A FREIGHT WRECK.

Several Cars Derailed in Front of the Bleachery Sunday Night—Cotton Mill Machinery Damaged—Four Cars Thrown Off of the Track.

On Sunday night about 12 o'clock as the third section of No. 73, a southbound freight train, was just in front of the bleachery on the main line, going at a good rate of speed, a wreck of several cars occurred. It is supposed that it was caused by the trucks of one of the cars giving way.

No one was hurt but the track was torn up somewhat and several car loads of material damaged. One of the demolished cars was loaded with railroad iron, another with an iron bridge and the other two which were thrown from the track were filled with cotton mill machinery. The machinery is badly damaged, as it is small machinery which requires the best of treatment. Three other cars were somewhat damaged but these were not thrown off of the track.

In order to let the trains pass as quickly as possible the cars were thrown from the track down the large fill and over on the side track. The working train reached here in a few hours after the wreck and was at work. All debris was removed from the track and rails laid for the passenger trains which were in waiting here, so that they passed over shortly before 9 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Will Kizziah, of this place, was the engineer but was in no danger.

REUBEN ROSS HANGED.

Claimed Innocence and a Flight to Glory.

Reuben Ross was hanged at Lumberton Friday. Gov. Russell after the long contest did not interfere and the execution took place.

Ross professed innocence and made a tirade against what he called the lower class of the caucasian race.

He professed the belief that he was going straight to heaven.

It is said that Ross told a negro that he had not committed the crime for which he was hanged but that he was guilty of the Rockingham case for which John Evans was hanged. Ross was doubtless a bad man.

Working on the Bridge Question.

Messrs. Jno. P. Allison and Fred Nesbit, two of the county commissioners, are this afternoon holding their special session in regard to the placing of the iron bridge at Black's mill or at the other two places on the river. There is considerable contention on the part of the different parties. Mr. C. C. Morrison, the agent for the bridge company, is before them this afternoon and is giving them all information possible. He was out at the river this morning.

GETTING READY FOR THE "VETS."

Louisville's Great Auditorium for the Reunion—Fare One Cent a Mile.

It seems unfortunate in every way for the State of Kentucky that her internal affairs should be so perturbed, but Louisville seemed so anxious to show the Confederate veterans what she has already done and will do yet to commemorate the "Lost Cause" that the preparations seem not abated.

Hon. Thos. D. Osborne, chairman of the press committee, furnishes us the following:

"The building that is to be put up at Louisville, Ky., for the Confederate Re-union will be 165 x 200 feet and consists of a large rectangle, to each corner of which is attached a square pavilion. The entrance, which is to be at the head of a broad flight of steps, is made through five wide doors into a vestibule seventy-five feet long. Through this vestibule, by five similar doors, the main auditorium is reached.

At each end of the vestibule will be the stairways reaching the first and second galleries.

The first floor is to consist of a great nave 175 feet long and seventy-five feet wide. The stage will fill the entire end of the nave opposite the main entrance, and the committee rooms will occupy the space at the end of the aisles to the left and right of the stage. Toilet rooms, cloak rooms, etc., will be provided for near the stage, and under the stairs at each side of the front.

The greatest distance of any seat in the auditorium from the speaker's stand will be 120 feet. There will be two galleries, either of which may be entirely separated from the other, if desired.

The house will be built with upright joints, stripped for the main body, and with pavilions covered with shiplap boards. It will be whitened on the outside and tinted on the inside.

The roof will have a water-proof covering. The windows will be movable, many of them with flags used as panels, thereby producing a fine effect.

The stage will seat 200; the first floor, 3,600; the sub-gallery, 1,250; the main gallery, 2,175, making a total of 7,225. By placing chairs in the aisles, the total seating capacity will be 10,000.

That capable architect, H. P. McDonald, a Confederate veteran, drew the plans, and will have charge of its construction.

All the railroads in the Southern Traffic Association have made a one cent a mile rate for the Confederate Reunion at Louisville May 30-June 3.

SCHOOLS TO CONTINUE YET.

Some Increase in Attendance—Vaccination Requirement.

The school board held a meeting today (Monday) at 11 o'clock to discuss the propriety of closing the factory schools.

As several more pupils started to these schools this morning it was thought best to continue the schools for a few weeks longer to see if the attendance would increase.

It was decided by unanimous vote not to rescind the order requiring vaccination.
