For President?  William Jennings Bryan.

 For Vice-President, Adlai E. Stevenson. For Electors-at-Large, Lee'S. Overman, of Rowan; H. McLean, of Harnett.For Congress from 7th District Eon. Theo. F. Kluytz, of Rowan.
For Elector
J. R. Blair, of Montgomery
Concord, N. C., Oct. 311900.
the time draws near.
We send out today the last is sue of the Weekly Standard before the election. We hope to be able to tell in the next issue tiu results. If the election be easily decisive there will be no the cumpaign of 1876 the since have jearned that results are not always obtainable at once.
As far as we can foresee the presidential contest may be very close. We have an abiding hope wat Democracy will win. Our Democracy by indifference and neglent to vote Let every Demnossible means to get every mouratic soter to the polls. (ve avocy vote in the 7 th him a full vote and keep him in ,ongest degree attains to the We can always feel and proud of him as a rep As for United States Senator oince we have the Senatorial primary it has seemod best to us that notting be said or done to unduly rainuence the public mind. cameraign to be entirely open to conviction ourself and as fair as candilate. Our deep interest in the two last campaigns in whtch mocracy made such.grand ? Mi. IN Simuons as a conspicwous figure in the race. We felt rous figure in the race. . We felt that lie had eworked with the o accomplish this work. Withal we waited till sonvinced that there ate po valtar charge against him as a private is public "charector and that be would be strong and brave in the office. We are rot sure that our constitutional amendment must rot wade thirough troublous watęrs yet. None can calt for it likp Mr. Simmons, ${ }^{\circ}$ and he feels doubly ihterested in its security. We therefore deem it our duty as well as our glad privilege to cast our ballot for him next Tuesday.
to sque delisquents.
We regret exceedingly that there are some of our subscribers that do not see their duty clearly and act upon it conscientiously, with reference to payment Fifly-two times a year we pay our laborers who get up the Standard. They have expenses that must be met too. Twelve times we pay our office rent and postage. Our paper and ink bills must be paid promptly as well as many other bills. Delay does not make these bills less and it would injure our standing before the world for common onesty and trustworthiness. To meet these heavy draughts we ask for our dollar any how when it is earned. We dare say hat not one who owes us would e willing for us to owe him from year to year. Every on when he brings us any kind of produce wants the pay dowi and we don't blame him at all it is right. It is equally right hat we should have our dollar when earned. Beside this w wish we couid get men to pay u promptly, for we are doing our best to serve and please all. The fewest of good payers ever fal out with us or dislike us and ou paper. It is the non-paying kind that we can't please and can't win. It is these almos without excention that conspire against us and speak ill of $u$ and fail to appreciate our very best efforts. As a rule thes will not pay if let alone and they get angry when asked for what to keep out of the non debt pay ing class. In fact there is in human nature a kink that de spises the one that it wrong. and batred follows injury. We greetings with friends and pas trons, and there is no trouble to have this with prowpt payers, but it is just to the contrary with most of those who wrong us by efusing or neglecting to pay us From every consideratio these little clains showld be be man paping it to think well f, himself and us.

The Greensboro Telegram 1 onday's issue on the subyect Theatrical ${ }^{\circ}$ Critiosm." bt roin the fact very noticeable readers of both the Greevisboro dailies that these journals.place very opposite estimates ona , late performance in that city. One of the lessons drawn is that criticisms of these performanees are little more nor less than how the play happens to strike the writer ualess he be really a trained and competent critic. We observe to our bewilderment that the writer himself sometimes gets unmercifully criticised by those who were less favorably impressed than himself and he is donned not up-to-date.
The idea seems to be with the Telegram, and we fully concur, that if nothing unclean or demoralizing appears it is well to emphasize the meritorious parts and let the less mertorious parts go by, for it takes fine, large opera houses fairly well filled, as rule, to secure the class that is without tame parts.
But the Telegram's last point is that which has annoyed us of ten, that abominable way the shick advance agents have of writing an ad. and making it ound like the words of the ewspaper man. Tbe Telegram ats them under a peculiar head line so that those who under stand the head lines know them to be ads. It seems to us that this may not be fully understood and we long for a generally adopted way that makes ads go as ads, that the reliability of the paper be not taxed with the un ssrupulous imbellishments that the agent often gives the object.
When your scruples make you draw back the cheeky fellow generally gives you to under stand that all the other papers clank.
But to the original idea, the ewspaper manhas no good way knowing what a performance is until he sees it and it is then too late to help people save the and it is also too late to help fhem to a good entertainment.
Upon the whole if you are o mistic you get good out of all and if pessimistic you like none,

Mr. John Morrow, a member of the Greensboro band, died last Saturday and the band in a body headed the funeral procession making suitable music. brass band on the streets on Sunday was probably more novel than inappropriate.
