. Rankin. Mr. Preston is a young married man and was a class mate of Mr. Rankin in the Seminary. He has been in charge of the Second Presbyterian church of Bristol for two years, where he has done good work. A letter from Mr. Preston today signifies his acceptance of the call. So that, if his Presbytery dismisses him, he may be expected in Concord at an early date.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood the severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at P. B. Fetzler's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.
