NOTHING BUT GLORY ALLOWED.

Editor Whichard of the Greenville Reflector has been reporting all the cases coming up before the mayor of the town of Greenville. It was the mayor's desire that he should. Certain self-important fellows sent threats and then actually assaulted the editor Monday night. He happened to be armed and saved himself from injury. Of course the assailants were arraigned and fined. We suppose the editor will manage to be heeled and will keep on the even tenor of his way. It is true that there are some people willing enough to see their names in a newspaper as heroes, but are not willing that they shall be used in the narration of facts that are a part of the news of the day, but still demand that the paper shall be newsy. They justify themselves in all they do, but if a newspaper states the fact without color or bias their backs are up. "Discontinue" is about the only weapon yet fired at the writer. We have preferred to let such tell us of their weakness without passing it along but due resentment would suggest a little free advertising along this line that they and others may see the smallness of the act.

Conscientious people presume that others have consciences too and that the monitors will apply all the lash that a philanthropist would desire.

If the mosquito theory of conducting disease germs be a correct one, the eastern portion of Carteret must soon have an epidemic of whatever disease they transmit. They swarm like bees in all the woods and fields. —Beaufort Herald.

[We've heard that in some localities away up here they sit on the limbs of trees and bark. If you think there's a chestnut in this remember that some things are so old that they become new.]

New York is already talking mayoralty. Uh! It's dreadful to anticipate.

What a travesty on law and order that a negro is taken up and put on the chain gang for stealing chickens when so many of the very men instrumental in his punishment go about fat enough on the labors of others that they are not making an honest effort to pay for. It's an outrage, pure and simple. The man who steals is as good as the man who enjoys your labors and belies you into trusting him to that far which he does not try to pay you.

It is the 9th of November and the first real freeze we have had. Cotton has been growing and maturing to even make the weight of the second crop felt on the market but the ground was encrusted. The growth of vegetation will be checked and the cotton crop will stay "where its at."

It's said that $2,000,000 changed hands in New York city in bets on the election. As it takes the unwise and not over scrupulous to bet on anything, and elections especially, no deep groans of pity are in order.

The Truth-Index says Salisbury will most probably have an issue in the next city election on local option or no license. Our neighbor has a shining example near of the benefits of a restricted liquor traffic.

The Yale astronomers are now preparing the public mind for the meteoric shower that failed to come in on time last fall. A goodly number have seen stars or something worse within the last few days.

Old man Oliver Dockery can now prepare his contest suit for Bellamy's seat in congress. The little matter of 12,718 majority against him can be called fraud. The $2,000 allowed him will help him to run again.

Many a candidate who itched for office a few days ago now has the sensation that comes from a good scratching.

Election is over, next thing on hand is business. Let it start on the basis of debt-paying by honest men and mark of coin on the other class.

The gobble of the Thanksgiving gobbler is now in order.

Not in the South Only.

The South is not the only place where people have trouble with the negro question. The Philadelphia Record exposes a case in the great Republican stronghold, Pennsylvania. A negro criminally assaulted a white woman in Chester county, and it was conclusively proven that the District Attorney neglected to do his duty. The reason given is that the officer feared to offend 2,000 negro voters in the county who held the balance of power. —Burlington News.
