STOCKMEN BUSY.

Final Session of Dairymen Intensely Interesting—Swine Breeders Association Reorganized.

The exercises of the State Dairymen's Association was of absorbing interest on Wednesday afternoon.

Prof. Emery completed some milk tests and then dwelt on the merits of the two machines exhibited in the forenoon.

It is very important that cows be tested so that those can be discarded from the dairy that neutralize the profits of the better cows. The separator too, has revolutionized the business. It should be introduced as rapidly as possible.

He then gave some very important practical lessons on the treatment of the cow before and after coming into the milking stage. The cow should be dry from three to six weeks and receive special care and diet. When the cow does not go dry at all the results of the best milking period will not be so good. It is sometimes best to employ a veterinary surgeon when parturition is not followed with good conditions.

He said that a good test of fitness of milk for use is to bring the milk to a boil. If unfit the milk will coagulate or curdle. It does not the milk is good. This is usually after about the fifth or sixth milking. People often waste good milk by a morbid fear that it is not yet fit for use.

At this period the dairymen gave way for the enrollment and reorganization of the North Carolina Swine Breeders Association.

Eleven new members were enrolled and the association went into the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Prof. J M Johnson, of Raleigh; Vice-President, Mr. C C Moore, of Mecklenburg; Secretary and Treasurer, Prof. F E Emery, of Raleigh. The existing directors whose terms of office expire in one year from now are: Messrs. W E Benlow, W P Batchelor, T C Robinson, of Raleigh. Those elected for the two-year term are: Messrs. R V Caldwell, C W Swink, of Cabarrus, and W M Barringer, of Mecklenburg. Those for the three-year term are: Messrs. G T Crowell, W L Morris, of Cabarrus, and T B Guatier, of Mecklenburg.

The association decided to offer a premium to its members of $5 for the best boar one year old and the same for the best sow of same age exhibited at the next State fair. It also offered 25 cents apiece for each pig of the largest litter bred by any member within the next year from a pure strain of stock.

Mr. W L Morris consented to prepare a treatise for the next annual meeting of the association on the subject of the proper care and treatment of the brood sow.

The dairymen then resumed

The Greensboro Boys Are Here.

The boys from Guilford came in this morning to battle with our team in a series of games this week. They come this time better equipped than when last they were here. They are tugging against our boys this afternoon at the grounds.

The following is their line-up: Hood c, Jno. Fox 2b, Jim Fox ss, Watson 1b, V Glenn 3b, Glasscock lf, Morton cf, Ingram p, Gleen Erf, with Catchfield as a substitute, together with Crawford, who was expected this afternoon or will be here tomorrow for the game. The team is under the management of Mr. Frank Thornton, who has acted in that capacity before here.

Our boys went on the diamond this afternoon without Graves, Force and Rogers of its regular team but nevertheless think they can handle the Guilford boys.
