PROF MASSEY ON WHEAT AND CORN CULTURE.

In the September Bulletin Prof. Massey has an article on the preparation of land for wheat and corn that we hope our farmers will read. They should all have the Bulletin and can get it for the asking. In the article Prof. Massey takes the position, new to us, that land ploughed up in the fall and let lie bare over winter is greatly injured thereby. It is leached of chemical plant food that a green crop would absorb and hold to be turned under later to produce a crop.

Land for a corn crop followed with wheat he says, should be ploughed in the fall, deep and subsoiled, then sowed in crimson clover if not too late, otherwise rye should be sown. Scatter home-made manure on during the winter, turn this under near the surface in the spring for a corn crop which he says cultivate shallow and level so as not to break the corn roots. It is a well known fact that clay land ploughed deep in the fall needs little cultivation in the summer except to keep, as Prof. Massey says, a blanket of those earth on the top to prevent the escape of moisture by capillary attraction.

THE COLD, weather, beside being bracing to all, is a panacea for yellow fever as far South as the frost went. Tennessee has raised the quarantine against New Orleans. Key West, however, will hardly be benefited by it, as it is too far south. Twenty-two new cases and two deaths were reported Saturday.

IT WOULD seem that broom corn ought to be looked after by our farmers as it is said to have advanced from $20 to $80 per ton. The soil and climate, we believe, are well enough suited for the crop.

Some scientist have observed that 37 is the most fatal period of life but when a fellow has passed that point he's faced with the inevitable closing in on him from a smaller circle than ever.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. M. L. Marsh & Co. will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

Witty Contempt of Court.

Detroit used to have a lawyer who was shrewd enough to show contempt of court without incurring danger of the penalty that would have been visited upon an offender less diplomatic. He was at one time being heard in an important matter before the Supreme Court, and made an assertion which elicited from one of judges: "That is not the law, sir."

"Pardon me, your Honor," with a deferential bow "it was the law until a minute ago. Now, we accept a new principle established by a supreme authority." On another occasion he was reading from an imposing looking book in support of a position that he had taken upon a legal question.

"Just a moment," interrupted the Supreme Justice himself; "do you mean to say that you are reading good law?"

"Not at all, Your Honor; only Supreme Court decisions."

The most cutting thing he ever said to this same court was during the consideration of a desperate case in which he had not a leg to stand upon. He made a bold contention which was fallacious but plausible from beginning to end.

"Blank," said the Court, severely, "I would not try to convert the average Justice of the Peace with such an argument as that."

"Nor I," was the quick response, "but I had what I considered reliable information that none of the honorable members of this honorable court had ever served in that capacity."

"You have practiced before me for years, Blank," said a circuit judge at one time, "and this is the first time you have shown contempt."

"Yes, your Honor," answered Blank, "I have wonderful self-control."—Selected.

Owing to the scarcity of small currency and coins, the Secretary of the Treasury is considering the propriety of buying and coining silver, the demand for halves, quarters and dimes having exhausted the supply of both coin and bullion. In the absence of paper dollars, which were preferred, the Secretary has been enabled to get a larger number of silver dollars into circulation than ever before.—Raleigh Post.

The necessary steps toward an improved husbandry are: To cultivate less land. To make that which is cultivated rich in plant food, so that it may produce large crops. The practice of a rigid system of rotations of crops and mixed farming. The cultivation of the grasses and less of the cereals, and feeding upon the farm the most of its products. Raising clover and enriching the land by turning under green crops.—State Agricultural Bulletin.

A MOTHER TELLS HOW SHE SAVED DAUGHTERS LIFE.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering. Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, R. I. For Sale by M. L. Marsh & Co., Druggist.

GLORIOUS NEWS

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows that thousands have proved that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores.
