FURNITURE FACTORIES.

In a recent issue of Charity and Children contained the following editorial on the above subject:

"We have again and again urged upon our people the importance of establishing small factories for working up the timber we are not selling in foreign markets at little or no profit. High Point stands ready always to back our argument with the cold cash. Twenty years it was a straggling railroad station; today it is a fine town of nearly five thousand people with twenty odd furniture factories, all on a solid basis. We have been informed that every single one of these factories has a "gilt edge" credit and pays handsome dividends to its owners. Here in Thomasville we have a half dozen factories that manufacture spokes and handles, chairs, chiffoniers, veneering, sash, doors and blinds, etc. They are all highly prosperous and the stock is not for sale. The beauty about these smaller industries is that they can be started on a capital that is within easy reach of the ordinary North Carolina town. From two to five thousand dollars is amply sufficient to begin on. Another thing is, that, like the savings bank, they benefit people of small means, and do not appeal to men already rich. This is a matter of great moment. The third and best feature is one that we have often mentioned before, and that is that neither children nor women can be employed, except to do errands or clerical work. Thus the head of the family takes the natural places as bread-winners for the household, and not as lordly loafers to explain the money question and drink cheap whiskey. We shall refer to this matter in detail later on, giving some facts and figures."

We commend the above to the consideration of Concord. We know too little about the business to advise, but there seems no trouble for such factories to thrive in High Point and Greensboro.

The collapse of Marsh & Elliott in Charlotte some years ago seems to have been due to some fatal step that reversed a current of great prosperity. We'd like to see a furniture factory added to Concord's industries.

Lincoln's Birthday.

No business is going on in the stock exchange today, as this is a recognized national holiday. Ninety-one years ago Abraham Lincoln was born.

The Salisbury postoffice gets another clerk. Wish they'd put enough good railway clerks on the Southern so that mail could reach its destination. It does seem that as we are about to even have rural delivery people along the railroads might have their mail given them.

The city of Wilmington knows what negro domination is as no other people in the State do. Probably no city in the South has felt the scourge more sensibly than the Wilmington people. So when they learned that Chairman Simmons needed funds two citizens within a few hours raised $1,223 and sent it to him. That's eloquent telling that the amendment is the thing needed.

MORMONS IN RALEIGH.

Young Lady Embraces the Faith and Goes to Utah.

Two Mormon elders are at work in Raleigh. Miss Effie Roberts was their first convert. She left Thursday evening to make her home in Utah, to be with those of her new faith. Three women and one man have professed the faith, but the man fell from grace by the bowl and was excommunicated.

White Bear Loose.

Great excitement exists in the neighborhood of upper Hillsboro street over the fact of the running at large of a great white bear. It was seen in Mr. J. M. Grady's field by several highly creditable witnesses, including two well known ladies. Upon finding himself discovered, the bear made off to the swamp adjoining. It is thought that it escaped from one of the Russians who passed along that route with four white bears the day before.—Fayetteville Observer.

Mr. Jas. A. R. White Dead.

The remains of Mr. James A. R. White were brought here Sunday morning from Charlotte and taken to Boger's Chapel in No. 10 township for interment. He died Saturday after being ill about a month. He leaves four parentless children. He formerly lived in No. 10 township, and also here in Concord.

The Yard Full of Trains.

Not often does the railroad yard have such a number of trains as was here this morning caused by the derailing of some cars. No. 8 which is due here at 5.52, No. 33 which is due at 7.33, No. 87 which is due at 8.49, together with several freight trains and the wreck train, were all here at the same time.

Accepts a Position as File Clerk.

Mr. McCree Anderson, who for some months has had charge of the ticket department at the depot, left Saturday night for his home at Statesville to spend Sunday, and from there he goes to Durham where he has been given a position as file clerk for the N. & W. Mr. Anderson is a competent young man and has filled the position here as ticket agent successfully.

To Hold a Thank Offering Reception.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a thank-offering reception on next Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mr. D. B. Morrison. To this reception both the Ladies' Benevolent society and the Young Ladies' Foreign-Missionary society of this church are invited.

Hours from 4 to 6 p. m.
"If on our daily course our mind
Be set to hallow all we find,
New treasures still of countless price
God will provide for sacrifice."

It is said that this country pays millions of dollars every year to foreign ship owners for sea carriage, but this is cheaper than paying American ships the same rate and a bonus in the shape of a subsidy besides. Any business that cannot be conducted profitably without the assistance of the government had best be let alone. It would seem bad business methods to encourage a business that cannot, under any circumstances, be made profitable.—Morning Herald.

Salisbury to Lose One of Its Hospitals.

The Salisbury correspondent notes in the Sunday edition of the Charlotte Observer that Mr. W. G. Newman has decided to move his hospital at once from Salisbury to Charlottesville, Va.

Their Annual Meeting.

Today is the time for the meeting of the directors of the Coleman cotton mill. Tomorrow the stockholders of the mill will hold their annual meeting. Several of the officers of the company arrived this morning.

Beat Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48 I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restored me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take.—For sale by M. L. Marsh & Co., druggist.
