CROP REPORT.

Rains General But Too Late—Cotton Half Open.

The government crop report for the State, for the week just ended, says:

"Many favorable reports were received, in consequence of the widely distributed rainfall which occurred on several days, yet most reports indicate that the rains came too late to improve the prospects for staple crops to any extent. Moreover, many places are still extremely dry, so that fall plowing and planting is impossible. The temperature for the week averaged 6 degrees daily above the normal, but moderated toward the close, the nights becoming somewhat cooler. Where rains occurred peanuts, field beans and sweet potatoes were refreshed, and the moisture stopped premature opening of cotton bolls to a considerable extent. Much fall plowing was done and turnip seed sown. Fodder pulling is nearly over in the east, but is just under way in the west portion of the State. It is hardly possible that the weather conditions can materially affect the yield of corn; much has been cut and stands in shocks. Cotton is opening very fast, and picking has become general; in many counties the crop is half open. The prospects for late or top crop are very poor. Uncut tobacco has been badly scorched and is curing poorly; cutting is proceeding actively in the north-central counties. The rice harvest has begun; the crop is fine along the lower Cape Fear river, but poor in northeastern counties.
