ADDRESS ON EDUCATION.

Rev. Prof. Durham Declares None Complete Without Christianity--Wrong Motives Exposed--True End Defined--Trinity Ideal--Encomiums for Dr. Kilgo.

Rev. Plato Durham conducted the services at Central M. E. church on Sunday morning as announced, filling the place of the sermon with an address on Christian Education.

He took strong ground against some popular errors with regard to educating the young. He said it was surprising how many people are actuated by wrong or secondary motives in educating their children.

He inveighed against the idea of educating as a financial investment or as an accomplishment, not that an education is undesirable from either standpoint but that both failed to come up to the true conception of education. Education he claimed is for the purpose of assimilating man with the Infinite Being in whose image he is created. He denied that he is really educated, no matter how well learned, who is deficient in morals, in god-like aspirations, in will to do the right. There is not a circular line of demarcation in man's being, inside of which is his religious and outside of which is his intellectual self. The mind of man is a part of the soul said the speaker. The mind in intellectual development is able to think but without the true education of the soul through the gospel man is without aspirations to a noble life and a will to attain to the goal of such aspiration.

True education, said the speaker, is culture of every faculty of the soul. Christianity is imperfect and but a partial development without culture of the mind.

As true education is a development of the image of God in man, the speaker referred to the burden of the Saviour in behalf of the world as a model to man's life. The exercise of true or Christian education the speaker conceived to be service to the world. It is the business of the educated to blaze the way to the lofty, the noble, the divine heights for which man's best endowments fit him. He perceived a world calling to be led up these heights while so many for lack of education could not respond. Having defined Christian education Prof. Durham held up Trinity college as his ideal at which to obtain this education. He claimed a faculty second to none in the South, sustained through the good fortune of a good large endowment.

He bestowed some eloquent encomiums on Dr. Kilgo, president of the college, that seemed to the writer admirable in their spirit of loyalty, and timely as coming from one so loyal to one who but recently was the subject of criticisms that the speaker evidently regarded as grossly unjust. He claimed that Methodists should be proud of Trinity college and thankful that Dr. Kilgo is at its head. We think Prof. Durham's address took well and was calculated to do much good.

To the writer's mind there was more than an ordinary college speech in his manner of reading hymns. To enter into the spirit of the poem and to bring out its full meaning an inspiration is an accomplishment as rare as its lack is lamentable, and, we are tempted to say, inexcusable.

THE KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

They Hold Their Grand Lodge Meeting Here Wednesday--Over Fifty Members Expected Here.

Concord will on Wednesday be the rendezvous of the representatives of the lodges of Knights of Honor of our State, this being the time of meeting of the Grand Lodge. This Grand Lodge meets every two years, this being the ninth biennial and thirteenth session.

It is expected that fifty or sixty persons will be in attendance and when not in their hall transacting the necessary business they will take a look at Concord and its different business enterprises.

Mr. Norman Shaw, who has spent some time here, will be on hand and will preside over the meetings, his title being Grand Dictator. Dr. L. A. Bikle, of Kings Mountain, is Grand Prelate. The Finance Committee, Grand Treasurer, and Grand Reporter, will be here on Tuesday to examine the books and accounts of the Grand Reporter and Grand Treasurer. Hon. Theo. F. Klutz, of Salisbury, who is the Grand Representative, will also be on hand.

The representatives will arrive on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and will be quartered at the hotel.

Bethpage News.

The communion meeting of Bethpage will commence on Friday and continue till Sunday. Rev. William W. Pharr, of Mooresville, is to assist Rev. J. F. Pharr.

Mr. Jacob Stirewalt, of Statesville, is visiting at Mr. John Rankin's.

The communion meeting of Gillwood will commence Friday, the 18th of this month. Rev. R. L. Arrowood is to assist Rev. J. F. Pharr.

Misses Sallie and Minnie Alexander, of near Salisbury, are visiting relatives in this section.

The little babe of Mr. Vic Honeycutt died Sunday morning and was buried the same day at 4 o'clock at New Bethpage. Rev. J. F. Pharr preached the funeral.

The East and West Together.

Today in Charlotte the Concord team, which now boasts as the champion team of the West, meets face to face the Tarboro boys, who equally claim the championship of Eastern Carolina in baseball. Our boys play them today and tomorrow at Latta Park.

The Bell Telephone company will give the result of the game as fast as it is played and the same will be bulletined in front of the hotel.

THE COMMISSIONERS ROOM.

The Affairs of the County Being Looked After--The Iron Bridge Question.

The county commissioners, Messrs. Jno. P. Allison, M. F. Nesbit and Jno. S. Turner began their monthly meeting today (Monday). As is always the case the indigent must be paid first, which necessitates a good amount of time.

Sam Talley, a negro, was admitted to the county home.

It was ordered by the Board that the clerk notify W. Ed. Harris, supervisor of roads in No. 1 township, to come before them at their next meeting and show cause why the old Camden road in No. 1 township at the 13-mile post has been neglected.

Mr. H. M. Brady, on the part of the King Iron Bridge Co., who for some time has been overseeing the work of taking out the old iron bridge from Rocky river at Black's mill presented a bill of $75, which was ordered paid. This same company submitted a proposition for their consideration for taking the best parts of the old bridge and making a one-span bridge across Buffalo creek at Brafford's mill.

BELL, HARRIS AND COMPANY,
Sole Agents.

During the civil war, as well as in our late war with Spain, diarrhoea was one of the most troublesome diseases the army had to contend with. In many instances it became chronic and the old soldiers still suffer from it. Mr. David Taylor, of Wind Ridge, Greene county, Pa., is one of these. He uses Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and says he never found anything that would give him such quick relief. It is for sale by M. L. Marsh & Co., Druggist.
