TARBORO 6—CONCORD 1.

Our Team Compelled to Give Up the Game to the Easterners—An Over the Fence Ball Scores Three Runs—Mangum Held Them Down.

Tarboro three, Concord 1—this is the result of the series of games we have had with the boys from the East. Once we beat them, once we gave them a hard fight but the last time we went down with the result of the headlines.

On account of Rodgers not staying on the team, Lattimer, who had been down as a substitute, went in the game. The game was umpired by Williamson Morris.

Kenna's balls were more easy to hit Friday than the day before—he used his arm less and head more. In the first inning Card and LeGrande were left on bases. By an error Luskey made to first. Kenna's fly was caught by Lattimer and the ball sent hurriedly home just too late to keep Meade from scoring in the firstinning. In the secondinning we failed to make anything but ciphers. Phillips, who proved the finest on the team that afternoon, knocked an over-the-fence ball. This put our boys on their toes to think we were 0 to 2. By steady playing "side-up" at last came leaving Brake on the base.

In the third Card opened the game for us and did something that no other man on the team was able to do—he scored. A nice play was made when Lusky knocked to Lambeth, who landed it over into LeGrand's left hand, putting out Meade at second. This inning was unscorable for the visitors. In the fourth Withers scored on Lambert's deep centre field fly but Lambert died on the base.

In the fifth we met our fate when that same Phillips repeated his act of the second inning by raising the ball over the fence when Kenna and Fenner were on the bases, making three runs in one inning. This is the end of the score and it was unnecessary for further playing. Even Brake and Withers were on bases when the side went out.

Within six inches, the distance between Reed's fingers and the home plate, we scored in the sixth. It was hard to think of so near and yet so far. Graves and Caldwell were left on bases. In this inning Weddington's arm was exchanged for Mangum's. The visitors left no man on the bases in this inning.

No scores made in the seventh. Lambeth and Card left were on bases for us and Phillips for Tarboro. On an error of the shortstop in the eighth Reed reached first but died there. Withers was run down between first and second and Lambeth and Glavin never reached first base.

In our part of the ninth Fisher was downed between second and third, Lattimer fanned out and Card was put out. As the score stood 6 to 1 the visitors did not take their part of the inning. Following is the score:

Mountain Island Here Monday.
Mountain Island, in all her glory, accompanied by the leader, Mountain Island Jordan, with Iceman as chief of the rooting corps, will be here Monday and for the first time since last year's hot battles, will try to do Concord's players. By reasoning that we have beat Charlotte and Charlotte has beat Mountain Island the game must surely be ours, but the visitors don't see it that way and will come loaded for heavy artillery work. It is thought now that Parker will not be ascribed the fame of pitching against us, but that a Palmetto man will be in the box.

PONCE THE STORM CENTRE.

One Hundred Thousand People Destitute—Charity Called For.

It is found that Ponce, Porto Rico, was the centre of the great storm and that immense destitution prevails. Governor General Davis estimates that 100,000 people are homeless and robbed of everything. The war department is saving all the suffering that it can by issuing rations and Secretary Root asks the charitable to come to the rescue with contributions. One soldier was seriously hurt. Many citizens, though, were killed.

Concord Mill News.
The Textile Excelsior has the following:
J. H. Creekmore, late overseer with Kinston (N. C.) cotton mills, has accepted the position as night carder and spinner at Cabarrus cotton mills, Concord, N. C.

J. F. Cunningham, late boss weaver at Avondale Mills, Birmingham, Ala., is not letting the grass grow under his feet while holding out at Charlotte, N. C. Last week he won $37 betting on the ball games. He banks mostly on the Concord team.

Louis D. Duval, the retiring superintendent of the Cannon mills, was a young Augusta, Ga., lawyer with no mill experience, when 10 or 12 years ago he decided to pull up stakes and locate in the up country. He first went with the Cannon M'fg. Co. as paymaster and book-keeper, and was finally made superintendent. Though he goes to Social Circle, Ga., he leaves a social circle at Concord very loth to give him up.

It Was a False Accusation.
Some persons are no doubt censuring our player, Rogers, for going out of our team and that Tarboro secured him for their three games with the South Carolinians. The cause of the trouble and the cause of Mr. Rogers' feelings being hurt is the fact that some person or persons, without a proper guarding of their tongue, intimated that he was partial to the visiting team and was a means of the score being against us. This was quite a slanderous remark, by whomsoever made.

Their First Sociable Meeting.
Written for The Standard.
An evening long to be remembered was that of Thursday night, when the young People's Union met at the Baptist parsonage to spend several hours socially.

Nothing was lacking that would contribute to the pleasure of the evening. The carrom and checker-board was in readiness for those who wished to play, and easy chairs, in cozy nooks, provided for others who preferred a tete-a-tete.

Japanese lanterns lighted the veranda, and the fragrance of lovely flowers greeted one everywhere.

Music, vocal and instrumental, was quite a feature of the evening and participated in by all.

Later the guests were invited out to the dining-room, where delicious refreshments were served—creams, sherbet, and cakes.

The decorations of the tables displayed the thoughtfulness and good taste of the charming hostess, and the service of the little waiters added largely to the pleasure of the guests and the dining-room attractions.

This was the first social meeting of the B. Y. P. U., and was so much enjoyed that all left hoping it would be repeated at an early date.
