CONCORD, N. C., Aug. 18.

NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE.

As will be noted in another column of The Standard the time has arrived to move in the matter of securing North Carolina College. What agitation has been prior to this was in anticipation of the action of the committee on Thursday. The field is now for the first time really open for action.

Whatever doubts may have arisen as to the power and legal right of the North Carolina Synod to execute its clearly expressed purpose to change the location of the college are certainly dissipated in the minds of all who have given due weight to the wording of the charter of the college, the constitution of the Synod and board of directors, the deed to the land on which the college is located and the whole line of procedure of the Synod and college Board pursuant to these plain provisions.

By the closest scrutiny there has not been discovered by legal talent any thing but the clearest light on the way before the Synod.

While from some good reasons Concord is to be preferred and we hope is preferred for the location of the college, it is plain that our interest in the matter will have great bearing on the decision of Synod.

There is a period of ninety days in which to develop this interest and make a proposition to the Synod. More will be said on this subject as the occasions demand.

EDITOR BROWN SICK.

We are sorry to note that Mr. Clint N. Brown, the editor of the Salisbury Sun, is sick. He is at his father's home in the country. We hope there is nothing serious in his case.

THE MULE TO THE FRONT.

It is rather strange that horses only were used in our great war of the 60's, the mule being considered entirely wanting in military instincts, but in the late war with Spain the mule became a favorite and superseded the horse even for drawing artillery. The government has sent six hundred to the Philippines and will soon send eight hundred more with the probability of as many more. Where they can't draw wagons and cannon they will be used for pack trains.

NO CURE, NO PAY.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for chills and Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults refer to it as bitter, nauseating Tonic. Price. 50c.

HAVE COMPANY REUNIONS.

There is a genuine pleasure realized in these reunions of veterans when conducted as Co. A, of the 52nd regiment and some others do.

Our meeting on the 8th was of a general nature for the transaction of business, which was duly and satisfactorily attended to. There are the fewest number of public dinners, however, that do not cost our culinary contingents (we mean our good wives) more worry and nervous strain than they can afford to undergo, to be requited with grabbing by some and captiousness by others and a general feeling of disappointment. This was not contemplated this year.

We should keep up our general organizations and, on appropriate occasions, march to music under our beautiful banner and receive the greetings of honor that are gladly bestowed on us, but this does not afford an opportunity for recounting incidents and refreshing memories that is peculiarly a source of pleasure. We are glad to note that Co. H, of 8th regiment, will meet in Mt. Pleasant on the 22nd. We are not sure that Capt. Harris' Rocky River Co. will meet this year, as is its custom. There should be others. Company F, of the 57th, should have an organization. It was made up of Cabarrusites.

By this means we call up names and faces, re-trace marches and maneuvers, see again grand battles and heroic deeds, offer again our sighs of pity and sorrow over those that fell from our ranks in the bloody strife; rejoice with each other over deliverances from special peril and again tell the camp-fire yarns. It is our smaller groups that fill these wants of the soul. It is well to take a day or two in the leisure season for our refreshing.

Let us have more of the company reunions.

From present indications Aguinaldo will be apt to realize before Christmas that the Root of the evil is the new secretary of war at Washington.

It seems that both the Goebel and the anti-Goebel factions in Kentucky claim to be Bryanites as the bi-metal and the gold standard Democrats both claim to be the true Jeffersonians. It gets the less positive to wondering where we're at.

From Far-Off Manila.

Lonnie Ingle, of this city, has received a letter from his brother, Conley Ingle, a 16 year old boy who joined the U. S. regulars in April at Fort McPherson, Ga., going from there to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and from there to San Francisco, whence he sailed to Manila, reaching his destination May 27. He is in company G, Sixteenth infantry. His letter was dated Manila, June 30, in which he states that he "is well and well satisfied." He says further: "This is a fine place and is the largest city I have ever been in. It is raining now and rains every day. We will land for the trenches tonight and I may get killed. They are fighting like cats now. I want to get into a fight very much and show them what a boy from old North Carolina can do. There are lots of boys here from North Carolina, and I know most of them. They all enjoy it very much.

"I received my Citizen today and get it every day. It gives me all the news from home. You do not know how I welcome it in this far-away place.

"The boys here do not suffer for something to eat. We have plenty and can't grumble.

"There is quite a difference in the price of articles here and in Asheville. For instance, I can get 148 cigarettes for five cents; bananas 20 cents per bunch, and cigars 10 for five cents. Apples are only 10 cents per bushel, oranges 35 for five cents, lemons 100 for five cents, and everything in proportion.

"Monkeys are as thick as trees. I weighed 140 pounds when I left the United States, and weigh 158 now.

"Remember I am here to defend Uncle Sam and I mean to do my duty to the end."—Asheville Citizen.

He's Entitled to the First Bale.

Jas. Ellis, a colored man, who works for Capt. J. M. Odell, brought his cotton to a gin here Thursday and was proud of the fact that he would in a few days have a bale of cotton—the first of the season. But it's not the colored man's fault that he hasn't his bale, but it is due to the fact that no ginners is yet open this season for business. But nevertheless James Ellis is entitled to the first bale. He raised it on Capt. Odell's land over towards the Buffalo mill.

Mr. Lacy Dick Building.

Mr. Lacy Dick has had work commenced on his two residences on spring street on the vacant lot above Mr. David Murr's. Probably he will later put another one on the lot.

In the recent division of the estate of Mr. Aaron Lentz this lot, together with the one on the corner of West Corbin and Main street was allotted to Mrs. Dick. The vacant lot just above Mr. R. L. Young's on North Main street was given to Miss Kate Lentz.

The trial of Dreyfus goes on from day to day with little variation in the trend that the accused is innocent but that every effort will be made to convict him regardless of means resorted to. Opinions as to results vacillate. The latest being that his innocence may be declared. M Labari suffers some fever but is able to be up and walk about in his room.
