CONCORD, N. C., Aug. 24.

NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE IS DESIRABLE.

What shall be our pull for North Carolina College?

It is well enough to give this matter due consideration now.

Were it a railroad the enthusiasm would doubtless catch quickly.

Business men see the advantages from a financial standpoint.

We confess our inability to compare closely the two enterprises, but we doubt not the college has its full share of merits from a business point of view.

A splendid site has been provided that will carry with it a very neat and substantial source of revenue and if built upon will neither be too far off nor too near. It will give a new extension to Concord in the best direction in which to expand the city. There will be much building to be done, which always adds life and prosperity to a town and somehow scatters its benefits directly and indirectly to every live business citizen.

When the institution has been settled down in its new home there will be thousands of dollars every year made and spent by professors and the necessary attendants and much more by the students.

If the college becomes prosperous, which is reasonable to presume in our growing density of population and our ever increasing tendency to popular and advanced education, this demand for more building and supplies will keep pace with all business expansion.

From a business point of view the location of the college here has much more in it for citizens generally than a manufacturing enterprise, we think.

The financial incentive, however, lies in the great saving to the citizens of the town and vicinity who have sons to educate.

While there must be a decided outlay for clothing and sustenance anywhere, these can be brought to a minimum when the boys are at home and the loving labors and much needed care for the young becomes a privilege beside and above the consideration of economy, which is in itself very great to the average parent.

Let this subject have due attention now in the period of the town's opportunity.

The Lenoir Semi-Weekly News says the United States Geological Survey fixed a plate in the wall of the court house recording the altitude as 1,180 feet above the sea level. Lenoir, too, triumphs over its neighbor, Hickory, which is 1,164 feet. Hickory can now join the rest of us in looking up to Lenoir.

"Another postoffice in the South is likely to be discontinued because a set of unknown men assaulted and severely handled the postmaster on account of his appointment of a negro assistant. This time is Peck, Fla., that is to suffer. We are unable to see why the Washington officials have any more right to deprive the people of a locality of a post-office on account of the action of a few lawless men than they have, for instance, to stop transmitting the mails over a certain railroad after a set of highwaymen have held up and robbed a postal car. Why should a hundred citizens be made to suffer on account of the crime of probably half a dozen?—Charlotte Observer."

It reminds us of the olden school days when if a misdeed could not be located the pedagogue would at least threaten to apply the cudgel to the whole group with the certainty of getting the right one. The comparison, we admit, is tough, but the principle is the same and is reprehensibly weak.

If there is anything that will put North Carolina in the doubtful column next year it is the re-nomination of W. J. Bryan for President. Opposition to him can be found all around and many good democrats declare they will never vote for him again. Mark Hanna knows his business and knows Bryan will make a weak run against his man "Friday" McKinley. Short-sightedness and fanaticism are today democracy's twin evils.—King's Weekly.

But with free coinage relegated to the rank of supposed desirables but absolutely impossibles, would not Mr. Bryan be desirable as a democrat and capable of making the strongest run of all? There is no certainty however that he would be willing to stand or fall and carry Democracy with him on any but the silver plank. There is time yet though.

The trial at Rennes goes on from day to day with the same manifest anxiety to convict the accused. His chief counsel, M Labori, is on hand and is very much in the way of witnesses whose testimony is largely of such character as would not be entertained in a common court of justice.

Julius Alexander was hanged today in Charlotte. He confessed his guilt, which was the outraging of Mrs. Mullis, and confirms her testimony in court. It is a victory for retributive and an honor for Mecklenburg that the law was allowed to take its due course. It is best that lynchings be avoided.

Bingham's Latin Grammar.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on P. B. Fetzer, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

"This life is a difficult riddle,
For how many people we see,
With faces as long as a fiddle
That ought to be shining with glee.

I'm sure in this world there are plenty
Of good things enough for us
all,
And yet there's not one out of twenty
But that thinks his share is too small."—Ex.

There is a large apple crop in Burke this year and brandy promises to be plentiful. Many brandy distilleries are now running in the county. We learn that the distillers are buying apples at from 5 cents to 12 cents per bushel.—Morganton News.

A MOTHER TELLS HOW SHE SAVED DAUGHTERS LIFE.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering.—Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, K. I. For Sale by M. L. Marsh & Co., Druggist.
