CONCORD, N. C., Nov. 2 1900.

According to latest dispatches from Pretoria the Boers will not surrender but will keep on with the bushwacking war. Without expressing an opinion for or against the righteousness of the Boer cause, their action in continuing a war of the kind must lose them much sympathy. Might does not make right, but it may be asked what right has a remnant of an army to keep a country in continual hopeless warfare when the common people would wisely go to work to build themselves up under the new order of things just as the South did?

A Concord man writing for the Charlotte Observer says: "Mr. Carr's majority in the State will be 15,000 to 30,000 and in Cabarrus 300 to 800. These figures look to us like our guess on Mr. W. A. Smith's hogs a few years ago. We will wait and see how much good company we have as a bad guesser. It would be well enough, however, for those who figure on the Senatorial majorities to remember that there are 37 counties to take into consideration."

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood, and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale at Marsh's drug store.

How the Alliance Trouble Began.
A Burlington dispatch of Oct. 30th to the Baltimore Sun gives the following version of the Alliance cotton mill strike:

Determination of one girl not to take the place of a fellow-member of a union who had been discharged has caused the greatest strike ever known among the cotton mills in this district. More than 4,000 operatives are out, and the mill owners have entered upon a bitter fight with their employes for the purpose of crushing their union.

Miss Jennie Pope, 17 years old, an orphan, employed in the Holt-mill, at Haw River, was recently ordered to take a loom whose operative, Miss Anna Whitsell, had been discharged after a quarrel with a foreman. When she learned of Miss Whitsell's discharge she refused to accept the place and was ordered to leave the mill. The union wanted to strike immediately, but she advised them not to take any action. A meeting of the union was held that night, however, and the operatives did not go to work the next day. The mill was shut down and the strike spread so that practically every mill in the district was closed.

Non-union men under guard have been operating some of the mills since October 15. The union men have begun marching and threaten those who are working."

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well known village blacksmith at Grahamville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale at Marsh's drug store."

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters. To my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Fetzner's Drug Store.

It's Tough on Blackburn.
It was a wonder that Mr. E. Spencer Blackburn came to Concord to make a political speech, but it is evident now that the Wilkesboro Chronicle and others in his own district are making it so hot for him that he gets outside sometimes to cool himself off. We clip the following from the Chronicle, inserted from the Alleghany Star, that shows the man that came to Concord and made a rattling Republican speech:

"Will E. Spencer Blackburn explain: 'Why, as attorney for J. N. Calloway and Eli Bowers he received a cheque for them, and though repeatedly asked denied the fact until his clients (Calloway and Bowers) corresponded personally with the party owing them and received the original cheque sent to them through Blackburn and endorsed by him to J. M. Carson?'"

"Or, how long he baffled Scott & Noble, of Lynchburg, Va., from obtaining money he had collected for them, and why it was necessary for T. J. Hackler, a lawyer of Jefferson, to collect the money from him (E. Spencer)?"

"Or, being employed to defend Lowrey Miller in a suit in the Federal Court and said suit being compromised for about $60 and the money being paid by Miller to Blackburn, his attorney, Blackburn left Statesville without paying the money to the Federal authorities, causing the re-arrest of Miller, and necessitating him furnishing further bond? Miller followed Blackburn to Jefferson, and compelled Spencer to return his money."

"Or, if one of the poor down-trodden negro friends of E. Spencer gets knocked on the head with an axe and pays E. Spencer $7.50 to prosecute case, how is it possible for the white man who hit the nigger to pay Spencer $5.00 not to prosecute, and his colored brother gets left out in the cold by his best friend (?) E. S. Blackburn?"

"W. N. LUTHER."
When we heard Mr. Blackburn we did not think there was much in him but probably there is too much—of a kind.

Endured Death's Agonies.

Only a roaring fire enabled J. M. Garretson, of San Antonio, Tex., to lie down when attacked with asthma, from which he suffered for years. He writes his misery was often so great that it seemed he endured the agonies of death, but Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption wholly cured him. This marvelous medicine is the only known cure for asthma as well as consumption, coughs and colds, and all throat, chest and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Fetzner's drug store.

The consensus of opinion of cotton farmers in this county, except those in the extreme eastern part of the county is, that the crop is turning out fully as well as it did last year. The warm weather has been ripening the late bolls and the lint is much better than last year's.—Newton Enterprise.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Poteau, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux. I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not praise, of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale at Marsh's drug store.
